ALLEY OPENS CAMPAIGN FOR DEMOCRATS

Attacking the Fordney-McCumber tariff bill as being unjust to the farmers, the wood workers and the miners of this country, taking many millions of dollars from their pockets and putting it into the coffers of the wealthy manufacturers; declaring that it violates the provisions of the constitution and places into the hands of the executive tax levying power; stating that the centralization of government has grown to such an extent that the people no longer have a representative government in Washington; but a bureaucratic government; insisting that there is no prosperity such as the people enjoyed during the eight years of Wilson's administration, but that such prosperity as we have is localized in the industrial centers, while the farmers, and the small town people, as well as the poorer of the cities are growing poorer under the present tariff laws. Felix E. Alley, of Waynesville, speaking Monday night at the court house in Sylva and at the Cullowhee Auditorium at Cullowhee, officially opened the democratic campaign in Jackson county.

Mr. Alley, a native of Jackson County, who was defeated for the nomination for congress, in June, by Congressman Weaver, declared that he has kept faith and that if the people wish him to continue in the ranks as a private, he is ready and anxious to fight the battles of democracy, because of his love for the principles of the party.

"What difference does it make," said Mr. Alley, whether Mr. Weaver or I bear the standard of democracy? "The campaign to throw from power the party of special privilege and greed, to restore to the states their rights under the constitution, to drive centralized government from Washington and again establish a representative government, is the only issue; that is the thing that is in the minds of the people, that the thing that is bearing upon their hearts, and it can make no difference who carries the banner, so long as the battle is successful and the liberties of the people restored to them."

Mr. Alley was received by a large crowd both at Sylva and at Cullowhee, and was roundly cheered as he laughingly laid aside his defeat in the primary, and eloquently plead the cause of his party.

WAKE FOREST PLAYS IN ASHEVILLE SATURDAY

Asheville, N. C., Oct. 12—When Wake Forest College and Presbyterian College of South Carolina meet on McCormick Field here Saturday afternoon, October 16th, it will be the first games ever played between these two schools in Western North Carolina.

Local Wake Forest Alumni are planning a big day for the game and indications point that a crowd that will break all attendance records for football here will witness the clash between the teams. George Pennell of the Wake Forest Alumni Association, has already corralled the Alumni of this section and has started working on details of the game.

Presbyterians' close defeat at the hands of Davidson College last Saturday by a 3 to 0 score is an indication that the game will be hard fought as Wake Forest with victories over North Carolina and Wofford, is pointing toward the game with Davidson, one of the feature games on the State's gridiron card.

Cullowhee, October 10—Members of the Cullowhee Normal School faculty and a few friends of the community were delightfully entertained Friday, October 8th from 7:30 to 9:30 p. m. in the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Lynch in honor of the second anniversary of their marriage. Upon arrival the guests were invited into the library where they were asked to register their names in the anniversary memory book. It was quite interesting to note that several of those present had recorded their names in the memory book just one year ago on a similar occasion.

The special feature of entertainment was a brief program consisting of the following numbers: Piano selections by Miss Daisy Franklin; vocal solo with piano accompaniment by Miss Doris Brown; vocal solo and reading by Miss Katherine Brown.

TWO VERY SINGULAR HONORS CONFERED UPON PRES. HUNTER

Oct. 9, 1926—Two very singular honors have been conferred recently upon President H. T. Hunter of Cullowhee State Normal. The first honor is an invitation to speak before the American Association of Junior Colleges at Jackson, Mississippi, November 29-30. Mr. Hunter received this invitation through L. W. Smith, President of Joliet Junior College, Joliet, Illinois, and has selected as his topic "Is It Advisable to Offer Several Curricula in the Junior Colleges?"

The other distinction which President Hunter has received is that of having his name appear in "Who's Who in America", along with hundreds of other prominent men who have accomplished more conspicuous achievement or who hold important official positions.

GLENN CASE CONTINUED FOR PRIVATE PROSECUTION

The case of Raymond Glenn, charged with assault with a deadly weapon, upon John Nance, was continued until the February term of Jackson county superior court, by Judge J. H. Harwood Tuesday upon motion of Judge Thad D. Bryson for the private prosecution who stated that the physical condition of Nance is still such that it would be dangerous to his life and health for him to be forced through the ordeal of a trial of the case at this time. The defense did not offer any resistance to the motion to continue.

Nance was shot four times, on July 30th, on the streets of Sylva by Glenn a local jeweler following a separation between Glenn and his wife, a few weeks before; and it was at first thought that Nance would succumb to the effect of the pistol shots, four bullets having struck him, one taking effect in his face and three in his body. Nance was in the court room when the case was called and motion made.

Other cases tried during the week are:

Claude Wike, assault, verdict of not guilty. Mr. Wike had been previously convicted in recorder's court of an assault upon a drunken negro, who had presented himself at Mr. Wike's home. The state contended that Mr. Wike, in continuing to throw rocks at the negro, had used more force than was necessary for the protection of himself and his home. The jury saw it the other way and said not guilty.

Bascombe Bryson and Sam Bryson, each found guilty of assault, were given suspended sentences upon two years good behavior.

Bill Baison was charged with theft. Upon motion the charge was changed to forcible trespass and judgment suspended upon payment of the costs.

Fred Gates, found guilty of possession and retailing was given a suspended sentence upon two years good behavior.

Sevier McDowell, convicted of reckless driving, was fined $20.00 and the costs, and ordered to give bond for his appearance at each term of the court for 12 months to show that he has not broken any laws and has not driven an automobile.

Albert Keever plead guilty of carrying a concealed weapon and was fined $100.00 and also drew a $50 fine for transporting and possessing liquor.

Cleve Wiggins, Granie Pannell and Fred Pannell were tried on a charge of making liquor, and the jury failed to agree. A mistrial was ordered.

Geo. M. Moore, A. W. D. W., continued for plaintiff.

E. Garland Brown, embezzlement, alias.

J. T. Cochran, abandonment, alias. Raymond Wilson, perjury, not pros. Lyman Wilson, perjury, not pros. Clint Long abandonment, alias. Dewey Bryson, assault, not pros. Jim Wells, driving without lights, not guilty.

SAFETY IS TOPIC OF MOTOR CLUB

Motorists have too much on their minds and have difficulty in finding room for thoughts of safety because they carry their domestic and business troubles with them in the opinion of W. F. Shipman, Assistant Manager of this District of the Carolina Motor Club.

The Carolina Motor Club official, following the example of the officials of 856 other Clubs affiliated with the American Automobile Association, has been studying the behavior of motorist in an effort to discover why there is so much apparent carelessness. The preoccupation of the motorist mind is one of the principal features thus far disclosed by the investigations.

"Motorists carry their business and domestic troubles with them," says Mr. Shipman, "and the result is there is very little time and room in their minds for thoughts of safety. The housewife does too much shopping at the wheel. The business man puts on too many deals while he is dodging pedestrians. Altogether, the situation is not conducive of safety."

How this conclusion was reached, says Mr. Shipman, is as interesting as the conclusion itself, according to those who have studied these facts. Members of the safety and accident prevention committee of the club were commissioned to accept offers to ride with local motorists to discover what the drivers were thinking about. Almost invariably the drivers launched into a conversation regarding their interest. The assumption was that there has been no one in the car to talk these matters over with the driver he would have discussed them over with himself mentally.

FRENCH MINISTER SAYS WELCOME IS ASSURED LEGION

Paris, Oct. 10—"The American Legionnaires may be assured of the most heartfelt welcome when they come to Paris for their convention in 1927," Albert Sarraut, minister of the interior, told Hilton U. Brown, of the Indianapolis News, who called on him today to discuss the proposed visit of the American Legion to France next year.

"What the American Soldiers did for us," added M. Sarraut, "has not been forgotten, and can never be forgotten. The French will be glad to meet them again."

Allusion being made to reports from the United States of a feeling in France against Americans, M. Sarraut remarked:

"Some feeling does exist in France regarding the debts. A good many of our people think hard terms have been made. That question is entirely apart from our affection and admiration for the American soldier. Politics have nothing to do with these sentiments of ours."

Mention of alleged desecration of the tombs of American soldiers in France brought a flash to M. Sarraut's eye and the spirited reply: "abominable fables. I cannot account for them unless they are the inventions of hostile propagandists. The tombs of American soldiers in France may be visited by thousands; they will see how they are respected."

The evening was one of enjoyment to those present, one of the features of the evening's entertainment being a reading by Mrs. C. A. Bales.
