The Trouble at the Exit

By IRVIN S. COBB

AS I recall, they first told this story on Theodore Thomas. After Thomas' death they tacked Sousa's name to it. The Sousa version is now enjoying a merited revival.

The great conductor was putting his hand through a rehearsal. There was a recruit to the organization lately added. The new member's instrument was a tuba. This person seemed incapable of getting through a somewhat difficult passage without making a hideous hash of his part of it.

Sousa halted the others and glanced reprovingly at the offender. "What's the matter with you?" he demanded. "It aind me," explained the perspiring musician. "It's dis dam' horn." He shook the misbehaving instrument. "I blew in it so nice and sweet and it comes out so r-r-rotten!"

It takes more than "just a salve" to draw them out. It takes a "counter-irritant"! And that's what good old Musterole is—soothing, warming, penetrating and helpful in drawing out the local congestion and pain when rubbed on the sore, aching spots.

Muscular lumbago, soreness and stiffness generally yield promptly to this treatment, and with continued application, relief usually follows.

Even better results than the old-fashioned mustard plaster. Used by millions for 25 years. Recommended by many doctors and nurses. All druggists. In three strengths: Regular Strength, Children's (mild), and Extra Strong. Tested and approved by Good Housekeeping Bureau, No. 4867.
