

This, That an' Tother

By ARK RICKENS

The buffalo was cute, wasn't it? I knew I had seen him somewhere before. Got hold of a nickel this week and there he was.

Just back the lifetime of two real old people there were plenty of buffalo East of the Mississippi River, but the stock law caught 'em.

And up to the turning loose of Buffalo Bill on 'em, they were that thick out West till it would, in a stampede, take sometimes three weeks for a hard to pass a given point.

They finally got thinned down to one old wild Buffalo, and he fell dead here a while back when he saw a fat ranchman get out of a glass car with palm beach knickers on.

Huh? I mean the fat ranchman had on the glass knickers. Don't matter.

Then they put the buffalo on the nickels so they wouldn't become extinct, and blamed if they ain't pretty scarce at that, and who of us ain't handin' out bull are giving demonstrations of the passing of the noble hison (pronounced buy-son). The lower the value of a stamp or coin which bears a man's likeness, the greater the honor, for there are so many more people who handle small money exclusively.

For instance, whose picture is it on a twenty-dollar bill? I don't either. And whose was on fifties before they quit makin' 'em? Huh? Why, I reckon they've quit makin' 'em.

Speaking above of those knee britches, the old Dutch governors of New York started that style, and got the britches named after them. Serves 'em right.

They call 'em plus-fours now, for the reason that they make 'em long enough to look as well as they were ever intended to, and then they add four inches, which makes 'em look like seventy-one cents would look to a man with five kids right outside of Ringing's tent.

Hoping this finds you the same,

Ark Rickens.

PASTURES NEED HELP DURING SUMMER SEASON

Raleigh, N. C., July 5. How the pasture is handled during the mid-summer season determines the amount and quality of the grazing to be obtained from it during the remainder of the year.

There are two big things to look out for with the pasture in mid-summer," says Sam J. Kirby, pasture specialist at State College. "If weeds and bushes are allowed to grow, the grass will be shaded and the soil reduce both the quality and quantity of the herbage. Some pastures got off to a poor start this spring because of the cool, dry weather. This provided a favorable environment for weeds, native grasses and sedges but was harmful to new plantings of tame grasses. Even old pastures were hurt.

If these weeds are allowed to grow, they will rob the pasture plants of light, moisture and plant food, states Mr. Kirby. All pastures in which the weeds have made a start, should be mowed.

Bushes should also be cut. Some shade is good for the livestock that uses a pasture but the close, dense shading produced by low-growing bushes and shrubs will kill the grass and clover plants. Bushes are especially bad in pastures newly seeded on cutover or recently cleared land.

Mr. Kirby finds that uneven grazing is another of the detriments to good pastures in North Carolina. This results when not enough animals are placed on the grass to keep the sod grazed evenly. When only a few animals are in the pasture, they will graze heavily in some places and allow the other parts to grow up unhindered. Those grasses and clovers growing tall and going to seed become hard, fibrous and unpalatable, whereas had they been properly grazed, would have been succulent, tender and palatable. If grazing is uneven, mow the parts not grazed or better still add a few more dairy cows to the farm, states Mr. Kirby.

BALSAM

Napoleon Bryson has returned from the Angel Hospital in Franklin where he underwent an operation for appendicitis.

Miss Edith Christy is spending the summer in Balsam.

Mr. O. E. Horton and family of Atlanta are now in their summer home, "Green Pastures" enjoying the cool mountain breezes.

Mr. R. L. Lee and family of Waynesville are occupying their summer home in Balsam Heights.

Miss Mary Mehaffey of Hendersonville is visiting her sister, Mrs. Hubert Ensley.

Mrs. Hyatt of Bryson City is visiting her son, Walter Hyatt.

Miss Mary Middleton accompanied her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Wood Middleton to Winston-Salem last week, and will take a business course in Draughon's Business College of which Mr. Middleton is president.

Thursday evening in honor of her guest, Mrs. S. A. Bynum of Savannah, Ga. Delicious refreshments were served.

Sunday School Day was observed in the Methodist Church Sunday.

Mrs. Minnie Bryson and Miss Paye Bryson are making quite a success of "Woodfin Lunch Room" on Highway No. 10 near Mr. William Crawford's. They serve all kinds of good eats.

Mrs. J. R. Rork entertained a few of her friends in the afternoon of the Fourth. Decorations and refreshments carried out the color scheme of the day. Those who enjoyed Mrs. Rork's hospitality were: Mrs. W. B. Farwell, Miss Nannie Knight and Mrs. D. T. Knight.

Balsam now has electric lights. Trains Nos. 17 and 20 now stop regularly at Balsam. We find that it was a mistake that Balsam was included in the flag station list when the schedule was changed. We are glad that the mistake was so soon corrected.

There were several picnic parties here the Fourth. One was chaperoned by Mrs. J. R. Wilson.

Farmers of Vance County will make a good will tour through western N. C., across into S. C. and return back through the Sandhills during a trip beginning the week of July 11.

Modern smokers demand quality and put Camel first

THIS experienced age knows the good tobacco it demands in a cigarette. And it has made Camel the greatest leader any age has ever known.

Camel's choice tobaccos and its blending for smoothness and mellowness have made it supreme with modern smokers. Camel today is world favorite, because of quality.

Camel was made to succeed in an age that knows merit. Just try Camels and you'll know why no other cigarette can compare with them. Let the choice of the modern world show you what smoking enjoyment can really be.
