MORE 'ARMIES' ARE EXPECTED TO ENTER WASHINGTON SOON

Washington, D. C., Nov. 16—If half of the "armies" that are planning to march on Washington next month come through in half of the strength which they anticipate, there will be even room for them to camp on the public parks and grounds, from present indications.

The bonus army of last spring, with its numbers estimated at around 5,000 ex-service men and others, was just an incident compared with what Washington is looking forward to, with a few occasional shudders, as soon as Congress meets again.

For one thing, there is a pretty reasonable certainty that there will be another array of "bonus marchers." It may not be as large a crowd as that which invaded Washington to demand immediate payment of the bonus last spring, but it probably will be better disciplined and under more responsible leadership. Beyond question, a large percentage of the veterans of the World War, with the backing of the American Legion behind them, will make an insistent demand to be heard on behalf of the immediate payment in full of their adjusted compensation certificates.

Some members of Congress and of the Administration are worried about the possibilities of another and more serious clash between the bonus marchers in December and the local police. It is probable, however, that ways will be found to avert any physical encounters.

More Congressmen are worried about another army which promises to invade the Capitol, an army of women organized as the "women's committee for education against alcohol." One of their leaders coined a name for them. She calls them "The Forgotten Women of 1932." They are the uncompromising Drys, and they claim to represent millions upon millions of American women who will protest to the last breath against any modification of the Volstead Act or the slightest relaxation of prohibition enforcement. Nobody knows how many of them are going to swoop down on Washington, but present indications are that there will be plenty. Their purpose is to make things extremely unpleasant for members of Congress who vote, or have announced their intention to vote, for the modification of the Volstead Act. And your average Congressman is a lot more afraid of the women's votes in his home district than he is of all the men voters.

It looks as if these "Forgotten Women of 1932" would have plenty to protest against, for probably half of the members of Congress who are coming back in December will come with bills in their pockets already prepared for introduction, to legalize for present beer, or beer of some other alcoholic percentage.

On top of those two "armies" there is also to be a Farmer's Congress which is expected to bring to the national capital representatives of, and spokesmen for, the entire farming population of the United States. This is being very thoroughly and carefully organized in the expectation that it will be perhaps the most representative, as well as the largest delegation in the interests of agriculture that has ever appeared in Washington. So far the demands to be made by the farmers have not been formulated. That is to wait until they meet in Washington. But there is no reason to doubt that they will make demands, and plenty of them, and that their leaders will be prepared to camp on the Capitol steps, if necessary, to make their demands heard by the national Legislature.

TODAY and TOMORROW

(By Frank Parker Stockbridge)

Roads . . . townless highways

I drove through a New England village a few weeks ago and was horrified to see men with axes at work cutting down the magnificent elm trees which had made the town's principal street one of the most beautiful places in America. "Why, we have to widen the road on account of automobile traffic," explained the postmaster, when I stopped.

They were destroying the chief attraction which, for a hundred years, has drawn thousands to their village every summer, in order to make a highway to enable automobiles to dash through the town at high speed without stopping.

I crossed over into New York State and came South on one of the finest roads I have ever seen, sixty feet wide and with no speed limit, but instead of going through the middle of towns and villages this great road had been cut across open country.

This idea of the "townless highway" for high speed through traffic is growing, but I am afraid it is not growing fast enough to save a good many communities their beauty.

Unemployed . . . a viewpoint

I talked the other day with one of the active heads of the unemployment relief work in New York.

"This is the last winter I will have any part in this work," he said. "Too many men who are able to work are getting the habit of getting money without working. In the first year of the depression almost every man who applied for relief wanted to know if we couldn't give him some work to do. Last year not more than half of the applicants made any such suggestion. This winter most of them are demanding money as if they had a right to it, and some of them, for whom we have been able to provide opportunities to work, have indignantly rejected the idea.

Superstition . . . and blame

Nothing is more natural than to blame everything bad upon the President. The great mass of humanity is still very simple and child-minded. The notion that one man can and does control the destinies of an entire nation, that he holds in his hands the powers of good and evil, is a survival in the race mind of the beliefs of the most human tribes.

When disaster occurred and its cause was not clearly apparent, "somebody" must have caused it. If there wasn't a tribal chief or a medicine man handy on which to blame it, then primitive man blamed it upon some mythical "old man of the mountain," and these mythical rulers over human destiny in time became invisible deities, to be worshipped with fear and propitiated with gifts.

We regard ourselves as more intelligent than the Indians, but we still look upon the President as the "Great White Father at Washington." Every man who has ever been President has learned that his actual responsibilities were far easier to bear than the things for which he was held responsible, but which were entirely outside of his authority.

MRS. L. D. HALL PASSES

Mrs. Lillian Hall, wife of L. D. Hall, died at her home on Savannah on last Thursday morning, after an illness of about two weeks. She is survived by her husband, two sons, two daughters, and a large number of grandchildren.

The funeral was conducted by her pastor, Rev. T. F. Deitz.

Mrs. Hall was much beloved in her community. The number of friends who ministered to her during her sickness, and the large attendance at the funeral, with the profusion of flowers which covered her grave, attesting to the esteem in which she was held.

GRAVEL CANEY FORK ROADS

The State highway forces are continuing to put gravel on the Caney Fork roads. Gravel has been applied from East Laporte to Mr. R. S. Green's. Mr. John Wilson of Sylva, who is in charge of the work states that it is his intention to gravel the Moses Creek road after he has finished work on the Caney Fork road.

The gravel for the work is being taken from Mr. Dillard Hooper's farm. It is reported that Mr. Hooper is planning to build a fish pond in the place from which the gravel is being taken.

Every County Gives Majority To Weaver

Zebulon Weaver was re-elected to Congress from this district, over Crawford James, of Marion, by a majority of 25,546, by far the greatest majority ever given a candidate for congress in this district. Not only that, but for the first time in history the counties were unanimous in their decisions, and every county in the district gave Mr. Weaver a majority.

The first time that Mr. Weaver represented this district in congress, he was elected by a majority of 9. Here are the official returns:

County	James	Weaver
Buncombe	3,334	18,777

WESTERN CAROLINA TEAMS DIVIDE DOUBLE CONTEST

The Western Carolina Catamounts divided honors in a twin Armistice Day grid attraction with Sylva High and Boiling Springs College. The Junior Catamounts defeated Sylva High 8 to 7 in a hotly contested game and the Varsity Catamounts dropped their game before the deadly passing attack of Boiling Springs. Carroll Miller opened the fireworks for Western Carolina with a sensational return of a punt. He was aided by beautiful interference. Miller scored the opening touchdown a few plays later on a pass from Simpson. Simpson made the extra point by a place-kick. Both games were interesting and enjoyed by the large crowd of spectators that attended. The games were sponsored by the Sylva High School Athletic Association and all stores in Sylva closed. The games were played on Allison Field.

Coach Poindexter has been working his Catamounts hard this week to get them in the best possible condition for the game with Mars Hill College at Asheville Saturday. This is regarded as one of the most important games on the schedule and everyone is anxious to bring back victory. This game will mark the first appearance of the Western Carolina team in Asheville and Coach Poindexter and his boys are anxious to make a good showing. Mars Hill defeated Western Carolina last year by a one-sided score and the Catamounts are out to avenge this defeat.

The season will close November 26 with the Weaver game at Asheville. This is regarded as the big game on the schedule due to the fact that Coach Poindexter coached Weaver last year and has some of last year's Weaver players on his Catamount team this year.

Democratic Majority In County Goes Over 1500; Breaks Previous Records

MAJORITIES LARGEST EVER RECORDED IN THIS COUNTY

Democratic majorities in Jackson county were at high tide, in the election, on last Tuesday, and ranged from 1335 to 1558.

President-elect Roosevelt received the greatest majority in the county, that of 1558. Every man on the county ticket was swept into office, by the largest majorities ever recorded in the county, though the total vote was approximately the same as that east two years ago.

Ehringhaus for Governor received a majority of 1501. Bob Reynolds' majority for the short term was 1414, and for the long term was 1417.

Zeb Weaver for congress received a majority of 1476 in the county. Roy Francis, the State Senator-elect to succeed Mrs. E. L. McKee, carried the county by 1480. Dan Tompkins, Representative-elect defeated R. F. Jarrett by a majority of 1485. J. D. Cowan, county commissioner of finance led the ticket in the county by a majority of 1526 over Cyrus Nicholson. V. L. Cope defeated W. Oscar Parker by a majority of 1513 and was elected to succeed himself as register of deeds. Sheriff Maney's majority over T. E. Reed was 1336. Lyman Stewart's majority over John A. Parker for surveyor was 1462. W. T. Turpin carried a majority of 1335 over Calvin Wilson. The vote for county commissioners, in which majorities cannot be figured, appear in the tabulated vote.

The new county officers will take their posts on December 5. Green's Creek was the only township in the county that stood up with anywhere near its usual Republican majority. Sylva township, with the exception of two offices, reversed its Republican stand of many years, and turned up in the Democratic column. The North ward gave all Republican candidates majorities; but, with two exceptions, the South Ward had sufficient Democratic strength to overcome it, and give the township to the Democrats. Onalla changed from Republican to Democratic, as did River, East Laporte, Willits, and Caney Fork. Cashiers Valley, Hamburg, Mountain, Cullowhee, Webster, Savannah, Addie, Balsam and Dillsboro increased their Democratic majorities while the Republican majorities were materially reduced in Canada, Barker's Creek, and the North Ward in Sylva.

The indicated Electoral vote by States is as follows: Roosevelt: Alabama 11; Arizona 3; Arkansas 9; California 22; Colorado 6; Florida 7; Georgia 12; Idaho 4; Illinois 29; Indiana 14; Iowa 11; Kansas 9; Kentucky 11; Louisiana 10; Maryland 8; Massachusetts 17; Michigan 19; Minnesota 11; Mississippi 9; Missouri 15; Montana 4; Nebraska 7; Nevada 3; New Jersey 16; New Mexico 3; New York 47; North Carolina 13; North Dakota 4; Ohio 26; Oklahoma 11; Oregon 5; Rhode Island 4; South Carolina 8; South Dakota 4; Tennessee 11; Texas 23; Utah 4; Virginia 11; Washington 8; West Virginia 8; Wisconsin 12; Wyoming 3; Total 472.

Hoover: Connecticut 8; Delaware 3; Maine 5; New Hampshire 4; Pennsylvania 36; Vermont 3; Total 59.

WHITTIER GOES DEMOCRATIC
The township of Whittier, in Swain county, just across the river from Jackson went Democratic in Tuesday's election, for the first time in forty years.

36 VOTES FOR SOCIALISTS HERE

Norman Thomas, Socialist candidate for president received 33 votes in Jackson county, in the election last Tuesday, when the Socialist electors appeared on the ticket for the first time in the history of the State. The Socialist vote in county was divided thus: COW: East Laporte 13; North Sylva 5; Topcoats 5; Caney Fork 3; Willits 1; Barker's Creek 3; Total 36.

ROOSEVELT RECEIVES 472 ELECTORAL VOTES

The election of Franklin D. Roosevelt as president of the United States was the most nearly unanimous since Monroe was elected for his second term without opposition, during the era of good feeling. Roosevelt carried forty-one of the forty-eight states. He received 472 electoral votes to 59 for President Hoover. Roosevelt carried every state in the South, every border State, and every State west of the Alleghenies. The States that stuck to the Republican faith were Pennsylvania, with 36 votes, Connecticut with 8, Delaware with 3, New Hampshire with 4, Vermont with 3, and Maine with 5. In Pennsylvania, the usual tremendous Republican majority was cut to a little more than 100,000. In Connecticut, Delaware and New Hampshire the majorities were reduced almost to the vanishing point.

With the Roosevelt landslide went the governorships, senators, congressmen, and local tickets. The Democratic majority in the House will be over 200, while the Democrats are sure of 56 members of the Senate, which gives them certain control of that body until 1936, and perhaps until 1938. The governors of 38 of the 48 States are now Democrats.

The indicated Electoral vote by States is as follows:

Roosevelt: Alabama 11; Arizona 3; Arkansas 9; California 22; Colorado 6; Florida 7; Georgia 12; Idaho 4; Illinois 29; Indiana 14; Iowa 11; Kansas 9; Kentucky 11; Louisiana 10; Maryland 8; Massachusetts 17; Michigan 19; Minnesota 11; Mississippi 9; Missouri 15; Montana 4; Nebraska 7; Nevada 3; New Jersey 16; New Mexico 3; New York 47; North Carolina 13; North Dakota 4; Ohio 26; Oklahoma 11; Oregon 5; Rhode Island 4; South Carolina 8; South Dakota 4; Tennessee 11; Texas 23; Utah 4; Virginia 11; Washington 8; West Virginia 8; Wisconsin 12; Wyoming 3; Total 472.

Hoover: Connecticut 8; Delaware 3; Maine 5; New Hampshire 4; Pennsylvania 36; Vermont 3; Total 59.
