THE AUSTRALIAN BALLOT

There is much pother over the state about the enactment of legislation providing a secret ballot law for the entire state. Governor Gardner is one of the chief proponents of the bill, and it is said the Lieutenant-Governor Fountain is opposed to it. The Governor thought the matter of so much importance that he appeared before a joint session of the senate and the house and urged its passage.

One of the chief reasons that the Governor advances for the enactment of the measure is that he does not want his party, which is the majority party in the state, to be accused of unfair election practices.

A similar law is in effect in Jackson, Swain, Buncombe, and some of the other counties of the state; and we have not noticed any fewer charges of election malpractice since its adoption in those counties than before.

As we understand it, one of the chief bones of contention about the present pending bill is the method of appointing markers—the Republicans in the assembly asking that they be appointed by the chairmen of the two parties in each county, and some democrats wishing to retain the provision in the bill for their appointment by the county boards of election.

The truth is that no provision should be made for any such official. The clamor is for a secret ballot, and secret ballot should be the mud-gill of the election law. Anybody who will stop and think for a moment will know that official markers defeat the very purpose of the law, and the very principle for which the women's organizations and others are contending.

There is no necessity for such an official, as the number of the physically incapacitated and those who are upon the permanent registration roll under the grandfather clause are so few, that the two judges of the election can mark the ballots for those at their request without a great deal of over-exertion.

The demand of the people is for a secret ballot. The principle of a secret ballot is the only fair and just way of conducting an election; but if we are to have a secret ballot, by all means let it be a real secret ballot, requiring each voter to mark his own ticket, except the two classes above named.

Then we can have elections that will register the true sentiment of the people in all the counties. That will assure each voter the right of casting his ballot without intimidation, without molestation, and that will prevent those who buy votes from knowing whether or not the goods that they have offered to pay for have been delivered.

WARFIELD TURPIN BEAT WITH HAMMER

Warfield Turpin, Savannah township man, is in the local hospital, in rather a serious condition, and Frank Rhinehart, Webster citizen, is out under bond of $1000.00 on a charge of having inflicted wounds upon Turpin with a hammer.

The affray occurred in the consultation room of W. R. Sherrill, attorney, and no one was present except Turpin and Rhinehart.

In the adjoining room were Mr. Sherrill and Esquire R. A. Painter, who heard the commotion, and rushed in, to see Rhinehart strike Turpin a couple of times with a claw hammer, it is said. Rhinehart then rushed out of the room, and down the stairway, surrendering the hammer and himself to Chief of Police Martin.

Mr. Sherrill summoned medical aid and Turpin was taken to the hospital, where he is said to be doing as well as could be expected. It is stated by persons who have seen Turpin that there are marks of four or more licks with the hammer about his head.

It is said that Mr. Turpin has said that Rhinehart struck him the first lick from behind, as he was going toward the door, and without warning.

Mr. Rhinehart stated to police officers that Turpin attacked him with a knife and that he seized the hammer, which Mr. Sherrill kept in the room for the purpose of breaking coal, and struck to defend himself; and exhibited one or two cuts on his coat, which he stated Turpin made with the knife, in trying to cut Rhinehart, according to reports.

Mr. Turpin was bleeding profusely and was practically crazed from the effects of the blows from the hammer when assistance reached him, and seized Esquire Painter, who is one of the oldest men in the county, by the wrist, with a vise-like hold, not knowing what he was doing, or who he was holding, it is believed; being almost blinded with blood, and insensible from the blows.

Mr. Turpin is well known. He is native of Haywood county, but married in this county and has made his home of Savannah for several years.

Mr. Rhinehart is a native of this county. His home is at Webster, and he has taught in the public schools of this county for several years, until he resigned as principal of the school on Savannah a few weeks ago.

BOOK REVIEW

(By Mrs. C. C. Buchanan, Librarian)

Mrs. Sugimoto, author of A Daughter of the Samurai (pronounced Snu-ray) is professor of Japanese at Columbia University. The New York Herald-Tribune says she "came to a noisy, hearty, Mid-West America from a home where an everlasting blame burned before the ancestral shrine; in the village veterans still dressed in gilt armor on festival days and the calm faced Buddha still dreamed among the fire-colored clouds of Paradise." She as village Sambo rebelled against the mate that made all women inferior from the tiny girl to the honorable grandmother.

"Her book is most interesting as a study in contrasts," says the New York Sun. It is more than a juxtaposition, bizarre and amazing, of the yellow race and the white race. Incidentally the book is a powerful arbitrator between two nations who have not always understood each other. If the Prince of Wales is England's best ambassador, Mrs. Sugimoto may be Japan's.

You will find A Daughter of the Samurai among the new books at the library.

IN MEMORY

Whereas God in His wisdom and mercy saw fit to remove from our midst our beloved sisted Mrs. R. W. Fisher, on New Years Day, 1929. She was a consecrated Christian from childhood, and was a member of Scotts Creek Baptist church. She was also a member of the W. M. S., but for the past year or two was not able to attend much, although her condition was not considered serious and her death came unexpected to her friends and family. She leaves her husband, five sons and two daughters, two grand children and a host of other relatives and friends to mourn her going. She was loved by all who knew her and her character was so pure, to be in her company was bliss. We feel keenly the loss of this dear one from our community, but she will live on in our memories, while her presence has gone to occupy one of those mansions Jesus went to prepare for His children. We needed her here with us, but God needed her most. She is now where pain and sorrow never comes and where no new made graves appear; where the voice is not still'd by death, but where they sing around the Throne and praise the Redeemer forever. Our deepest sympathies go to the bereaved husband and family. But our loss is Heaven's gain. Therefore be it resolved:

First, That we bow in humble submission to the will of the Heavenly Father.

Second, That a copy of this be sent to each of our local papers for publication and that a copy be sent to the lonely family, also one recorded on the minutes of the W. M. S. book Mrs. Geo. C. Snyder Mrs. T. C. Bryson, Committee.

IN MEMORY

On January 7, 1929 God called from our midst our beloved sisted and co-worker, Mrs. W. J. Fisher. She was a loyal member of the Scott's Creek Baptist Church and a devoted member of the W. M. S. For some time her health would not permit her attendance but her liberal contributions and prayers were always present. We extend to her lonely husband our deepest sympathy and pray God's richest blessings may rest upon him, linger with him and fill the vacant place in this world for him. To know her was to love her. She was a ray of sunshine to those around her. She was the type who always would cast gladness upon others. While gone from us we think of her helping to fill the number in "The Heavenly Land" and waiting our going. We are sorry to have to give her up here there is a vacancy in the home, at the table, in the community, in our church; the voice is hushed, her foot steps will be heard no more. Yet we can't think of her as dead, she is only sleeping in a new made grave, while her soul was waft away in a chariot that swung low into a perfect day.

"Cousin Sally" did not die, She only passed by.

As we go along life's way We will remember that sad day. He leaves our hearts all desolate, He plucks our fairest, sweetest flowers;

Transplanted into bliss, They now adorn immortal bowers.

Mrs. George C. Snyder Mrs. T. C. Bryson, Committee.

About Your Health Things You Should Know

Spitting

At best a vulgar habit, which can be done away with if we would devote a little time and attention to the task. There is no cuspidor near my desk as I write this. I believe in the practice of what I preach.

The saliva is a very necessary digestive fluid. It was not provided as a luxury, but as a necessity. To waste it is to disturb the normal balance in our adjustment. The habit of spitting is a symptom indicating disease. We should be more considerate of our fellow-men than to willfully expose them to our throat and nose infections.

Sputum may contain many forms of bacteria; in fact, the "spitter" usually has an infected throat, causing increased secretion. To expectorate on the sidewalk, or on the ground about the home, is to smear the premises with germs which, after drying, are ready for a voyage into some innocent respiratory tract. This is the way in which the dreaded "T.B." finds access to many lungs. In the same manner, influenza, diphtheria, pneumonia, scarlet fever, and many other ugly processes are started. To withhold your expectoration, or, if you cannot, then to deposit it on a cloth, piece of paper—something you can burn—is to be a humanitarian on a small but very noble scale.

To sneeze in your neighbor's face, exhibits idiocy of course. To expectorate where it will dry and be carried to the throat of an unsuspecting victim, is equally ignorant, if not positively criminal. I dislike to arouse resentment on part of my friends, but I know I'm exactly right about this matter. Now for an anti-spitters' club in the new year 1929.

Mr. C. F. Redlich, the successful expert says:
The "Perfect Retention Shields" hold the rupture perfectly, no matter what position the body assumes or how heavy a weight you lift. They give instant relief, contract the opening in a remarkably short time and strengthen the weak tissues (the real cause of rupture) so that they frequently recover their previous natural retaining power, needing no further outside support. Stomach trouble, backache and constipation often caused by Rupture promptly disappear.

Truly remarkable and prompt results have been obtained not only with recent and not fully developed ruptures but also with old, long neglected ones.

Ingenious, recently perfected devices are now holding ruptures firmly which heretofore never had been retained.

No elastic belts nor filthy legstraps are used.

I guarantee to hold the rupture and also the durability of my absolutely sweat and moisture proof, sanitary appliances.

75 percent of ruptured children recover completely through expert mechanical treatment according to statistics.

Do not waste your money on widely advertised mail order contraptions. You cannot fit yourself.
