JACKSON FARMERS HAD GREAT TOUR

Twenty one Jackson County farmers, C. W. Wilson, county agent, and fourteen farmers from Swain County, returned to Sylva, Sunday evening, after a week's official tour of parts of Virginia, Maryland, the national capital and North Carolina, reporting a trip, much pleasure, and a great deal of profitable information having been garnered.

The Jackson men making the trip were: County Agent C. W. Wilson, R. C. Howell and J. H. Keagan, N. Qualla; N. Higdon, Savannah; N. Qualla; N. Brown, Webster; Will Lewis, Little Swannah, C. H. Kitchen, Sylva; R. W. Fisher, Fisher Creek; J. T. Cogdill, Scott's Creek; W. C. Norton, T. C. Ledbetter, F. H. Brown, and Eric Coward, Cullowhee; Richard Wike, River; R. C. Hunter, and Dillard Hooper, Caney Fork; R. H. Stevens and Leon Hooper, Moses Creek; J. M. Nicholson, John's Creek; J. M. Cunningham, Glenville; Hayes Hooper, Big Ridge and Ransom Stewart, Mountain.

The party left Sylva on Monday morning, August 19 and spent the first night in Camp at Marion, Va. Tuesday morning they inspected some of the fine Blue Grass, sheep, cattle and hogs of Virginia, and an especially fine herd of Hereford cattle. A great feature that was impressive was a blue pasture in which 5 years ago the broom sedge was pasturing 1 cow for every acre, had been changed into a splendid blue grass pasture by Mr. Barrow, by using 15 pounds of blue grass, 3 pounds of white clover and 300 pounds of acid phosphate. Now the same hill is pasturing two cows for every acre, by the above application, and an application of 400 pounds of acid phosphate every spring.

Tuesday night was spent at Natural Bridge, where the Jackson folks saw this great, natural wonder. Wednesday they visited Washington and Lee University, and the tombs of Lee and Jackson, and proceeded on through the Valley of Virginia to Winchester and Washington, viewing the dairy and horse section of Northern Virginia, with great fields of alfalfa.

Wednesday night, Thursday night and Friday morning were spent in Washington where the Jackson men visited the department of agriculture, had their picture made with the director-in-chief of the extension service, inspected the federal test farm at Beltsville, Maryland, where extensive experiments are being made with dairy cattle, sheep, hogs and poultry, and where they saw a cow that is giving 100 pounds of milk a day. The Washington monument, the White House, the Smithsonian Institution, the Congressional library and other points of interest in Washington city were visited.

On Friday morning they went to Arlington, visited the national cemetery, the tomb of the unknown soldier, and the federal test farm for fruits and vegetables.

Leaving Arlington, the party proceeded to Richmond for the night; and Saturday morning they visited the Union Stock Yards, and the packing houses, where they learned that Richmond is a good market for cattle and hogs, but a poor one for sheep, and that in marketing sheep it is best to pool the lambs and make a co-operative shipment to Baltimore or New York.

Saturday they proceeded to Durham through the cotton, tobacco and peanut section of North Carolina, and were made to realize more forcibly than ever that the continuous production of cotton or tobacco without proper rotation of crops will impoverish the country.

Saturday night was spent at the Bingham Camp at Mebane, and on Sunday the party made for home, not having time to visit the farms in Catawba county or the state test farm at Swannanoa, as had been originally intended.

Albany Is Scene of Smith Ceremonies

Smith Notification Ceremonies Heard Throughout Land

On Wednesday, August 22, Governor Alfred E. Smith was officially notified of his nomination for the presidency. The ceremonies were held at the State Capital Steps at Albany and an elaborate radio hook-up made it possible for them to be heard in every section of the country. More than 100 radio broadcasting stations sent out the Governor's words. Several short wave stations carried the speeches to Europe, where they were re-broadcast.

The exercises commenced after the playing of "The Star Spangled Banner," with Senator Key Pittman of Nevada the first to speak. Senator Pittman concluded his notification speech, to which Governor Smith responded.

Traffic was closed on all streets surrounding Capitol Park. Amplifiers carried the speeches to all parts of the park and to near by streets. Vast crowds congregated to hear and see the ceremonies.

The first of the week, in answering the attacks made upon his record by William Allen White, Governor Smith went carefully and particularly over his entire legislative record, telling how he voted in each instance and giving his reasons for the ballots that he cast; and in answer to the charge that he has supported vice, he stated:

"I am glad to have this matter taken out of the whispering stage and put into the open once and for all I shall meet it now. I regard it as purely political and when the campaign begins, I do not propose to have the issues of that campaign bogged by controversy over irrelevant things such as the discussion of my votes as a legislator some twenty or more years ago.

My record as an opponent of immorality is fixed and secure publicly, and by many letters in my possession, the late Rev. Canon John P. Peters, when chairman of the committee of fourteen, the leading anti-vice society of New York, repeatedly thanked me for my cooperation with that organization. No one in all of the twenty-five years of my public life has ever dared to make the vile suggestions which emanated from Mr.

White, with the approval of Henry J. Allen, publicity director of the Republican national committee. What a cowardly course the Republican national committee pursued! It issued a slanderous statement through its official publicity bureau and then after its general publication in the press, attempted to evade responsibility by the childish claim that it had been given out by accident. It is not fair play.

An interesting side light, on the Governor of New York's record is given in the following editorial from the Richmond, Va., News Leader:

"It is odd that in all their quotations from his many addresses and messages not one of Al Smith's critics seems to have found space for these three sentences that appeared in his memorandum accompanying the repeal of the Mullan-Gage act:

"With all the earnestness that I am able to bring to my command, let me assure the thousands of people who wrote to me on this subject . . . that the repeal of the Mullan-Gage law will not and cannot by any possible stretch of the imagination bring back into existence the saloon, which is and ought to be a defunct institution in this country, and any attempt at its re-establishment by a mis-conception of the executive attitude on this bill will be forcefully and vigorously suppressed.

"I yield to no man in my reverence and respect for the Constitution of the United States, and I advocate nothing which will infringe upon the provisions of the Eighteenth Amendment. It is, nevertheless, a fact that the definition of an intoxicating beverage contained in the Volstead Act is not an honest or a common sense one."

That language is explicit enough to admit of no evasion: "The saloon . . . is and ought to be a defunct institution;" "I advocate nothing which will infringe upon the provisions of the Eighteenth Amendment." That was said on June 1, 1923, and it stands today, but it will be news to many people. It is not the kind of quotation that the enemies of Governor Smith care to circulate."

McKee, Billy Davis, Reginald Enloe and Dan Tompkins on the question resolved: that married men make better Rotarians than single men, and other features of fun and pleasure.

HOME-COMING DAY AT CULLOWHEE SUNDAY

This coming Sunday, August 26, the Cullowhee community will observe the annual Home-coming, or as some choose to call it Decoration Day. This event has been an annual affair for some years that it has now become a custom; and a beautiful custom it is. The younger generation understands that it grew out of the annual occasion of placing flowers on the graves of departed loved ones. The purpose of celebration at the present, however, has been expanded in its social significance so as to include not only the placing of flowers on the graves of departed ones but also the gathering in a great family re-union all the living loved ones from far and near for a period of christian fellowship. Every living person, far and near, who has at any time had any relationship with Cullowhee, is urgently requested to be present on this annual occasion next Sunday at the Baptist church cemetery.

The committee on arrangements is planning to make the event an all-day affair. The program will begin at 10 o'clock sharp Sunday morning. At this hour the folk will be requested to gather in and around the cemetery, for the placing of flowers on the graves will be the first thing on the program after which the main speaker of the day will give an address at the cemetery; provided, inclement weather does not prohibit. The complete program will be approximately as follows:

Prayer, Rev. J. S. Folger
Song, Jesus Lover of My Soul
Decoration of Graves by Children Quartet.

Address, Hon. J. Robert Long
Prayer, Rev. I. K. Stafford.

Get together hour 11:15 to 12:15
Dinner 12:15 to 1:30

Community addresses: Mr. Holmes Bryson, Dr. H. T. Himmer, Quartet, Prof. R. L. Madison, Mr. T. A. Cox, Quartet, Judge Walter E. Moore, Prof. E. H. Stillwell.

Be sure to bring the following articles: the young people, the old people, the babies, the flowers, and most important of all, a great large basket of dinner. Let us make an old time picnic style dinner of this hour.

The following people are requested to serve as committeemen and committeewomen:

1. Collection and distribution of flowers, Mrs. Ida Smith, Mrs. F. H. Brown, Mrs. W. W. Brown, Mrs. B. J. Hughes,
