COUNTY LOSES SUPERVISOR APPROPRIATION

The $7200.00 appropriation that has been given to Jackson county, from the Rockefeller Foundation, for the past two years, to pay the salary of the county supervisor, will go to some other location for the next two years, according to a statement made to this paper by Miss Nettie Brogden, county supervisor.

Mr. L. C. Brogden, state supervisor of rural education, has been here during the week, looking over the situation, and because of a change in the educational policy of the county is anticipated, the supervisor appropriation will be moved, it is stated.

Jackson is the only county in the state that has had the valuable services of the county supervisor, at the general educational board, having charge of the distribution of the fund from the Rockefeller Foundation, hoped to make Jackson a model county, and thus stimulate educational activities throughout the mountain region, and to give more work in all the schools.

Jackson has had the supervisor for the past two years, without cost to the county, the entire salary of the superintendent coming from the Rockefeller fund.

WEEKLY MARKET NOTES

By shipping 2,046 cars of straw berries in 1924, North Carolina has climbed into third position as a leading strawberry State being surpassed only by Tennessee and Maryland. Shipments will begin this year about May 10 to 15 and there is a large acreage of about fifteen acres as compared with last year's crop of about 100 acres.

Mr. Ross states that Duplin County ends in the production of berries with 965 cars shipped last year from 1,080 acres. The leading variety is Missionary. Columbus County is second with 645 cars from 2,219 acres largely of the Klondyck variety.

During the past few days live birds of poultry and live of eggs have been shipped cooperatively by farmers under the direction of county agents and the livestock marketing specialists of the Division. Plans underway call for shipping two cars of poultry and one of eggs from Sampson County, one car of poultry from western Carolina and one from Reidsville.

Farmers are learning through these cooperative shipments that poultry and eggs form a money crop of much value," says V. W. Lewis, livestock marketing specialist. "These shipments are relieving local surpluses and are increasing the prices paid to farmers by local dealers. The money is being distributed now while cash is scarce and when fertilizers and seeds must be bought. It is economy to pay cash for these supplies and the poultry surplus is helping out in this."

Indications are that there will be an increase in the acreage to peanuts this year. In North Carolina this will average 15 per cent over last year and 4 1-2 percent for the country as a whole.

The selling of hay on grade is meeting with much approval in North Carolina according to reports reaching the Division of Markets.

TWO SUCCESSFUL SALES

There have been two successful auction sales of real estate in Jackson county during the week. The C. J. Jeffers Realty Company sold the James R. Love property, near Addie, comprising some 300 acres. It is stated that the aggregate sales amounted to something like $18,000.

The Home Realty and Auction Company, conducted the sale of the C. R. Moody property, on the highway, just outside the city limits. There were 19 acres in the land sold in subdivisions, and the property brought approximately $22,000.00.

The land above the road was sold in residential lots, while that between the road and the railroad, was block- ed and sold for manufacturing property.

SALARY AND WAGE COMMISSION GETS ON THE JOB

By M. L. Shipman
Raleigh, April 6.—The "Old Skip of State" is still rocking, with the billows no less threatening than they were a week ago, in so far as salaries and "perquisites" are concerned. The salary and wage commission has been named, accepted service, and soon will be prying into the affairs of State departments and institutions with the view of using the pruning knife in situations which seem to warrant that course.

If the Commission spends any great length of time in Raleigh and undertakes to delve to the bottom of living conditions it may learn that no appreciable number of State employes are receiving more than necessity requires. There are probably inequalities which should be adjusted, but indiscriminate slashing in the salaries of departmental helpers is not anticipated on an extensive scale.

The Salary and Wage Commission, composed of John Price, of Greensboro chairman; George A. H. Hadenness, of Tarboro; S. L. Rogers, of Franklin; Robert N. Page, of Deep River; and P. J. Hanes, Jr., of Winston-Salem, is due to start on the task assigned to it, on call of the Governor. The Commission is representative of the business interests of the State and the members thereof are said to have had experience in employing and handling labor. Anyway, the "deadly" of workers in amounting the capital is in the keeping of the five men picked by the Governor to decide whether the State is paying too much for "service rendered."

Commissioner Doughton, of the Department of Revenue, did not await the arrival of the Salary and Wage commission to inaugurate a wage reduction in that branch of the State government. His first official act after taking over the automobile license bureau of the State Department was to reduce the license fee by 20 per cent.

In the salary of employees inherited from the transfer and a corresponding reduction in the personnel.

A saving of about $75,000 annually in overhead expenses is announced at Raleigh and the Salary Commission may go one better before it gets through. The past year, R. Sawyer, former supervisor of the bureau, and A. L. Fleming, chief clerk, who had voluntarily agreed when the bill passed authorizing the transfer to the Department of Revenue, had not been called by Commissioner Doughton.

The five were receiving $9,500 a year. The services of an even dozen have been dispensed with and the 117 employees remaining have submitted to reductions in compensation aggregating $18,000.

Commissioner Doughton also announces that he has effected a saving of $21,000 in securing a new contract for the distribution through branch offices of the 1925 license plates.

Branch offices operating in cooperation with the Carolina Motor Club and the Winston-Salem Automobile Association, which are equipped for despatching business on a big scale.

The work of Governor McLean the past week has been largely detailed, so far as the public is aware. He announced the appointment of several governing boards of institutions and a re-organized Corporation Commission.

Maxwell as the member of that tribunal to supervise the Blue Sky Law transferred from the Insurance Department by act of the last Legislature. Commissioner Maxwell will receive no additional compensation and appeals from his ruling may be made to the full Commission. The law regulating bond sales was materially strengthened by the last General Assembly and promotion schemes of questionable merit are likely to experience greater difficulty in passing the censor.

R. O. Bell, clerk of the Corporation Commission, who has the routine of handling the bus laws in connection with his other duties, has had his salary advanced from thirty-six to forty-five hundred dollars. His assistant, J. A. Bland, also of the staff of the Commission, is to receive a boost in compensation commensurate with the added duties imposed upon him. The plan inaugurated for handling the bus law and the Blue Sky Law without an increase in the personnel of the Department is considered a "stroke of economy" in official circles.

While the Governor expects to appoint only democrats to membership on the advisory budget commission, he disclosed no intention of banning republicans for political reasons, making plain his decision to consider each case on its merits. The Governor feels that the Democratic party is responsible for the success or failure of the fiscal policy of the State and this conviction prompted the statement that he felt the Budget Commission should be composed entirely of members of the majority party. But he has placed no ban on republicans as a general proposition.

The National Guard, though State funds will be lacking until July 1, will receive certain Federal allowances for drilling between now and then as a result of change of heart on the part of President Coolidge, who decided not to withhold the money drills which he had previously said he would not allow to be paid.

The budget commission has not approved the item.

Resolutions endorsing the record of Walter Cohoon as attorney for the last four years of the State Highway Commission were adopted by the commission during the week. Mr. Cohoon retires as a result of the Legislature's action in abolishing his job and turning the duties over to the attorney general's office.

Governor McLean took cognizance of the outrage committed upon the person of Joseph McCallan by a mob which took him from the Marshall county jail and performed an operation. The Governor ordered a thorough search for his assailants, offered rewards for their capture and aid Solicitor Gilliam to employ special deputies to aid him as Sheriff Johnson had been reported as being skulking in his search for the men. McCallan was confined in the jail on a charge of attacking a young girl. He was permanently mutilated by the mob which broke into the jail.

SYLVA GIRLS GO TO CHAPEL HILL

The Sylva High School girls who won over Waynesville in the preliminaries of the state wide high school debating contest, left, Wednesday for Chapel Hill, where they will take part in the elimination contest.

Both Sylva teams won over Waynesville, and all four debaters are in Chapel Hill. The four young ladies, Misses Sue Allison, Sarah Sue Sherrill, Nell Edwards and Elizabeth Moody, were accompanied to Chapel Hill by Prof. C. C. Hanson.

TOWN ELECTION CALLED

The board of aldermen have called a town election for the town of Sylva to be held on the First Monday in May. This is the regular biennial election, at which a mayor and a board of aldermen will be elected.

H. L. Evans is appointed as register and Harry E. Buchanan and B. O. Painter as judges.

The workmen are busy on the construction of the Jackson County Bank's new banking house, on Main street. The foundation work is done, and the brick laying will begin the first of the week. The officials of the bank hope to have their new building done and occupy it by early summer.

HIGDON IS BUILDING

J. S. Higdon is erecting a new brick building on the lot next to his garage.

The building will be brick and will be two stories in height.
