RAMBLING ROUND NEW YORK with HUGH KENNY

Many a mid-town tenement kid will miss the sheep that used to graze in Central Park. And since they've sent them over to Prospect Park there'll be many a kid who'll grow up, live and die in Manhattan without ever knowing how a lamb looks in real life—gamboling on the green. For there are loads of native New Yorkers who never leave the city of seven million. The window-washer in our office building's one of them. "Forty-two years in New York," he boasts. "And never been out of it yet!" . . . And probably he didn't even know that there were sheep in Central Park!

There's still money in New York . . . A friend was telling of her sister's wedding reception. "Mother was a little startled," she said, "for the bill for the champagne punch alone, was $248 . . . And poor Sis—she could do with a little of that money!" . . . Our friend didn't mention the luxurious wedding gifts, however.

Look! He holds that cane oddly. . . . Oh—he's blind . . . "Going across?" I asked. It was up at Columbus Circle—southwest corner of Central Park . . . "I don't have a complete mental picture of the streets," he replied to my question. "Just certain landmarks . . . I ran right into a traffic marker on the sidewalk this morning. Hit it pretty hard. But you have to expect accidents like that if you go outside at all. If you haven't the courage to meet them—you stay cooped up in the house." . . . Just another argument for "The Seeing Eye," that New Jersey institution that trains German Shepherds—erroneously called "Police Dogs"—to lead the blind intelligently, avoiding just such accidents my chance acquaintance mentioned.

New York telephone calls average 7,500,000 a day!

The cops in this town are brave lads, ordinarily. But they're camera-shy! General O'Ryan, you see, who's head of "New York's Finest," has issued orders that blue coats must not pose for news camera men. "It's undignified," says the General.

The Family DOCTOR by JOHN JOSEPH GAINES, M.D.

VICTIMS
As time goes on, I become more and more impressed with the devastating effects on the health of the people by this so-called "depression." To be candid, I have never witnessed anything like it. Literally thousands of mature men and women are breaking down in their nervous systems—the break-down striking at the very foundation of the physical structure, sweeping the victims from the field of combat—the zone of making a living. Never, in my existence have I seen anything more devastating.
I have urged my patients, "don't worry; there is nothing worth so much to the individual as his LIFE. And, life can be made little else than constant torture—by worry! Yes, dear reader, we family doctors giving our life-energies to our patients—we advise people not to worry—only to catch ourselves doing the very same thing.
Symptoms of impending break: General weakness in hands and legs. There may be numbness and tingling, with very little actual pain. Just a feebleness—feeling of incapacity, "unequal to the day's task." When these symptoms are felt, REST at whatever cost.
All sorts of surface sensations may be noticed; coldness of the hands and feet is common. I have observed "nervous chills", the sort not followed by noticeable fever. The patient himself remarks that "he can't stand anything any more." Some imagine that they have influenza, but the absence of cough and marked nasal symptoms prove no infection. There may be loss of appetite, languor, and above all, marked discouragement with daily affairs; the feeling that it isn't any use to try to venture further.
Mental break-down—nothing strikes me with more feeling of dread. Dethronement of reason! To all my readers, REST—before too late.
