STATE EXPENDITURES

Alarm and regret are expressed at Washington over the continued rise of state governmental expenditures. The White House points to the steady reduction of federal taxes, and deplores the failure of states and cities to imitate this example. Is this criticism just?

First it should be observed that federal expenditures for normal functions of government have not declined. On the contrary, they have grown in the last five years. The reduction in federal taxes has come about through the cleaning up of war-time finances and extraordinary war-time expenses. Only a scandalous disregard of ordinary financial prudence could have prevented an inevitable reduction in federal taxes upon the resumption of peace. The states, on the other hand, had relatively few unusual expenses as a result of war. Most of them had practically none beyond local aid to disabled veterans. But state expenditures naturally grow with the passing years, as population increases and life grows more complex. State expenditures ought to increase. Not all additions to local expenses are wise, but by and large, they reflect the growth of prosperity and an intelligent widening of local interest in the welfare of the community. They spell better roads, better schools, better hospitals, better care of children and of the public health, more parks, more libraries, more museums of art.

Not size of expenditures, then—not even, necessarily, the relative tax rate year by year—but wisdom is the true test. Thirty one percent of the money spent by the states in 1925 went into permanent improvement, of which four fifths were for better roads and waterways. This kind of expenditure ought to be encouraged.—World's Work, December, 1926.

CULLOWHEE OFFERS NEW HEALTH SURVEY COURSE

Cullowhee, N. C., Jan. 10—A new course is being given during the winter quarter at the Cullowhee State Normal School involving the making of a complete health survey of the approximately 275 children in the Cullowhee Training School. The course is under the direction of Dr. L. B. Newman, resident physician, and Professor C. H. Allen of the Education Department. Valuable assistance is being rendered also by Mrs. Bessie Hansis, trained nurse.

A careful physical examination and a complete health record is being made of each child in the training school, and a systematic follow-up program is being worked out. This course is designed to give practical experience in enabling teachers in the public schools to give intelligent attention to the health condition of the school children.

Nine hundred and eighty-one hogs sold by farmers of Perquimans County last year brought a net profit of $4,296.78.

Tom Tarheel says he is going to sell all his extra garden produce, his milk and butter and his fresh eggs on the curb market this year.

One hundred and twelve club boys in Davidson county produced new wealth to the amount of $8,344.60 last year. Their net profit totaled $5,061.91.

CULLOWHEE QUINT WINS FROM ANDREWS

Cullowhee, N. C., Jan. 15—Playing a beautiful game of basket ball, the Cullowhee Normal School Yodlers vanquished the Independent Athletic Club of Andrews, N. C., last night in the Cullowhee gymnasium, and thereby got sweet revenge for their defeat at Andrews last week. The Cullowhee quint, moving as smoothly as well-oiled machinery, completely bewildered the Andrews aggregation with a series of spectacular plays, long shots, and snappy dribbling. A large number of people were present.
