BOOKS DONATED TO LIBRARY

A number of books have recently been donated to the library, among them a religious library of 90 volumes presented by Prof. C. C. Hanson of Whittier, which will doubtless be particularly interesting and helpful to Sunday School teachers and preachers.

Twenty-five volumes of fiction have been given by Mrs. Lee S. S. Marsh and Senator Lee S. Overman has sent 9 volumes, comprising a collection on the Indian tribes of America, their sign language, modes of living and music.

The high school and grammar school libraries will be moved to the library this week, so that the children may have access to the books during the summer vacation. Miss Borden, the county supervisor of schools, is also moving three traveling libraries to the Sylva library, this week.

Mrs. Buchanan, the librarian, is urging the public to take advantage of the all-current magazines and five daily papers, including the New York Times and the United States Daily, in the library, by dropping in for at least a few minutes' reading every day.

Mrs. Buchanan also expresses appreciation for the work of Mr. Sanford, who has done a considerable amount of painting, free of charge, for the library.

CULLOWHEE ENROLLMENT 349

Cullowhee, April 17.—The Cullowhee State Normal has gone beyond all expectations in its spring enrollment. At the beginning of the spring quarter, the total enrollment of the session had reached 296 normal students. There are no high school students included in this number. The registration for the special six weeks of the spring quarter has just ended, adding 53 more names to the list, bringing the grand total attendance for the session to 349. This represents an increase of 79 percent over the attendance of normal students in 1926-27. It is an increase of 57 percent over the previous year, even if one includes the senior class of the high school, which was carried by the Normal last year. To have eliminated the high school, and at the same time increased the total attendance by 127 in one year is cause for jubilation among the faculty and students. A similar increase another year would bring the total attendance for 1928-29 to near 500.

U. S. CHAMBER OF COMMERCE WORKING FOR TEAM-WORK

Washington, April 18.—Better teamwork among all classes of business as the most effective means of maintaining local and national prosperity will be the central theme of the Sixteenth Annual Meeting of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States to be held in Washington, May 7 to 11.

All phases of business cooperation—by individuals, corporations, chambers of commerce and trade associations—will be discussed under the general heading, "Teamwork for Prosperity." Group buying and selling, the new competition with whole industries struggling for new markets and many kindred subjects will be presented by business executives who have distinguished themselves in their particular lines. Lewis E. Pierson, President of the National Chamber and chairman of the Board, American Exchange-Irving Trust Company, New York, and Judge Edwin B. Parker, chairman of the Board of Directors of the National Chamber, will be among the speakers.

More than 1,500 business organizations, representing all lines of industry, finance and commerce as well as every section of the country have been invited to send delegates. In addition, invitations have been sent to several hundred of the country's outstanding business leaders.

In announcing the preliminary program today, the National Chamber says that "never before was an annual meeting theme more expressive of the aims and objects and methods of an organization than that selected for the coming meeting. Teamwork as represented by group effort and solidarity of interest on matters that are timely, national and general in their application to business and industry are the guiding principles of the National Chamber."

"The statement goes on to point out that teamwork can be promoted most effectively in the local community through chambers, while in particular lines of commerce and industry it can be achieved through trade associations. "By working together locally and within industries and nationally through the National Chamber," the statement adds, "American business men are helping the country to achieve and to maintain prosperity."

"American prosperity," it is pointed out, "is organic. Do injury to one section of the country or one branch of economic endeavor and it is felt through the organism. Let one great section of the country or one great branch of enterprise receive a helpful stimulus, and it is felt throughout the organism."

"For example, the adverse effects of the Mississippi Flood ramified out through the country. Other lines of business were sensitive to the earlier troubles and the more recent improvement in agriculture.

"The various opportunities for teamwork for prosperity, nationally and locally, and the various factors affecting such teamwork, with indication of successful methods that have been pursued, will be passed in review at the forthcoming meeting of American business men."

Following the practice of previous years, the convention will be divided into general and group sessions. The general sessions will deal with questions of interest to all classes of business, while the group meetings will offer an opportunity for each general division of business to discuss its particular problems.

For the business man interested in distribution there will be a discussion of fundamental factors in successful merchandising; of the evaluation of territory and customers; of the uses of scientific management in distribution; and of the relations between chain stores and local chambers of commerce.

Roy A. Young, Governor of the Federal Reserve Board, will speak on the development of the country's credit structure at the finance group session. Another speaker will be Professor Thomas S. Adams, of Yale University, who will discuss what is ahead in taxation.

For those interested in foreign trade and are looking forward to the development of their foreign markets, there will be consideration of combination.
