No Need to Expand

There is more likelihood, say those who claim to have inside information of what the State Department thinks, that this country may give up a silver of territory, than that it will try to acquire more.

Up in the northwest corner of Maine there is a tract of a few hundred square miles which, though a part of the United States, is inhabited by citizens of French-Canadian extraction, who speak French, think in French, and have to do all their trading in the French Province of Quebec, because their region is cut off from access to the rest of Maine. day.

They are good farmers, intelligent and industrious, but all of their racial and economic ties are with Quebec, not with Maine. And when they buy a tractor, a purebred bull or a sewing machine in the only trading centers they have access to, they have to pay duty on such merchandise as they need on their farms or in their homes.

These Maine farmers have sent a petition to Washington asking that their section of Maine be ceded to Canada. They have also petitioned the Canadian government to the same effect. The State Department is looking into the situation, and Washington gossips are wagering even money that eventually Canada will get that little chunk of Maine. Whether it has any bearing on the present Maine-Canada border or not, it is a coincidence, at least, that the National Archives office has just sent to the International Geographical Congress at Amsterdam a photographic copy of the award to the United States by the King of the Netherlands, 107 years ago, of a strip of land along the eastern bor-Canada.

Looking Backward In Jackson County 49-30-20 years ago

Tuckaseigee Democrat August 7, 1889 Winston is to have street cars, as the parties who have been negotiating for the electric lights have about completed all arrangements, and will take charge soon. They are to be run by electricity. -- Divelbiss Hotel had twenty for dinner a few days ago. -- Rumor apparently well founded says that the nickel mines near Webster will soon be in full blast. Recent tests of the quality of the ore are said to be very satisfactory, showing as they do the great value of the property. We hope soon to be able to record that regular work in in these and other mines in the county are proving a source of profit to the owners and incidently of great benefit to our people.-While we are sorry that the arrangement will deprive us of the constant personal association with Mr. Robert L. Madison in consequence of his employment as Principal of Cullowhee High School, we are glad to know that the "lines have falen in pleasant places", and that he will be near enough to continue his work as Editor in Chief of the Democrat. We commend him to the people of Cullowhee, as a gentleman well worthy their highest esteem and confidence. We are satisfied he is among people who well know how to profit by the advantage they enjoy in having secured his services, by upholding and assisting him to make the school a complete success. -The following jurors were drawn at the August meeting of the Commissioners, for service at the September term of the Superior Court: A. TODAY and TOMORROW

(By Frank Parker Stockbridge) BICYCLES

There are more bicycles in use in the United States today than ever before. That is the report of the Finance Committee said on the floor Iowa Director of Motor Vihicles; and he is talking about ordinary foot-propelled "bikes,' not motorcycles. Trade statistics bear out his assertion, and every motorist must have noticed the increased number of bicycle riders who add to the perils of motoring on the highways.

I remember when bicycles were a rare novelty. I rode one of the oldstyle high-wheel bikes in my boyhood. The present type of bicycle, with pneumatic tires, did not come into use until I was through high school. There were no automobiles in those days, but cyclists scared horses and farmers used to set their dogs on us. Around the cities and suburbs special "cycle paths" used to be built to keep the wheel-men off both sidewalks and the main thoroughfares.

If bicycles continue to multiply it | a serious emergency hould arise. would seem like good sense to go back to the old practice of putting Representatives did was to pass a a narrow strip exclusively for cyclists' use along each new road built.

One of the highest paid women in the executive end of radio broadcasting is Miss Bertha Brainard who is program director of all the NBC networks.
