

Local Happenings

Born to Mr. and Mrs. S. T. McManis, a daughter, Hattie Hilda.

Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Keener, who recently moved from Sylva to Glenville were here, Monday.

Mr. W. H. Rhodes, Jr., of Raleigh is here, having come up the first of the week, because of the illness of his mother, Mrs. W. H. Rhodes.

Miss Ruth and Jannita Moody, of Dalton, have been guests for the past several days of Miss Evelyn Moody.

The relatives of Dr. O. B. Van Epps, who was here for his funeral, were his brother, Mr. Arthur Van Epps and son, Franklin, from Meigs, Ohio, and his sister, Mrs. W. P. Wherry, of Omaha Nebraska.

The Parents' Association of Cullowhee will serve a luncheon to the teachers of the county at the county teachers' meeting to be held Saturday. The price of the luncheon will be 25 cents a plate. The proceeds will be used for carrying on the welfare work of the community.

The Cullowhee Community Club will hold its regular meeting Friday, October 21 at 3:30. Mr. Stillwell will talk on the coming election. Hostesses for the afternoon are Mrs. E. H. Brown, Miss Catherine Neal and Mrs. E. H. Stillwell.

ALLEN-BARRINGTON

Miss Ada Barrington, daughter of Mrs. E. E. Barrington, and Mr. L. P. Allen were married at the home of the bride, on Savannah Road Sunday evening in the presence of a few friends, Rev. J. Gray Murray pastor of the First Baptist church performing the ceremony.

Mrs. Allen, who is a registered nurse, having graduated from the Highsmith hospital in Fayetteville, has made a large circle of friends since coming to Sylva, several years ago.

Mr. Allen is a substantial citizen of Sylva having been identified with its business life in various ways. He now owns and operates the Allen Roller mills at Beta.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen, following a wedding trip, will reside here.

SHELTON TO SPEAK TO WOMEN

Mr. W. T. Shelton, of Waynesville will address the women of the Methodist Missionary Society, at the home of Mrs. E. L. McKee, next Wednesday afternoon. The women are studying "The Future in Indian Missions"; and Mr. Shelton was identified with work among the Indians in the Southwest for many years.

RED CROSS WANTS CLOTHES

Dr. W. P. McGuire, Jackson county treasurer of the American Red cross is making a call for all citizens to send discarded clothing that can be worn and turn it over to the Red Cross workers to be distributed to the needy. Dr. McGuire and his relief committee request that the people do not give money or articles of food or clothing direct to beggars; but that they be turned over to the organized relief workers, who will see that all worthy causes are relieved and that help is extended only to such as are worthy.

CORRECTION

The Journal last week, in its local news, stated that Miss Myrtice Dillard, a student nurse, of Brevard, was visiting Miss Alva Carden, Miss Dillard, a Jackson county girl, and a graduate of Sylva High school, is a graduate nurse and not a student nurse.

MRS. RHODES ILL

Friends at Mrs. W. H. Rhodes will regret that she is quite ill, having removed from the Community hospital, yesterday, to an Asheville hospital, where she is under the care of a specialist, prior to an operation, which will probably be performed tomorrow. Mr. Rhodes, who has been ill for several months, is somewhat improved.

FOWLER HAS OPERATION

Mr. S. R. Fowler, who underwent an operation for appendicitis at the local hospital, is getting along nicely, his friends will be gratified to learn.

SINGING AT TUCKASEEGEE

There will be an old time singing, in the "Christian Harmony" song book at Tuckaseege Baptist church on Sunday, October 30. The singing will begin promptly at 10 o'clock.

At 11:30 Rev. P. L. Elliott will preach. Dinner will be served on the grounds.

The period from 1:30 to 4 will be devoted to singing by the old folks. All former pastors of the church have been invited to attend the services; and everybody is invited to be present and join in the signing.

MISS WILMA MONTEITH WEDS

On Thursday afternoon, October 6, at the home of Rev. O. T. Owen of Walhalla, S. C., Miss Wilma Monteith became the bride of Mr. Bill Henson. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Monteith of Glenville. She is very popular among her friends and school mates. She is a senior of Glenville High School and is continuing her school work. Mr. Henson is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Henson of Norton. He is also popular among his friends. Mr. Henson is a talented painter. He takes a great interest in his community and home affairs.

Mr. and Mrs. Henson will make their home at Norton, at the present.

THE ROTARY WHEEL (By John Parris, Jr.)

The Rev. Arthur Flannagan, of Franklin, was guest speaker at the weekly meeting of the Sylva Rotary Club Tuesday evening. Mr. Flannagan gave a brief talk on the work of the Franklin Rotary Club. E. V. Vestal, of the Sylva Rotary Club, gave a very interesting talk on his visit to the State Fair in Raleigh last week.

There were fourteen members present. It looks as if some of those records we were working for are going out the other way. But as you know sometimes it is impossible to attend, so was the case in this instance.

Dr. H. T. Hunter was absent, so his place as president was filled by J. C. Allison, vicepresident of the Club.

Someone mentioned to me that Dr. Chapman had a fondness for strawberries. Is it true Dr. Chapman? Is it true? We do know one thing, and that is that you would like strawberries, too, if you had them over some of that good ice cream down at Jarrett Springs.

The Sylva Rotary Club is doing a great work in distributing pigs to the farm boys in the county. This is one of many of the fine works they are carrying on, and unless you are behind the scenes, doubtless you will never know how many things they are doing. But sooner or later it will all come to the front.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

by Charles E. Dunn

Problems of the Modern Home Lesson for Oct. 23, Ephesians 6:1-9 Golden Text: Joshua 24:15

The family is always changing. It is one of the most sensitive and fluid of our institutions. Today, under the impact of formidable forces, it shows unmistakable signs of strain. Some of the functions it formerly performed have been taken from it. New patterns of thinking and action have arisen to threaten its stability.

Yet we must not be alarmed. Anything that is really human cannot be crushed. Surely the family is the most personal of all institutions, closer than any other to human nature. This means that while outside influences can loom large in the nurture of children, there are certain functions which the home, as always, will continue to fulfill.

One of these is fellowship. The child craves companionship. He thrives on affection. Here the home affords him his best opportunity. There he is thrown into constant and intimate association with parent, brother, or sister.

Another function of the home is guidance. No one needs direction more than the child. He is helpless, inexperienced, woefully ignorant. He is also excessively curious, proposing unanswerable questions. Now no guide can possibly be more influential in the nurture of a child than a wise parent.

Then, too, a good home furnishes a child with the best possible type of stimulation. We live in a day of over-stimulation. Children are early immersed in a bath of high-powered excitement. But the stimulus of the talking picture, the loud speaker, the speeding motor car, powerful as it is, is clearly secondary to that of the family circle, where life unconsciously moulds life.

A fourth function the home promotes is interpretation. Every day the child has new experiences which he is eager to share with the other members of the family group. Who can unfold their meaning better than a discerning and sympathetic mother? Bunyan, in "Pilgrim's Progress," introduces, the house of the Interpreter.

If all of these duties are reverently fulfilled, in the fear of God, and the spirit of Jesus, then the program Paul advances in our lesson of rearing children "in the nurture and admonition of the Lord" will be realized.

PRESIDENTIAL NOMINEES ARE LOVERS OF BOOKS

Washington, D. C., Oct. 19.—When President Hoover moved into the White House somebody started the report that there were no books in the Presidential mansion. A committee of book publishers set about repairing this deficiency, and a library of about five hundred volumes, mainly of the English classics, was formally presented to the United States for the President's use.

It so happened that this effort was unnecessary, because the Library of Congress sees to it that a selection of the latest books, as well as any special books which the President may wish to consult, are always on the shelves of the White House Library.

Both Bookish

Whichever way the election goes next month, the next President will be a booklover. Mr. Hoover is not only a great reader but is also a writer of books. His writings have been on the subject of his life work, mining engineering. The best known of them is his translation, with the assistance of Mrs. Hoover, of the earliest known book on mining. It is called "De Re Metallica," and was printed in Latin in the 16th century by a German named Georg Agricola.

Mr. Hoover once figured out that the time he had spent on ships, in the course of his professional travels, would amount to a year and a quarter. On his Voyages he has always taken a trunkful of books with him, and there are always books on the stand at the head of his bed.

Governor Roosevelt grew up surrounded by books. He still lives in the house in which he was born the old stone Roosevelt home in Hyde Park, New York, which stands on the brow of a hill high above the Hudson River. The south wing on the mansion is the library, a magnificent room nearly 75 feet long and two full stories high, and all the walls are lined to the ceiling with bookcases filled with valuable volumes, many of which have been in the Roosevelt family since the 1700's. Governor Roosevelt could not fail to be influenced from boyhood by this easy access to world's great literature.

It is a rare thing in America to find a man living for fifty years in one house; it is still rarer for a man to live to be fifty in the house in which he was born.

FOR RENT—Six-room house one-fourth mile Cullowhee school. Eric Coward, Cowarts, N. C.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our thanks to our many friends for the kindness and sympathy shown us during the death and burial of our husband and father, and for the beautiful floral offerings.

Mrs. Van Epp, Richard and Corwin Van Epp and Mrs. J. B. Law.

"Outstanding in 1932"

The honor and title of being "The outstanding woman in America for 1932" was awarded Amelia Earhart Putnam, in civic ceremonies at Philadelphia. Her solo-flight across the Atlantic, the first woman, was the feat which won for her.

Fifty and Fit

A MAN is as old—or as young—as his organs.

At fifty, you can be in your prime.

Why go along with "fairly good health" when you might be enjoying vigor you haven't felt for years?

There's a simple little thing anyone can do to keep the vital organs stimulated, and feel fit all the time. People don't realize how sluggish they've grown until they've tried it. The stimulant that will stir your system to new life is Dr. Caldwell's syrup pepsin. It will make a most amazing difference in many ways.

This famous doctor's prescription is a delicious syrup made with fresh herbs, active senna, and pure pepsin. It starts its good work with the first spoonful. That's all you need to drive away the dullness and headache of a bilious spell, and rid the system of that slow poison that saps your strength. It's better than a tonic for tired bowels, and unlike habit-forming laxatives you can take it freely or give it to any child. And it isn't expensive.

Get some syrup pepsin today, and take a little tonight. Don't wait until you're sick to give your system this wonderful help. You can avoid those spells of biliousness or constipation. A spoonful every now and then is better than constant worry about the condition of your bowels, or fear of auto-intoxication as you grow older. Dr. Caldwell's syrup pepsin protects the system. All druggists keep this preparation.
