It is worth the money to see John No. ton, the new Sergeant-at-Arms of the Senate, do his stuff.

Our idea is that a Governor of a State should largely exercise the same functions as a governor of a machine.

The only word that Raleigh has been able to find in the dictionar; is Remony, spelled with a big E.

It would soom pathetic that Calvin Coolidge died in solitude, were it not for the fact that Mr. Coolidge was a lover of solitude and was most happy when alone.

A reorganization of the State gov ernment may result in discarding the phrase "reins of Government" and substituting therefor "The steering wheel of government."

We still insist that, with all its limitations, the climate West of the Balsams is the best in all North Carolina, which, along with California, lays claim to a monopoly on elimnte.

It cost North Carolina $600 to inaugurate the new Governor. If he continues in the course that he has started, it will be worth many times that to the State.

The headliners insist that the legislative committee is to study the State's finances. Our observation would be that it is the lack of fi-nances that is to be studied.

The mountains greet and salute the new Governor from the Aibemarle.

That was a powerful address of Governor Ehringhaus. It showed much thought, thorough conversance with the state of the State, and was forcefully and pleasingly delivered. North Carolina can feel safe with the leadership of this, the first Governor from the Albemarle, eradle of English civilization in America.

Some of these days Japan, if she persists in her present course, will come to her senses, some fine worning and find that she has gotten what she has been asking for during thes past two years or more. No man of nation can continuously court trosble without finally finding it. A man's neighbors will bear with him patiently, sometimes, for long per icds. The world is in no mood for fighting; but Japan cannot continue to sow the teeth of the dragon with out reaping a harvest of sorrow. Th military leaders of Japan might, with profit, take a look at the Germany of today.

A TEST OF GENIUS

THE shortest verse in the New Testament is "Jesus wept." That I tragic note in his story the Gospel record has carefully preserved. How we wish it might also have told us what occurred on the night after the chronic old grumbler was healed at the river.

Did Jesus stop suddenly in the middle of the supper, and set down his cup, while a broad smile spread across his wonderful face? If he did the disciples were probably puzzled-they were so often puzzled-but surely we have the reverent right to guess what was in his mind, as he pictured the home-coming of that cured old man. On that evening surely Jesus must have laughed. Some one has said that genius is the ability to become a boy again at will. Lincoln had that type of genius. Around his table in Washington sat the members of his Cabinet silenced by their overwhelming sense of responsibility. It was one of the most momentous meetings in our history. To their amazement instead of adderssing himself directly to the business in hand, Lincoln picked up a volume and began to read aloud a delightful chapter of nonsense from Artemus Ward. Frequent chuckles interrupted the reading, but they came only from the President. The Secretaries were too shocked for expression! Humor at such an hour-it was well nigh sacrilegious! Heedless of their protesting looks, Lincoln finished the chapter, closed the book and scanned their gloomy faces with a sigh.

"Gentlemen, why don't you laugh?" he exclaimed. "With the fearful strain that is upon me night and day, if I did not laugh I should die; and you need this medicine as much as I."

With that remark he turned to his tall hat which was on the table and drew forth what Secretary Stanton described as a "little white paper."

The "little white paper" was the Emancipation Proclamation. Stanton could hardly restrain his impulse to walk out of the room. No one of his Cabinet really understood Lincoln. He was constantly scandalizing them by his calm disregard of convention, and his seemingly prodigal waste of time. The friends and advisers of Jesus were similarly shocked. How could any one with such important business allow himself to be so casually interrupted to heal a self-pitying old man at the river! One of the surest marks of greatness, of course, is accessibility and the appearance of having an unstinted allowance of time. "Extreme busyness is a symptom of deficient vitality," says Stevenson, The disciples were extremely busy. Judas most of all. He was the treasurer of the group, harassed because expenses ran high and there was no certainty of tomorrow's income. Jesus brushed away such petty worries with

"Consider the lilies of the field," he exclaimed, "they toil not neither do they spin, yet Solomon in all his glory was not arraved like one of these.
