MEMORIAL TO SHORE TO BE BUILT IN RALEIGH, SOON
Raleigh—The Council of State has authorized the State Board of Health to issue revenue bonds in the sum of $160,000 for the erection of a modern laboratory building, which will be located on the Jones Street side of Caswell Square, in Raleigh. It will be known as the Clarence A. Shore Memorial Building, in memory of the late Dr. Shore, first director of the State Laboratory of Hygiene, who served in that capacity from December, 1907, to February, 1933. His successor, Dr. John Hamilton, was named in May, 1933.
Action by the Council of State followed a conference with Dr. Carl V.

Raynolds, State Health Officer, and Dr. Hamilton. Work on the new building, which will have a ground area of 130 by 50 feet, will begin as soon as the necessary formalities are gone through with, and it is expected it will be ready for occupancy within the next year. It will be three stories high and will, if possible be built entirely of North Carolina material, the exterior to be either of stone or brick, but, in any event, the entire structure will be fireproof, also vibration proof.

When Goldstein Really Cut Loose
By IRVIN S. COBB

ACCORDING to Montague Glass, who specialized in stories of the cloak and suit trade, a jobber in this line suffered a bereavement. His wife up and died on him. Possibly because it was neighborhood gossip that the couple had not lived together very happily the bereft one felt incumbent upon him to manifest an unusual degree of distress, the theory being that this excess of grief on his part would silence the tongues of the slanderers and put to eternal rest the rumors of domestic infelicity.

Two days after the interment the husband, dressed all in black and wearing a broad mourning-band on his left arm, was passing on his way through Mercer Street to his place of business. A fellow-jobber halted him and without preamble spoke as follows:
"Honest, Goldstein, I got to say it—for you I am ashamed that you should carry on the way what you did at your wife's funeral. As a mark of respect for you I went by your house day before yesterday and the way you acted—well, I could only say again: As one business man to another I am ashamed for you that you should act so."
"A wife, yes? They come, they go; you get 'em, you loose 'em. That's life, ain't it? So why, then, when you lose one should you carry on so positively, absolutely could not understand."
"Did you maybe also come by the cemetery?" inquired the widower.
"Sartinly not," said his friend. "I'm a business man and it ain't so that I could spare a whole day running way over on Long Island to a cemetery. I came by your house like I said before and when I seen how you carried on that for me was sufficient. Right off I came away disgusted."
"You think I carried on at the house, huh?" stated Mr. Goldstein.
"You should a-come by the cemetery. That's where I raised her!"
