

The Jackson County Journal

Published by
C. C. Broughton, Prop.
State Library

$1.50 Year in Advance in Town

SYLVA, NORTH CAROLINA, THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 29 1932

$2.00 Year in Advance Outside The County.

YOUTH IS KILLED; ANOTHER HELD IN JAIL WITHOUT BOND

Earl Fore, 15, died in the Community hospital in Sylva, early Saturday night, of gun-shot wounds and fractures of the skull. He is being held in jail without bond to await action of the grand jury next month, following a grand jury hearing, in which the jury found that Fore, on the night of the shooting, was engaged in a game of pool with his friends at East LaPorte, Saturday afternoon.

Fore was shot twice, it is said, one bullet taking effect in his right leg foot, and hand, and the other tearing away his chin, tongue, tonsils and the entire lower part of his face.

A coroner's jury found that Fore came to his death from gun-shot wounds inflicted by Jones, but could not agree that the shooting was accidental, and ordered that the body be held for autopsy by the grand jury.

Young Fore walked, after being shot, from the hill above the Wilson house, to the river and across the swinging bridge, into Highway 106 where he was picked up and brought to the hospital in Sylva. Hospital authorities state that he said that the boys shot him, but that he believed that the shooting was accidental.

Evidence presented to the grand jury tended to show that shot was fired in his hand, leg, and foot, and that the other had torn away the lower part of his face. The gun carried by Fore had not been fired, it is stated; and Jones is reported to have told the coroner's jury that he had shot two times the single-barreled gun, which he was carrying; but stated that it would have been impossible for the first shot he fired to have struck his companion, and that after that he loaded his gun and fired again, just as Fore, unexpectedly stepped in front of him.

Jones told officers that he did not shoot Fore; but that he had shot him off accidentally.

The funeral of young Fore was conducted at Sugar Fork Baptist church in Macon county, Sunday afternoon by Rev. Billy Potts, of Highlands, and Rev. D. Woolum, of East LaPorte.

Earl Fore was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Horace Fore, of East LaPorte; while young Jones is a son of Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Jones, also of East LaPorte.

OLD FOLKS DAY AT COWARTS TO BE HELD SUNDAY WEEK

Cowarts, Sept. 26.—This community annual Old Folks' Day will be held Sunday, Oct. 9, at the John's Creek Methodist church. The Jackson County public, especially old people, are extended a cordial invitation to attend by the committee on arrangements. Old people attending are urged to bring their Old Christian Bibles and song books with them.

The Rev. S. H. Hilliard of Sylva, senior pastor of the Methodist church here, will fill the pulpit at 11 A. M. Other features are on the morning program.

The afternoon program will begin at 2:30 o'clock with an hour of singing by the old people from the Old Christian hymn song books. At 3:30 the Rev. W. C. Reed, Baptist minister and principal of Sylva High School, will deliver an address. Following the address there will be singing by the old people and a series of short talks by members of the congregation.

The annual Old Folks' Day here is alternated between the Methodist and Baptist churches. Last year it was held in November at the Baptist church. A joint committee from the two churches is in charge of arrangements.

SMALL CHILD DIES

A small child of Mr. and Mrs. Landon Cato was buried at the New South Baptist church last Sunday. The child was between four and five years of age, and had been sick for several days with scarlet fever and complications. The home had been quarantined since the child became ill.

The funeral services were conducted by Rev. Nelson Deitz.

TODAY and TOMORROW

(By Frank Parker Stockbridge)

Longevity . . . of newspapers

For 50,000 consecutive days, exclusive of Sundays, the London Morning Post has never failed to appear since it was founded in 1772. This is the oldest daily newspaper in the world that has been a daily since it was founded. There are one or two newspapers in America which are older, but they were weeklies for many years before they became dailies.

I know of nothing that is harder to kill than a newspaper. I have had occasion to make a list of American newspapers more than one hundred years old and was amazed to find that there are nearly two hundred of them. That is probably more survivors than there are in any other line of business. Without exact figures at hand, I venture the guess that there are nowhere near two hundred businesses or industries in the United States that have survived a century of uninterrupted activity.

Scotch . . . buy our bonds

I dined the other night with the European representative of an important American financial institution, over here on a vacation. He told me that it was the canny Scotchmen who are responsible for the present activity in the bond and stock market in the United States.

Edinburgh is the headquarters of a large number of British investment trusts. Along in the early part of the summer the managers of these trusts, looking for sound investments, observed that conditions seemed to be improving in the United States, that there was no longer any fear of our monetary stability, that some commodity prices were beginning to rise and that broad plans for the rehabilitation of the financial situation were beginning to operate.

At the same time they noted that American securities, particularly bonds, were selling at ridiculously low prices, so they began to buy them. They bought, and they kept on buying, and in a month or so their buying began to affect the Wall Street securities market and American investors began to follow their example.

So my friend told me.

Power . . . inside the earth

Some day we will get a large part of our heat and power without using any fuel at all. In Italy more than 12,000 kilowatts of energy are generated by the heat obtained by drilling holes into volcanic mountains. In Sonoma, California, the steam from geysers is utilized to produce almost as much energy.

The late Sir Herbert Parsons, inventor of the steam turbine, worked out a plan for boring a hole forty miles or more into the hot interior of the earth and proved to the satisfaction of many engineers that its cost would be more than repaid by the continuous supply of heat and power which would thus be obtained.

We haven't as yet begun to more than scratch the surface of this old earth's possible sources of wealth.

Pigeons . . . extinct passengers

Every little while some sportsman or naturalist reports having seen a live passenger pigeon. On investigation, however, it always turns out that the bird was a mourning dove, which is a smaller bird.

One hundred years ago, in 1832 Alexander Wilson, a famous naturalist, saw at Frankfort, Kentucky, a flock of passenger pigeons a mile wide and so long that it took four hours to cross the town, flying at the rate of a mile a minute. He estimated that there were more than two million birds in this one flock. A hundred years earlier an observer in Pennsylvania reported that the passenger pigeons alighted in such numbers on trees as to break the branches off.

The last known individual passenger pigeon died in the Cincinnati Zoological Park in 1914. The extinction of this bird is supposed to be due to their wholesale slaughter by hunters. In 1879 passenger pigeons sold at retail in the Chicago market for sixty cents a dozen and a boy with a shotgun could make $10 a day by killing them, even at that price.

This is only one of the forms of native wild life which, like the buffalo, have utterly vanished from the

HOOVER or ROOSEVELT . . . Which?

One of these two candidates is going to be president of the United States for the next four years. Which one will it be? No man knows, but the nation-wide straw vote by subscribers to weekly newspapers throughout the country will show pre-election sentiment in small town and rural America. This newspaper is conducting a straw vote in this territory. Clip the straw-vote ballot in this issue, vote for your favorite and send it to this newspaper. It is a secret ballot and incurs no obligation.

This Paper Cooperating With Other Weeklies Of Nation In Straw Vote

WESTERN CAROLINA IN DOUBLE VICTORY SATURDAY

Coach C. C. Poindeexter's Western Carolina Teachers College football team opened the 1932 season Saturday with a double victory on the new athletic field. In the first game of the twin attraction, the light-weights on the squad trounced Franklin High School 13 to 0. In the other game a team of Cherokee-Sylva All-stars was defeated 14 to 0. Both games were practice affairs and Coach Poindeexter used his "elite squad" of 46 players in the two games.

Due to a wet field and short practice period, the Western Carolina Teams did not do any sensational playing, but showed signs of developing into a snappy, hard charging aggregation with a little more practice and experience.

Saturday Coach Poindeexter and his players will go to Demorest, Ga., to meet the strong Piedmont College team. This game is the opening of the official schedule and will be a real test for Western Carolina.

The Piedmont game will be of special interest to fans of Sylva, due to the fact that Mack Higdon, one of the main cogs on the Cullowhee team, has a brother, Earl, playing on the Piedmont team. Both boys play in the line and it will be interesting to watch them battle it out Saturday.

The next home game for Western Carolina will be October 22 with Biltmore.

LOCAL BAPTIST PASTOR HAS RETURNED FROM VACATION

Rev. J. G. Murray will fill his pulpit at the Baptist church here next Sunday, at both morning and evening services, according to information received by The Journal, from Mr. Murray. At the morning service communion service will be held, the custom of the Sylva church being to observe the communion quarterly.

Rev. Mr. Murray, Mrs. Murray and the children have been away from Sylva during September, Mr. Murray having conducted a meeting in Yadkin county. Since that time they have been camping on the banks of the Pamlico river and visiting relatives at several points in the state. They expect to reach home Friday.

During Mr. Murray's absence the services have been held regularly at his church, the first Sunday Rev. W. C. Reed preaching at both services, the second Sunday Rev. T. F. Deitz filling the pulpit both morning and evening. Last Sunday Rev. P. L. Elliott, of Western Carolina Teachers College preached at the morning service, while the pulpit was filled Sunday evening by Dr. H. T. Hunter, president of the college.

American scene because of unchecked slaughter. Fortunately most states now have well enforced game laws to protect such wild creatures as we have left.

40 YEARS AGO

Tuckaseige Democrat, Sept. 28, 1892

Mrs. J. L. Potts is visiting friends in Asheville.

Thad C. Bryson left Tuesday for Richmond with a car load of cattle.

We had the pleasure of a visit this morning from Hon. R. D. Gilmer of Waynesville.

Messrs. Koontz, Powell and Yount of the R. & D. R. R. spent a day or two here this week.

"Gov." Elias Carr, Mr. F. I. Osborne and Mr. D. L. Love gave our office a pleasant call yesterday morning.

Mr. J. S. Jarratt, of Greenville, S. C., came over to court yesterday, but the case he was interested in being postponed, he left for home today.

Mr. Thos. Bracken, of New York, and Messrs. McKenzie, of New Jersey reached here yesterday to attend court.

Among the legal fraternity attending court at Webster this week, we noticed C. C. Daniels, G. A. Jones, Fred Moore, Kope Elias and J. F. Ray of Franklin; Messrs. R. L. Leatherwood, N. Newby, and Fred Fisher, of Bryson City; Judge J. C. L. Guder, Messrs. G. S. and W. B. Ferguson, J. M. Moody, G. H. Snathers and R. D. Gilmer of Waynesville.

J. M. Moody, republican candidate for Lieut. Governor, A. M. Parker, third party, and R. L. Leatherwood, democratic candidate for the Senate, spoke yesterday.

Gen. Matt W. Ransom will address the people of Jackson county at Webster, on Thursday, the 20th day of October. This announcement will be received with unusual pleasure, especially by the old soldiers who followed him through the dark days of the war.

Western North Carolina Baptist Convention, D. B. Nelson, president, will meet in Hendersonville on Oct. 19.

The Sylva Democratic Club takes pleasure in announcing that Mr. J. M. Leach of Waynesville one of North Carolina's most gifted and eloquent young orators, has accepted the invitation to address the club, and will be here Sept. 30.

Elias Carr, the farmer candidate for Governor, talked plain, common sense democracy to a large crowd of people at the court house in Webster, Monday, a large majority of whom were farmers.

RAY BAILEY CASE NOW BEFORE SUPREME COURT

The supreme court of North Carolina heard the oral argument, on Tuesday, of the case in which the State of South Carolina is appealing from the decision of Judge Walter E. Moore, at Sylva, and is attempting to extradite Ray Bailey to Greenville county, to be tried on a charge of murder in connection with the slaying of Patrolman Hunt, in that city last spring.

Bailey was brought to C. J. Harris Community hospital, and entered under the name of Ray Keith. Here he lingered between life and death for several weeks, while a heavy guard remained at the hospital. When brought before Judge Moore, under a writ of habeas corpus, Bailey put up a strong alibi, to combat positive evidence from South Carolina officers, and Judge Moore ordered that he be discharged. The State of South Carolina immediately appealed to the Supreme Court of this State.

that the presidency will go to one of these two candidates at the November election. The names of the other candidates for the presidency are listed in alphabetical order.

Remember your favorite candidate is depending upon you to help show his strength in Jackson County. Clip the ballot, vote as you choose and send it to The Journal today.

DEMOCRATS STILL JUBILANT OVER THE MAINE ELECTION

Washington, D. C., September 28.—The principal question which is being asked in political circles is: "What does the result of the Maine election mean?" It is an old saying, "as Maine goes so goes the Union."

The Democrats are jubilant because they say that it means that Roosevelt will carry Maine and a lot of other Republican states. Republican managers are downhearted, but are trying their best to prove to themselves or to others that the Maine election means nothing of the sort.

The election of Governor in Maine has always been held in September, because by the time November comes around a good deal of the state is usually snowed in and it is difficult for the voters to get to the polls.

Maine elected a Democratic Governor and three Democratic Congressmen out of four at the election on September 12. Maine being the oldest prohibition state, having "gone dry" way back in the 1840's, a good many commentators interpret the Democratic success as meaning that the people of Maine have tired of prohibition. But in answer to that the Democrats point out that the only Republican Congressman elected was in the district which includes the city of Portland, the largest city in the state and that this particular Congressman happens to be a dry and if any part of Maine were to vote against prohibition, it would be expected to be its largest city.

Presidential elections are always complicated in many states by the local elections for Governor and other state officers. And it often happens that even when the elections are held on the same day, the candidates of one party for governor will be elected while the other party carries the state on the Presidential ticket. That happened in New York State in 1928, when Roosevelt, a Democrat, was elected Governor but Mr. Hoover carried the state for President.

Washington was greatly amused by the insistence of the Republican managers, who rushed to the White House as soon as the Maine results were known, that the President must get out and stump the country. But after thinking it over Mr. Hoover decided to adhere to his original program of making only two or three speeches during the campaign.

SEE NEED OF MUCH RELIEF WORK DURING THE WINTER

Washington, D. C. Sept. 28.—As Washington views the national situation, the United States is likely to face greater demands than ever during the coming winter, for help for those out of work. No matter how speedily business and industry may pick up, it will take not less than a year, and perhaps longer to get the wheels of prosperity turning fast enough to take care of everybody who had a job three years ago and who hasn't got one now.

Newton D. Baker, former secretary of War, has been appointed by the President to head the national unemployment relief movement. The organization of relief agencies on a larger and more effective scale than ever before is now under way under Mr. Baker's direction.

BISHOP HOLDS MEETING IN MACON COUNTY

A meeting just closed at Cartoogechaye, in Macon county, conducted by Rev. W. A. Bishop, resulted in 226 conversions and 121 additions to the church there. This is said to be a record for the State in the number of persons converted in a single meeting of a Baptist church.

MEETING AT EAST SYLVA

A meeting at East Sylva Baptist church has been drawing crowds so great that it has been impossible for all the people to get even standing room inside the church. There have been a large number of conversions and recommitments. Rev. Ben Cook has been doing the preaching.