

NEW SCHOOLS TO BE ESTABLISHED AS RELIEF MEASURE

With the cooperation of the Federal Government, an employment relief measure is proposed to give unemployed, independent, needy teachers in this county, by establishing new schools for the illiterate, to employ teachers who are out of work. It is promised that these schools will be operated for periods of three to six months, such as during the winter months, and in particular places of the county. The plan is to be paid for by the Federal Government through the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

The County Relief Council, through the influence of its executive committee, has secured the cooperation of the State Department of Education, and is endeavoring to give unemployed teachers a chance to qualify themselves for the winter months to secure the service of the State Department of Education. J. M. Day, Director of Bureau of Community Schools, has been associated with the project since its inception. The past twelve years, the State Department of Education has been instrumental in this course at the Normal School, for the past several years.

Federated Clubs To Meet In Waynesville

The annual session of District No. 1, North Carolina Federation of Women's Clubs will meet in Waynesville, Monday, October 30 at 10 o'clock. The business session will be at the Baptist church, and will be concluded around the luncheon table at the Masonic Temple, when the Junior Clubs will furnish entertainment, and Mr. Lewis A. Smith will be the dinner speaker.

State officers who will appear on the program will be Mrs. R. H. Latham, of Winston-Salem, the State President; Mrs. Howard Ethridge, Chairman of the District; Mrs. E. L. McKee, Chairman of Citizenship; Mrs. Stanley Black, Division Chairman of Indian Welfare; Mrs. Charles Galley, State Chairman of Music; Mrs. Richard Barber, Jr., a violin artist will appear on the program.

Mrs. R. N. Barber, President of the District states: "All club women of either federated or non-federated clubs are urged to be present. If there are clubs that have not been active for some time, or women who are thinking of organizing a club, you are especially welcome. Do not hesitate to come because you have not notified the hostess clubs. The clubs of Waynesville want you and are expecting you."

BEAR AND DEER HUNTING MAJOR SPORTS IN W.N.C.

ASHEVILLE, Oct. 25.—Although large portions of Western North Carolina have become well-developed farming, urban and resort sections, certain isolated portions of the mountain forests still present wilderness conditions and harbor deer, black bear, wild turkeys and other game animals, much esteemed as the quarry of sportsmen.

With the opening of the hunting seasons for deer and black bear, numerous hunting parties are taking to the field in Western North Carolina in search of big game. The deer season opened on October 15 and continues until December 15. Bear hunters are allowed 45 more days of hunting, the bear season opening on October 1 and continuing to January 15.

Five major bear hunting regions have been cited by old bear hunters as the best regions to seek black bear in Western North Carolina. They include the valleys of Hazel Creek (Catawba-Creek in the Great Smoky Mountains section, certain sections of Graham county, the upper headwaters region of Pigeon River and the upper valley of Cane River in the Mount Mitchell section.

Good deer hunting is to be found around the borders of the Pisgah National Game Preserve, with the MfR River Valley occupying a favored position in the preferences of hunters. A chain of five game preserves extending entirely across Western Carolina and harboring deer and other game are contributing much to the preservation of good sport for sportsmen. Another refuge for wild life also comes into existence in this section with the establishment of the Great Smoky Mountains National Park, a permanent wild life preserve.

Although Western North Carolina offers quarry for hunters of deer, wild turkeys, squirrels, rabbits, quail, and other small game, the hunting of black bear and deer, still remains the major outdoor attraction of the autumnal season in this section.

HOSPITAL RECEIVES GIFTS

Miss Grace Gordon, superintendent of the C. J. Harris Community hospital, has requested The Journal to express her appreciation of the recent gifts of canned goods that have been received by the hospital from citizens in the county.

Miss Gordon said: "The hospital wishes to acknowledge the donations of canned materials and produce which have recently been brought in. These gifts are the expression of a true community spirit and are greatly appreciated. We will be delighted to receive anything which our friends feel that they can give us. Realizing fully the many demands made upon you in your various communities we are all the more grateful for your remembrance."

DRYS TO MAKE 34 SPEECHES AGAINST REPEAL ON SUNDAY

Sunday, October 29, has been arranged as rallying day for the anti-repealers of Jackson county. The Central Committee of the United Dry Forces of the county has arranged for 34 speeches to be delivered, covering every section of the county.

The dry leaders state that they expect to carry the message to every nook and corner of Jackson county, accentuating their position that the 7th of November, 1933, will be the last opportunity that the people of North Carolina will have to express their sentiments regarding the repeal of the prohibition laws that have been the policy since 1908.

40 YEARS AGO

Tuckasee Democrat, Oct. 25, 1893

Capt. Alden Howell, of Waynesville is here today.

Dr. J. H. Wolff was called to Franklin Monday, professionally.

Mr. W. G. Perry, of Asheville, is visiting her mother, Mrs. Jos. Baum.

Aleck Baum left Saturday morning, for a ten days' trip to the World's Fair.

Lawyer Geo. H. Smathers, of Waynesville was here last week, on professional business.

The family of Capt. G. E. Knight returned today to their home at Dillsboro, from their summer's sojourn at Balsam Gap.

Nobody ever saw finer weather than has prevailed this Fall, except that there has not been sufficient rain to keep the ground in order for sowing wheat.

Mr. Jno. A. Hooper, of Tuckasee has placed us under obligations for some very fine specimens of the Yam potato raised by him. They are real beauties.

Miss Pauline Morris left Saturday night to enter school at Whittier which we are pleased to learn, has started off under the most flattering auspices.

Mr. T. C. Bryson is representing the tobacco house of Daniel & Clark, of Bedford City, and the drug house of E. A. Craighill and Co., of Lynchburg, Va. With a full line of samples of the stocks of both these excellent Virginia houses, Thad is prepared to supply the wants of merchants in these lines.

From the Asheville Citizen: In your issue of the 19th, among other things with regard to the Reunion you speak of the old flag of the 39th. I desire to explain more fully the story of the flag in the Chickamauga engagement. Wm. Breeden was the man shot from under the flag. Lieut. B. H. Cathey caught it before it fell from his grasp and the flag did not trail in the dust at any time, as was asserted by one speaker at the Reunion. The same day Lieut. Cathey turned the flag over to Private Joseph Sutton, now of Jackson county, who bravely carried it until the night of Saturday's fight. He then carried it to Col. Coleman with the remark that "he would not allow thousands of men to shoot at him without the privilege of shooting back at them." Wesley Shelton was then made color bearer and bore the flag gallantly until the close of the war. Wm. Braden, the bearer who fell, was a brave soldier. He belonged to a Cherokee company, part of the 39th regiment, which company deserved as much credit for valiant service under the old flag as any other company in the regiment. A complete history of this old standard would be interesting.

Effects of lager beer on goats: Recently some Pennsylvania beer sellers tried the effects of beer on a goat. Whether the experiment was for the purpose of determining the quality of the beer, or the constitutional toughness of the goat is not recorded; but the effect was fatal to the goat, notwithstanding the hardihood for which he is proverbial. Just how many glasses were required to extinguish him is not mentioned, but he died, and the high quality of the beer was established beyond the possibility of cavil. But this is not the end of the story. The Humane Society learned of the proceedings, and immediately began an action against the beer vendors for cruelty to animals. The action was undoubtedly justifiable, but it is a matter of wonderment that the same law-makers who have made it an offense to kill goats with beer, have never once thought of its being a crime to destroy human beings by the same means, although there are a hundred thousand human beings being sacrificed by this means, to one goat. It is to be hoped that the question of prohibition will be agitated until human beings are at least as well protected as goats.—W.C.T.U. Column.

Repeal Campaign Nears Final Stage As Many Notables Take To Stump

ONLY ONE REGISTRATION DAY

Saturday of this week, October 28, is the only day upon which the registration books will be open before the election on November 7.

All persons who have come of age, moved to the county, or moved from one precinct since the last general election, who desire to vote in the election on November 7, must register on Saturday.

The books will be open all day at the regular polling places in every precinct in the county, for the purpose of registering voters. All persons who voted in the last general election, in 1932, and who are still residents of the same ward or precinct, are not required to register.

PRISON CAMP SITE PURCHASED

The negotiations between the North Carolina Prison and Public Works Commission and Mr. Patton for the purchase of 30.49 acres of the Patton farm, near Whittier, were completed this week, and the deed for the property was passed to the State, for a purchase price of $3,049, it was learned here today.

The Commission will immediately begin the construction of the prison camp on the property, the prisoners from there being worked on the secondary roads of Jackson and Swain counties.

Jack Reed, of Whittier, was recently appointed as superintendent of the camp.

19-YEAR-OLD BOY DIES

Fred, the 19-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Grady Tallent, died Saturday morning at 11 o'clock. He had been sick only since the day before.

Funeral services were conducted at the Keener cemetery by Rev. J. G. Murray, Rev. T. R. Wolfe, and Rev. W. C. Reed.

Surviving the young man are his father, mother, one sister and three brothers.

SAYS TIMES ARE NOT SO HARD

(George McKee, of Anderson, S. C., in New Era of Bandera, Texas) "Don't talk to me about hard times. I was born eight miles from a railroad, five miles from a schoolhouse, nine miles from a church, 885 miles from New York, 200 yards from a wash hole and 15 feet from a cornfield.

Our nearest neighbors lived two miles away and they couldn't read or write. I never saw a suit of underwear until I was 17 years old, and that revelation didn't belong to anybody in our family. The only books in the house were a Bible and a catalog.

There were 12 members of our family, but you, see we had three rooms to live in, including a dining room, which was also the kitchen. Every body worked at our house. We thought everybody else in the world had gravy and bread for breakfast, liver and cracklin' hockeak for dinner, buttermilk and corn pone for supper, 'cause that's what we had.

Some of us wore brogan shoes occasionally in the wintertime. We had nice shirts for summertime use. We slept on straw ticks, and pillows were not thought of or required. I didn't know that money would rattle until I was nearly grown. Father got hold of two half-dollars at the same time, and let us hear them rattle. Taxes were no higher, but harder to pay.

We owned two kerosene lamps, neither of which had a chimney. Our house wasn't ceiled, but two of our rooms had lofts in them. We had a glass window in our "company" room. Our nicest piece of furniture was a homemade rocking chair. Our beds were of the slat or tight-rope variety.

We went to school two or three months in the year, but not in a bus. We attended church once a month, but not in a car; we used a two-mule wagon. We dressed up on Sundays, but not in silks and satins.

We sopped our own molasses; we ate our own meat; we considered rice a delicacy for only the preachers to eat; we had heard of cheese, but never saw any; we got a stick of candy and three raisins for Christmas and were happy; we loved ma and pa and were never hungry, enjoyed going naked, didn't want much, expected nothing. And that's why our so-called hard times ain't hard on me.

The campaign between the repealers and the anti-repealers over prohibition is nearing its final stages, the election being only two weeks off. The drys have carried their campaign to every county and every community in the State. There is hardly a school house or a church in the State of North Carolina, in which the voice of an anti-repeal speaker has not been lifted during the past two weeks, or in which such a speaking will not be held before November 7. Not only that, but the headquarters of the United Dry Forces in Raleigh report that the campaign has been carried almost to every house in the State, local and county committee workers going from door to door soliciting support in the interest of retention of prohibition.

Reporters in the daily papers of the State say frankly that the wets are worried, are becoming alarmed at the activities of the drys, and are fearful that North Carolina will be the first State to vote to retain the 18th Amendment in the Constitution. Meanwhile Clyde Hoey, the popular Democratic orator of Shelby, Judge Webb, and other lesser lights have been shelling the woods for the retention of the 18th Amendment.

The wets may be worried over what North Carolina will do, as is intimated by the daily press, for they have been bringing forward their heavy artillery. Senator Bob Reynolds, freshly back from Europe, has taken the stump for the wet cause. Max Gardner, former governor, smooth-tongued orator, "blond beauty of Shelblytown," and brother-in-law of Clyde Hoey, has issued a statement in which he puts himself on record as favoring the repeal of the 18th Amendment, but opposed to any tampering with the State prohibition laws without another vote of the people on the subject. Senator Josiah William Bailey, former editor of the Biblical Recorder, former head of the North Carolina Anti-saloon League, and politician of parts, issued a statement to the same effect of that of Governor Gardner, only differing in that he favors the repeal of the 18th Amendment; but when it comes to the State dry laws, still says "woodman, spare that tree." And Jim Farley, Postmaster General, and dispenser of patronage for the Administration is coming to Raleigh to deliver a speech asking the State to join the repeal parade.

On the Republican side of the fence, the daily papers say that Chas. A. Jonas, Jake Newell, and Clifford Frazier are to take the stump against repeal, joining in with many of the lesser lights of their party who are already in the field.

HILLIARD TO PREACH SUNDAY

Rev. S. H. Hilliard will occupy the pulpit at the Methodist church in Sylva, Sunday morning, in the absence of Rev. T. R. Wolfe, the pastor, who will preach at the Glenville Methodist church at the same hour.

Mr. Hilliard, venerable and beloved Methodist minister of the Western North Carolina Conference, who now makes his home in Sylva, recently preached in Hendersonville, at the church where he began his first pastorate, 50 years ago.

BEASLEY REUNION HELD

The Beasley reunion was held with Mrs. Pherba Beasley Sunday, October 22.

This being the first reunion held, there was no report of previous ones. However, there will be one held each year, hereafter. Officers were elected for the next year. There were one hundred seventeen relatives and eight visitors present.

Dinner was served picnic style and each person reported a fine time.

never saw any; we got a stick of candy and three raisins for Christmas and were happy; we loved ma and pa and were never hungry, enjoyed going naked, didn't want much, expected nothing. And that's why our so-called hard times ain't hard on me.

COCHRAN SERIOUSLY ILL

Mr. J. R. Cochran, who is recovering from an operation at the Ochsner hospital, will return to his home in Jackson county, in a few days. In fact, he is reported to be steadily weaker, since his return.

Mr. Cochran, a native of Asheville, N. C., is a veteran of the Spanish-American War. He has been making his home in Jackson county for a number of years, since his marriage to Miss Lucy Zachary, Mrs. Cochran is with her husband in Asheville.
