Churches Are Planning County Wide Revival

The Baptist ministers of Jackson county, meeting in conference at the Cullowhee Baptist church, Monday, laid plans for a County-wide Evangelistic campaign, which the church leaders hope will draw to the meetings at least 10,000 people.

The campaign will begin on Sunday, July 15 in the 40 churches of the Tuckasee Baptist Association, covering every part of Jackson county.

Rev. W. N. Cook, pastor of the Baptist churches at Webster, Tuckasee, and Glenville, is directing the arrangements for the campaign.

"I want this to be the greatest revival in the history of the Association," said Mr. Cook. "We want every church to take part; every school-house can be brought into use." Rev. Thad F. Deitz, the moderator of the Association, urged the ministers to be much in prayer before they go into the revival. "We need to feel our weakness and roll ourselves onto the strong arm of God," said Mr. Deitz. McKinley Hooper, of Tuckasee, spoke briefly in behalf of the church deacons of the county. W. Wood in behalf of the Sunday schools; and Rev. R. F. Mayberry for the B. Y. P. U's.

The committee appointed to be in charge of the general arrangements for the evangelistic campaign is composed of Rev. W. N. Cook, Webster, Rev. Thad F. Deitz, Beta, Rev. I. K. Stafford, Cullowhee, Rev. Ben Cook, Cowarts, and Rev. John Harris, Argara.

The ministers will meet again at Cullowhee on July 9. The 105th annual session of the Tuckasee Association will be held at the Cowarts church on August 16, 17 and 18.

WANTS W C T C BROADENED

Mr. Dan Tompkins, Editor Jackson County Journal: I noted with interest what you said in your paper last week about Western Carolina Teachers College school to a university type of school to be in better position to serve all the boys and girls in Western Carolina, that want college training that has been my contention during the two years I have been connected with the school as a teacher and director of athletics. Many boys and girls have expressed to me the desire to come to Cullowhee, but when they found out that they could not get the courses they wanted they naturally went elsewhere; or, in some cases remained at home. We should change from the present take it or leave it teacher training attitude to one that would provide courses suitable and desirable for boys and girls that are interested in professions other than teaching. We should offer teacher training for those who desire it, but should not stop at that. The time is ripe for an institution in Western North Carolina that will train boys and girls for the many professions that are opening up in this section. A complete line of courses should be offered in Forestry, Botany, Agriculture, Dairying, Mining, Business Administration, and many others that time and space will not permit me to list.

The matter should be carried to the next Legislature and established here among the mountains an institution that will train our boys and girls to do better the things they want to do, or will have to do.

Assuring you that I stand ready at all times to do all I can to boost Western Carolina and its institutions, I remain

Cordially yours,
C. C. Poindexter (Director Athletics, Western Carolina Teachers College)

Byron S. Marsh, of Sylva, engineer for the State Highway Commission, and a crew of men are at work on a location survey of Highway 146 beginning at a point south of Glenville, where the engineers for the Nantahala Power Company left off the survey around the proposed power dam, and continuing through Cashier's Valley.

MRS. WIKE IMPROVING

Mrs. W. D. Wike of Cullowhee is recovering, in the Community Hospital, from an appendix operation. She was taken to the hospital, Sunday afternoon.

TODAY and TOMORROW

REPORTER at 68 years

My friend, Frederick T. Birchall of the New York Times, received the Pulitzer Prize in Journalism the other day for the best work of a newspaper correspondent in 1933. That may not mean much, but it proves one thing that I have long maintained. That is that newspaper work is not, as people often say, a "young man's game."

For Fred Birchall is 68 years old, and has been a newspaper correspondent for only three years! As a very young man he worked for a short time as a reporter. Then he got an editorial job and rose through the ranks of a man whose income is $25,000 a year. At 65, when most men retire, he wanted to be a reporter again, so the Times sent him to Europe to go where he pleased and write what he pleased. His dispatches from European capitals prove that age doesn't have to be a boy to be a good reporter.

This is one occupation in which a man can keep doing good and constantly improving work as long as his health lasts.

BRAIN doesn't wear out

The human brain doesn't wear out. It grows with use. Not long before his death I asked Thomas A. Edison how he kept his youthful outlook. He had been talking, at 92, of things he was going to do next. "You can keep your brain young by working it hard," he replied. "It grows in power with use. The only thing that grows old about a man is his body. If my stomach holds out I'll be inventing new things and better things at 100."

I am convinced that Edison was right. Of course, some men stop thinking, others never did use their brains much. But the man who has a good brain and uses it to its limit grows in ability as time goes on.

YOUTH and ambition

It is characteristic of youth that everything seems important to the young. This is natural, for everything is new to the young. Nothing like it ever happened before. Wars and depressions and hard times and left and grand ideas for making the world over make a strong impression on youth because they are never experienced.

In my youth I used to hear the ancient proverb, "A man's a fool till he's forty." I don't believe it of course. Youth never believes that its elders know anything about its problems. But after a man has reached middle age he begins to realize that the things that he gets so excited about are all old story to his parents. They had been through the mill and knew the answers. And the answers were nothing like what youth thought they were.

It is, perhaps, a good thing that youth does not know that most of its dreams will never come true. For unless the young believed they could accomplish miracles, they would never try. And it is only by trying to do the impossible that humanity gets a little farther along with each new generation.

GRADUATES jobs waiting

I don't know how many young men were graduated from the nation's colleges and universities this June, but I hear a great deal of talk about there being no jobs for them. There seems to be an idea prevalent that when a boy has finished college the world ought to have his pigeon-hole ready for him to crawl into and be safe and secure for the rest of his life.

That never was true and it never will be true. There are just as many jobs for the really competent as there ever were. Look around you if you don't believe that, and see if you find a man who is actually industrious, ambitious and competent who hasn't got something to do.

I talked the other day with the vice-president of one of the big oil companies. "We can't get hold of enough ambitious young men to man our filling stations as we would like to have them manned," he said. "If you know any college boys looking for a chance to start in the oil business, send them to me."

LIFE two ways

Life is whatever we choose to make it. I know two young married couples who live in the same suburb. One is the happiest person I know, the other is the most unhappy. The

The following Jackson County people received the two year Normal diploma: Hixie Ashe, Green's Creek, John Crawford, Cullowhee; Howard Crawford, Cullowhee; Nimmo Collier, Sylva; Geneva Heason, Cullowhee; Hazel Hooper, Cullowhee; Hattie Lou Long, Cullowhee; Lois Edwards Martin, Whittier; Margaret Morgan Webster; Norma Painter, Sylva; Dee Parker, Sylva; Howard Semers, Glenville; Kate Stillwell, Cullowhee; Ed die Marie Wike Sutton, Cullowhee; and Ina Yarbley, Tuckasee.

BATHING BEAUTY CONTEST

Elsewhere in this issue of the Journal will be found an entry blank for the Bathing Beauty contest to be held in the Memorial Stadium, Asheville, at the old-fashioned celebration and picnic on July Fourth.

The winner of this contest is to receive a beautiful cup and the title of Bathing Beauty Queen of Western North Carolina.

Another prize and title that is certain to attract attention is the cup that goes to the champion hog caller of Western North Carolina.

MRS. ALLEY GETS SCHOLARSHIP

Mrs. Doyle D. Alley, according to the Waynesville-Mounta,aver-Courier. Mrs. Doyle D. Alley, according to the institute of government, at the University of North Carolina, will attend a three months' course there. She has been granted a leave of absence as deputy clerk of the superior court of Haywood county during the three months.

one is a college graduate, whose husband earns $100 a week as an electrical engineer. They are paying for their home, raising two children. They keep no car, own a Ford car, and the wife finds time to serve on the school board, pretty nearly runs the local women's club, and has the "fixer" to whom all sorts of people come with their troubles.

The unhappy woman is married to a man who has no children but keeps three servants and two big cars. She is the best dressed woman in their town. She spends a lot of money giving entertainments and parties. People go because they get plenty to eat and drink, but I hear folks say that to have to listen to her complaints of imaginary troubles is a high price to pay for a dinner.

Life, as I said, is what you make it

DEMOCRATS DEFER CHOICE OF COUNTY CHAIRMAN

The Democrats of Jackson county met in convention, Saturday at 2 o'clock, and voted to constitute all Democrats who attend the State Convention from this county, delegates to the convention.

The county executive committee, not having a quorum present, deferred action on the election of a county chairman, until a later date. Mr. E. L. McKee will automatically continue as county chairman until another meeting of the committee.

At precinct meetings in Sylva Dan Moore was elected chairman of South Sylva precinct and member of the county executive committee, and R. U. Sutton was elected for the North Sylva ward.

HEALTH DEPARTMENT

Communicable diseases may be divided into two general classes, respiratory and intestinal. Such diseases as pneumonia, influenza, diphtheria, scarlet fever, etc., are among the respiratory diseases. The causative agent being eliminated through the organs of breathing. Typhoid fever and dysentery are the important intestinal communicable diseases. The causative agent is eliminated through the bowels and kidneys. Communicable diseases of the respiratory type are most prevalent in the fall and winter, and the intestinal type during the summer and early fall.

Although the death rate from typhoid fever in North Carolina has decreased from 32 per hundred thousand population in 1915 to 5 per hundred thousand at the present time, it is by no means the "thing of the past."

The human body is the only natural habitat of the causative organisms and all cases are caused by contact with the feces or urine of an infected individual. A case of typhoid means that there has been a short circuit between the bowel and the mouth of a case or carrier and the mouth of the victim. This contact may be direct or indirect; through a contaminated water or milk or ice cream supply, by the ingestion of food over which flies have dragged their infected filth, or by the eating of oysters which have been affected in their feeding beds or even through the ingestion of infected dust.

Being a filth-borne disease it is to be expected that modern sanitation would have greatly lessened its incidence and so it has. Many people believe the requirements of a sanitary privy and the rigid enforcement of milk ordinance the protection of public eating places, etc., are unnecessary but it is through these sanitary measures that typhoid has been reduced to its present low level.

Occasionally a typhoid patient may recover his good health, yet become a chronic carrier of the germs in the gall bladder or other parts of

Second Primary Called In Senatorial Contest

40 YEARS AGO

Tuckasee Democrat, June 13th, 1894

Mr. Joseph Baum left for Springfield, Ill., Friday.

Miss Carrie Bryson went back to Asheville, Monday.

Mr. Jas. Cowan, of Webster, was here Friday.

Mrs. Laura Tompkins and children, of Asheville, are visiting her this week.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. S. McIntosh and Master Walter McIntosh spent Monday night here.

Rev. J. P. Yarbrough will preach at the Baptist church here next Sunday morning at 11 o'clock.

Mr. P. P. Fletcher, who for the last year or two has made his place his home, left for his old home in Vermont, last week.

With a great flourish of trumpets the republicans formally opened the Congressional campaign at Bryson City, Tuesday.

The boys gave a lawn party at Mrs. Baum's last night for the benefit of the Sylva Base Ball Club. Their receipts amounted to something like ten dollars.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Fowler, of Glenville, came down Saturday, Mrs. Fowler returning home Sunday and Mr. Fowler remained here for treatment under Dr. Wolff.

The County Commissioners held an adjourned meeting last Monday and issued to the jail contractor $2,500 in county paper bearing interest at the rate of eight per cent per annum.

Misses Annie and Ava Thomas accompanied by a little friend whose name we did not learn, came home from Asheville today, where they have been attending school, to spend the vacation.

John Dills whose home was near Hall's station, was killed Saturday by the east-bound passenger train at Addie. He was attempting to get on the train while it was in motion, missed his hold and fell between the cars.

Judge D. D. Davies and Miss Daisy returned Monday from their North ern trip. The Judge took quite a swing around the circle, taking in Washington, D. C., Pennsylvania and Ohio. In the latter State he visited two of his brothers whom he had not seen in 20 years.

A second primary in which Jackson county is interested, but has no voice, is that for Senator from the 32nd District, called by Cos Paxton against Ralph H. Ramsey, Jr.

In the primary of June 2, Mr. Paxton received 737 votes against 1061 for Ramsey, who failed to get a majority.

The winner of the primary will be our Senator next winter, succeeding Roy Francis of Haywood.

Under an agreement of long standing, the senatorial honors rotate between the counties of Jackson, Haywood, and Transylvania. The county from whence the senator hails does the nominating.

DEWEY BUCHANAN KILLED IN AUTOMOBILE CRASH

Dewey Buchanan, 35 son of Cole Buchanan, of Gay, was killed instantly in an automobile crash in Bryson City, Saturday. His body was brought to Sylva in a Medford ambulance, and prepared for funeral, which was held at Gay.

With Buchanan in the car at the time of the crash, which occurred on Bennett's Hill in Bryson City when the car left the steep street and crashed into a tree, were Homer Jones, of Gay, and Johnnie Jones of Dillsboro. Both men were injured, though not seriously.

Homer Jones was brought to the hospital here.

Buchanan is survived by his widow, six children, his father, one brother, Verlin, all of Gay, and one sister, Mrs. Tom Rickman of Canton.

MANY HELP HOSPITAL

Miss Cordon, the Superintendent of C. J. Harris Community Hospital, states that many of the people and organizations of the county have helped in various ways, during the past year, to keep the work of the hospital going.

Different woman's organizations, missionary societies, and the like in the county, have taken the hospital, figuratively, under their wing, for a month at a time and have furnished many conveniences and necessities to the institution.

Miss Cordon states that the management is grateful to the organizations and individuals for their help. She further states that many cans, that were brought to the hospital, filled with fruits and vegetables, are now empty and ready for the owners to call and take away for refilling.

GIRL SCOUTS PET SHOW

A pet show will be held in the Rhodes building, formerly occupied by the Buchanan Pharmacy, Saturday sponsored by the local troop of Girl Scouts. The show will be open for visitors from ten to six o'clock, and the managers are inviting entrants of all kinds of pets, the only requirement to entrance being the furnishing of a cage for the pet. All entrants must be in before ten o'clock. Judges will award ribbons for the best pets.

An admission fee of five cents for children and ten cents for grown people will be charged.

Announcement is made of the approaching marriage in the church at Dillsboro on the 20th inst., at 10 o'clock, a. m., of Miss Bettie Knight, of Dillsboro to Mr. Frank Endoe of Whittier. These young people are very popular, and their friends rejoice with them at the culmination of this happy event.

The subject of holding primaries, to give the people the opportunity to express their choice for the two Senators to be elected by the next Legislature is being discussed. The State Executive Committee of the Democratic party met in Raleigh, yesterday and may make some suggestions on the subject.

For several years we have not failed to have green beans for dinner on June 11th, and this year was not an exception, but it was a tight squeeze this year on account of the distressing drought which has prevailed for several weeks. Webster and vicinity has not had rain since the first week in April and this section is little better off in that respect, there having been no rain here of any consequence since May 9th. Unless we get rain in a few days the damage to field and garden crops will be irreparable.
