

MAY FIT CROPS TO ADAPTED SOILS

Raleigh, N. C., June 14—Nearly every crop has its preference for the soil on which it wishes to make its home.

"Nearly every agricultural soil type in North Carolina has certain characteristics or aspects which make it better suited to a certain crop or certain kinds of farming than to some other crops or types of farming," says C. B. Williams, head of the department of agronomy at State College. "There is tobacco, for instance, and red clover. We know that best results with tobacco are secured when the crop is grown on certain Norfolk, Durham, Alamance, Granville and Cecil soils. When the crop is put on other soils, the quality of weed is not as good and the tobacco does not grow as well. Red clover does best on the Davidson clay loam soils."

The facts have been established by experiments and observations over a number of years, states Mr. Williams, and show that a sound plan of promoting the growth of special crops may be worked out if such observations are followed. This is especially true of such special crops as alfalfa, red clover or tobacco. The agronomy workers have found that red clover was doing much better or was grown more generally in certain communities than in others. In seeking to determine the cause of this irregular distribution, it was found that growth of the clover was associated with certain types of soil. The clover seemed to be especially adapted to the Davidson clay loam and wherever this soil was found to any extent in a county, red and related clovers were found occupying a larger part of the land than in counties where other soils were predominant. Alfalfa is also found on this and closely related soils.

Mr. Williams states therefore that those who wish to grow certain special crops or to practice certain types of farming would do well to study the kind of soil on the farm and to grow those crops which are best adapted to the soils.

COW, SOW, SHEEP AND HEN MARKETING GROWING FAST IN COUNTY

(By C. W. Tilson, County Agent)
Jackson County farmers are fast and firmly laying the foundation and building up markets for cow, sow, sheep and hen products that are now meaning and shall always mean "More Cash in Jackson County Farming." Few folks realize just what has been done and what the outlook is for cash crop farming in the county.

With the permanent establishment of Carolina Creamery station in Sylva our farmers have one of the best cream markets in the South and interest in dairying is growing fast. Over $600,000 in cash is coming to our farmers each month now for cream sold to Carolina Creamery and the volume is increasing every month. The skim milk on the farms producing this cream is growing heifer calves, pigs and chickens worth as much as the cream checks. Dairy cows are selling for almost twice what they were two years ago. Let the man who thinks we will get too many see what good cows will cost him 3 and 5 and 7 years from now when he buys some of these heifer calves farmers are growing now.

Jackson County's first cooperative car of demonstration fed hogs will be shipped this month to the packer. This car of live hogs averaging around 230 pounds per head will bring our farmers at least $1400.00. The actual records by weights on hogs and feed show that most of these hogs cost less than $6.00 per hundred pounds to grow them and they will sell for at least $10.00 per hundred pounds.

Keeping brood sows with cows and producing pigs at $350 per head 8 weeks old and selling them for corn for $1.75 to $2.00 per bushel will grow fast in Jackson county with the development of live car load hog shipments. Last year over 300 car loads of demonstration fed hogs were shipped out of North Carolina. Actual records by scales on feed and hogs, show that over 7000 of these hogs paid their owners $2.14 per bushel for the corn they ate.

Jackson County corn sold for $1.00 per bushel on the market or to hogs if hogs were fed on corn alone. The corn alone feeding takes 25 bushels corn to produce 230 pounds pig or $25, while the corn shorts and fish meal way, 230 pound pigs cost $12.00 for feed.

Two more cars of demonstration corn, shorts and fish meal fed hogs now on feed will be shipped in September by Jackson County farmers. The sheep growers are having a pay day soon, too. This month they hold a cooperative wool sale that will pay them well. Last year over $1300.00 in cash was received for wool and we have more wool this year and the price is good. Good lambs have been selling high this year as usual, and definite plans are being made now for marketing the lambs for the highest dollar.

Our sheep growers will very soon be holding cooperative car load shipments as fast as we can standardize the lambs. Practically all ewes and ewe lambs this year will be kept in the county for breeders and in the next two months some good grade ewes will be brought in by farmers for foundation flocks.

Poultry sales are growing steady. Last week the car was packed full and week before last only a few more coops could have been handled. When one car won't hold the Murphy branch poultry, we will have two as was the case two weeks ago when an extra car was on the Sylva siding to take care of the overflow. Well over $1200 each month is received in cash at the car by our farmers for poultry. More than 5000 standard bred pullers are being grown fast by our standard farm flock owners to get ready for the high priced fall and winter eggs. Every month of next fall and winter the eggs from these 5000 pullets will sell for more than our live poultry is bringing now.

It takes a lot of push to build markets like these and grow cow, sow, sheep and hen products to supply the increasing demand. Let me urge the farmers who are doing their part so well to work even harder and interest others, and those who have done nothing about it yet get busy and help Jackson County farmers produce and market cash crop, livestock and their products. We need a hundred times the cows, sows, sheep and hens well cared for on Jackson County farms and they are coming as sure as roads, schools and automobiles have come, and our markets will still be demanding more than we will ever produce.

Denmark is the richest farming nation on earth today. Nothing on earth made it but the cow, sow, and hen with their butter, bacon and eggs. We have far greater opportunities for cheap production and good markets than Denmark ever had at any stage of her growth.

OUR ADVERTISING BILL

Concord Times.
Economists and sociologists have lately given much consideration to advertising as a business and social force. The American Newspaper Publishers' Association calculates that last year 3,500 national advertisers invested $235,000,000 in newspaper space alone. Among these, 309 of the largest advertisers spent $100,317,000. A little analysis of this list shows some interesting details.

For instance, 21 motor car manufacturers spent $19,057,000; nine tobacco concerns spent $9,563,000; 24 drug, chemical and toilet preparation concerns spent $7,882,000; 13 oil companies spent $5,030,000; 17 railroads spent $4,979,000; six radio concerns spent $1,420,000; five steamship companies spent $800,000. Other heavy advertising buyers are electric washing machine and electric refrigerator makers; baking powders, menpackers, publishing houses, motor tires, clothing, and prepared foods. The complete list presents quite an astonishing variety.

The Gastonia Gazette explains that "the Advertising Bureau of the American Newspaper Publishers' Association is endeavoring to make the fullest possible survey of the advertising field, the results of which would be of much value to both advertisers and publishers. Apparently more money is spent to reach motor car buyers and users, by the automobile and oil companies, than on behalf of any other single group."

Advertising, and especially newspaper advertising, is on the increase for the man who has something to sell realizes more and more each year that he must give his commodity a name through advertising before he can sell it on a large scale.
