Sunday schools of this state will contribute only ten cents, instead of raising $25,000 a sum of more than $34,000 would be raised. Many of the schools west of Asheville have set as a goal, one dollar per class in Sunday school. A. V. Washburn of Sylva who is Field Worker for the section of the state, states that he expects many more schools will adopt this as a goal.

The programs have already been mailed out to the pastors and superintendents. If any have failed to get one, they may be had by writing Perry Morgan, Recorder Bldg., Raleigh, or A. V. Washburn, Sylva.

Brummit Attacks Hoover Prosperity

WEEK BY WEEK

(By DAN TOMPKINS)

The Nye Committee from the United States Senate, to investigate rumors of irregularities, large expenditures of slush funds from without the State, and wholesale corruption in connection with the Democratic primary in June, has come, held hearings in Raleigh and Asheville, and has gone. The committee, composed of two Republicans and one Democrat, stated that there was absolutely nothing to the charges that large amounts of outside money was expended, and that the refreshing nature of the campaign in this State, as compared with those in other states that had been investigated, was noticeable. Thus the committee, instead of doing injury to the Democratic party in North Carolina, as had been hoped by those invisible forces that set Dame Rumor to work, has given the party a clean slate, and complimented it upon the fairness of the election. It is easy to start rumors; but there is not always basis in fact for them.

Mr. Dwight W. Morrow, Republican-Wet candidate for the Senate, in New Jersey, states that he is not and will not be a candidate for the presidency. Perhaps that's the reason he was so frank in giving his opinion on prohibition.

The president of Cuba has forbidden public gatherings until after the election. That may prevent campaign disturbances down there, but it won't insure a fair election.

Brazil is still in the throes of revolution, and, according to newspaper reports, is probably in for a long siege of civil war. The states that are in rebellion are said to have a large army, and plenty of munitions, though with little training.

The Society for the Advancement of Colored People, and other Negroes from all over Ohio, held two meetings in the Ogden theatre in Cleveland, and launched a movement to try to defeat Senator McCulloch for reelection, because the senator voted for confirmation of John J. Parker for supreme court justice. Time somebody called that impudent society's hand, and called it hard.

LITTLE GIRL DIES

Dolly Virginia, four year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Cotter, of Cullowhee, died at the Community Hospital here on last Wednesday morning, after an illness of a complication of diseases.

Funeral services for the little girl were held at the Methodist church at Cullowhee on Thursday, and were conducted by the pastor of the church, Rev. M. Q. Tuttle, and Rev. W. C. Reed. Interment was in the Brown cemetery.

LIVE AT HOME BODY IS FORMED

With the election of Dr. H. T. Hunter as president, with authority to appoint a committee to work out plans for a permanent Live-at-Home organization for Western North Carolina, the meeting, held at Western Carolina Teachers College, and composed of leading men from all businesses and professions in Western North Carolina came to a close, Tuesday, after having been in session for two days.

Mr. George Ross, superintendent of the State-owned farms, brought greetings from the Governor, and outlined the program from his viewpoint. Attorney General Dennis G. Brummit addressed the meeting, and cited North Carolina progress for the past 75 years.

Mr. Bonner Ray, Waynesville merchant, gave his views as a merchant, on cooperation between merchants, farmers, manufacturers and jobbers, in placing North Carolina products on North Carolina markets.

Mr. C. W. Teague, Macon county master farmer, led a discussion into which merchants, farmers and others entered.

At the dinner, Tuesday evening, Mrs. E. L. McKee discussed the live at home idea from the standpoint of the homemakers—the mothers.

The live-at-home dinner was prepared entirely of North Carolina products, most of which were raised in Jackson county.

On Tuesday morning the Training School gave a program which put before the meeting the Western North Carolina products and their value. After another round table discussion, President J. E. Calfee of Asheville Normal School delivered an address on "The Relation of the Live At Home Idea to Education." He stated that our educational system should teach us the art of how to live at home.

The key note of the conference was that our North Carolina Industries are not cultivating the North Carolina market. We are paying freight and commissions on merchandise and farm products brought from other sections of the country, when we can get the same things of better quality at home, for less money.

Another matter that was stressed is that the farmers have got to learn to meet competition with quality products, properly graded and prepared for the market.

day. I just wonder how many boys toiling their way through college would have been helped by getting work in the postoffice. From the doors of how many homes—homes of Republican and Democratic widows—would $5 a day for being bailiff, have driven the wolf away?

"Still, that isn't all. Brownlow Jackson has a brother, Bert. Bert Jackson serves his country as bailiff and doorkeeper at $5 a day. The great Brownlow Jackson has a chief deputy marshal named J. M. Baley and that same postoffice ring sent J. M. Baley's wife out as a census taker when there were Republican women and widows begging for a chance to earn their bread. Brownlow Jackson had a debt of gratitude to pay Dan Hill, so he appointed Dan Hill's 13-year old son as a bailiff in the United States court of circuit appeals. And Dan Hill, to square accounts, appoints J. M. Baley's son an emergency employee in the postoffice at $125 a month. He did the

CRIMINAL COURT ENDS; FEW CASES

The criminal term of Jackson county superior court, with Judge Cameron McRae presiding, finished its work Monday afternoon, and the civil calendar was taken up.

Lon Deitz, convicted of an assault with a deadly weapon, upon Ralph Jones, was sentenced to serve 4 months on the Buncombe roads.

J. K. Privett and Hadley Brown, tried on a charge of manslaughter, in connection with the burning to death of Mrs. Brown, under an overturned automobile, in Canada township, a few weeks ago, were found not guilty by the jury. The state had sought to show that the two men, one the husband of the dead woman, had been drinking, or that Privett, the driver, had been drinking and that this was the cause of the death of the woman; but the jury took the other view of the matter, and the two men, whose homes are in Ninety-six, South Carolina, were acquitted.

Giles Wike, was charged with larceny of money from J. B. Coward. The jury could not agree, and the solicitor took a nol pros, following the mistrial.

John Gibson and Howard Gibson were tried on larceny charges. John, the older of the two boys drew a road sentence of 18 months, suspended for two years upon good behavior, capias to issue at any time. Howard is under sixteen years of age, and was ordered committed to Stonewall Jackson training school.

Jess McDonald, Sylva negro, charged with reckless driving and assault, in connection with an automobile accident on the streets of Sylva, when Mrs. Whit Davis was knocked down and injured by an automobile driven by McDonald, was found guilty on both charges, and sentenced to 6 months on the roads of Buncombe county.

Claude Martin was convicted of larceny and sentenced to 6 months on the roads.

Grover Taylor, the man who played wild west at Whittier, was sentenced to serve 6 months in jail.

A fine that had been taxed against Weaver Swayngin was ordered stricken out.

Fred Gates, who went on the stand last week, and admitted having had an interest in a still, was complimented by the court for having told the truth about it, which Judge McRae stated is a rare thing for liquor men. Judgment was suspended upon payment of the costs, and Gates given until the next term of the court to pay the costs. He was not required to give bond, but was released upon his own recognition.

A judgment absolute was entered against Mary Louise Booth, in the sum of $450.00.

same thing for a son of W.A. West, another of Brownlow Jackson's deputy marshals.

"Then, in an effort to make certain that they're going to keep their strangle hold on that teat which is bloating them. Brownlow Jackson and his postoffice ring put Jim Padgett, one of his deputy marshals, in the field to be sheriff of Buncombe county, and J. M. Worley, another of his deputies in the field for sheriff of Jackson county.

Mrs. Anna E. Keyser, executive assistant to the Federal Chief Inspector of ships and boilers, knows ship construction from stern to stern. The model steamship boiler on the table is her mascot.
