OKEH SAYS COOLIDGE.
AN EGG FOR BABE RUTH.
AN OLD ENGINEER.
CHILDREN AND SUNSHINE.

President Coolidge, surveying national conditions, finds them excellent. As regards business and prosperity, Secretary Mellon says there is capital, in abundance, for all new ventures worth while, crops are good and automobiles are expected to set new sales records.

Secretary Hoover reports that our exports are increasing. This year is ahead of the same period last year and our imports have one pleasant feature. We are not paying England the high prices for rubber that we paid last year. You may reply to questions about the business outlook, as follows: Nothing the matter, if business does not become afraid of its own prosperity.

Perry Thomas, one of the oldest, most trustworthy engineers on the New York Central, was soon to retire—as soon as he had saved a little more money. Before the day came a head-on collision ended his life, and as he lay dying in the hospital the old engineer, desiring to free everybody else from blame, told witnesses the accident was his fault. He had run by a block signal in the fog.

This reminds the public how much depends on the railroad engineers. They should be better paid than they are now. And they might well be retired on full pay, without waiting until age dims their sight and dulls their nerves. The public would be willing to pay for it.

At Omaha, Babe Ruth received, as token of his greatness, an egg laid by Lady Norfolk, champion hen of the world.

It was the 170th egg laid or batted out by that hen in 170 days. Ruth remarked: "A hen's egg by the river's brim, a simple hen's egg was to him, and nothing more," and went on with his batting. It would surprise the idol of America to know that such a hen as Lady Norfolk is more important to the country than all its baseball players.

Reports from Maine, received out here on the Mojave Desert, indicate that voters mean to keep the direct primary system for awhile, at least. Professional politicians will not be able to "deliver" nominations in pre-arranged conventions. And poor millionaires, determined to be somebody, will have to buy the direct primary first, and the election afterward. Hard on politicians, who have less to sell, and on office buyers that must pay high prices for an uncertainty.

The American Public Health Association, gathered at Cleveland, is told that today's greatest cause of death is heart disease. And repeated infections, such as "common colds," to which so little attention is paid, cause heart disease. The trouble starts often in childhood, with childhood's diseases, all of which might be avoided. This should interest parents of the dark ages type who think "the children might as well have measles and such little things first as last and get them over with."

Toronto University proves that sunshine will cure rickets, of which many children die. A German wrote more than 100 years ago, "God may forgive you for not giving to children bread that costs money. But He will not forgive you for depriving them of fresh air and sunlight that cost nothing." To prove that sunshine cures rickets does not mean much, when millions of city children can not have the sunshine.

Power companies worth twenty-three billion dollars don't want the Government to harness the Colorado River. That might mean competition in the power business.

Twenty-three billions is less than $230 per inhabitant of the United States, less than the price of a small automobile. "Twenty-three billions" sounds big, but 115,000,000 human beings, all interested in Colorado River development, possess power also. The Colorado will be developed and power gentlemen will be glad when it happens. Learned bankers fought the Federal Reserve law, dreading interference with pleasant profits. It has saved them from black panic half a dozen times.

GET GOOD STOCK IN SETTING PECANS

Raleigh, N. C., Nov. 10—It requires more skill to grow pecan stock than the usual fruit trees and since the yields of pecans are so much influenced by the stock and budwood used, the trees should come from a reliable source.

"There is much interest in setting pecan trees in North Carolina and the prospective growers should be sure of their source of stock," says Prof. C. D. Matthews, head of the department of horticulture at State College. "There are two methods of propagating these trees root-grafting and budding. Only the budded trees should be planted in this state. Root-grafted trees have proved undesirable. They kill back badly. Failure of trees to grow is traceable to the fact that they were root grafted. Budded trees show a slight crook at the point where the bud was inserted. Root-grafted trees are straight from the ground up."

Another thing to remember when buying pecan trees is that the young trees are sold by height. The desire to get a large tree in a short time frequently results in the use of too much nitrogen to force rapid growth. Trees of this type often have soft, spongy taproots as compared with trees properly grown. They require a much longer time to get started.

If the wrong variety is planted, it may be top-worked, states Mr. Matthews, but if a root-grafted tree is set, it can only be dug up. Even if the trees have been properly grown, they should be carefully dug and packed for shipment. Trees dug before the leaves have fallen or those where the roots have been allowed to dry out in shipment or bruised in handling, make poor growth whatever care the buyer may give in planting.

Mr. Matthews states that the North Carolina Pecan Growers Society has been organized to assist prospective growers in getting the right start with their trees.

Camel

Made for one purpose
—to promote pleasure

Camel is attuned to the mood of the smoker who seeks pleasures rather than panaceas. Offered as a cheer not as a cure.

If all cigarettes were as good as Camel you wouldn't hear anything about special treatments to make cigarettes good for the throat. Nothing takes the place of choice tobaccos.
