The funny thing about the nation wide search for Dick Reynolds was that he had no idea he was lost.

Judging from the news in the papers the nearer we get to October's bright blue weather, the more the people are seeing red.

Hostilities along North Carolina's war zone, otherwise known as Highway 285 were recently resumed in the Macon county area.

By the way, who gave Bishop H. M. DuBose authority to speak politically for some half million Southern Methodist voters?

It is said that London is the best governed city in the world; that there is less lawlessness, greater respect for law, and fewer crimes. The reason assigned is that there are few laws, less interference with the people, officers trained in their duties, and rigid, rapid and impartial enforcement of the laws that exist.

You have heard that "times have changed." We didn't believe it until Monday when a white man was tried convicted and sentenced for stealing chickens from a negro. Time was when one of the stock jokes was about negroes stealing white people's chickens. Monday we had to scratch our head and wonder where we have arrived.

Up in Cleveland, Ohio, a policeman arrested a man and a woman on a charge of disorderly conduct, because he caught them petting, in an automobile on the street. The man protested that the woman was his wife. The policeman wouldn't believe it and took the two to the lock up where they remained for six hours. The woman sued the policeman for false arrest, and a jury awarded her $3675 damages. Just another case of officers interfering with things that do not concern them, of "snooping" into the affairs of people who were guilty of nothing except bad taste, and of having the attitude that every man and woman is either a criminal or a potential criminal and should be watched.

800 school children of Gary, Ind. are striking and refusing to attend school because of the enrollment of a number of negroes in the school. So far as the law is concerned they are on the wrong side; but they have the sympathy and support of this paper and the entire South. While we are believers in law and order and constitution, still we have always been and are yet strong for the nullification of the 14th and 15th amendments to the constitution. Try as you may, pass as many amendments as you will, it is well-nigh impossible to divorce the people of this country from the principle of local self government, in any matter in which they have a real interest. They support what they want to support and nullify what they desire to nullify. After all that's a tolerable healthy sign.

WHY PICK ON US?

In 1908 North Carolina, by an overwhelming majority voted dry. The saloons were banished from the state forever, by the people themselves. The North Carolina legislature ratified the 18th Amendment to the constitution of the United States and the people approved the action of their legislature. North Carolina has been dry, is still dry and will always remain dry, come that may. There are other states and spots in other states that are as wet as the Atlantic ocean and sometimes the tide, when it runs high, slashes over into North Carolina, against the wishes of the people of this state.

These things being so, we wonder why the anti-saloon league should pick out this state as the first of the 48, in which to open up the big guns of the campaign that it is waging under the name of "law enforcement!"

POLITICS AND RELIGION

We appear, from utterances by Bishop DuBose, Dr. McBride and the anti-saloon speakers, who are delivering their political speeches in the churches throughout North Carolina, to be entering upon the most remarkable political campaign in the history of this country.

The line between politics and religion, between civil governmental principals and morals, has dwindled to the vanishing point and nobody seems to know just what things are Caesar's and what God's. Once before this same condition of affairs confronted the people, the day when political anathemas were hurled from most of the pulpits of the land, and the churches were torn in twain and the country plunged into four bitter years of civil war, over the question of slavery.

Strangely enough, the political parties seem prone to ignore the question that is becoming paramount and the churches are making the fight. The difference between church and state is fast disappearing and no man can tell just where it will all end.

DANIELS HITS THE MARK

Josephus Daniels has a way of brushing aside all the chaff of non-essentials that comes up to obstruct the public vision in things political, and of striking at the unreal issues. Speaking in Washington, Wednesday, Mr. Daniels gave some very pointed advice to his party, which if heeded will do much to clarify the muddled political waters.

The Democrats must "stop this talk about beer and religion and start a hostile and militant attack against the present rule of the privileged few and dollar diplomacy, if they hope for success.

We have the house of Morgan now dominating our diplomacy and the house of Mellon controlling our tax system for their own benefit," he asserted. "The people are no longer represented and unless they are stopped and thrown out, this country will get in the situation like Europe, but instead of having earls and counts we will have barons of industry with the rest of the people vassals.

"That is the issue for the Democrats and unless they seize it and fight it with all their power they won't get anywhere. The Democratic party has got to get back to its spirit of 1912. A soft, mealy-mouthed policy won't do."

There is the crux of the matter. There is the real issue.

In other words, if the Democratic party hopes to win, it must be Democratic. It must reassert its time-honored principles of human rights and human liberties, of equal rights to all and special privileges to none, of the right of the people to control the affairs of this nation for the benefit of all people. John Sharp Williams, the wise old gentleman, from further South, sounded the same warning, a few days ago, and if the Democratic party really expects to win an election, it must heed the advice of Daniels and the voice of Williams, as they assert the doctrine of government that actuated Jefferson, that drove Jackson forward, that elevated Cleveland to the presidency, and that placed Wilson at the highest pinnacle upon which mortal man ever stood to defend the inalienable rights of mankind.
