233 MATTRESSES GO TO FARM FAMILIES

Better housed, better clothed, better bedded, better fed, more feeling of security, better wages, better conditions, and a sale at a good profit for everything produced on the farms of America, is a goal of the federal government. An instance is the making of 233 cotton matresses in Jackson coun ty, which has already been accomplished.

This is the way it worked: Mrs. 10:30, "According to Divine Mamie Sue Evans, Home Demon-Law What may or may not be stration Agent was made direcdone on Sunday," Rev. W. Mrs. Wilcox stated that the needs of approximately one-half of the 242 Jackson county families registered with the Red Cross have been met. So far there have been four major cases that have been passed on the advisory committee, Mrs. Wilcox said. She described a "major" case as being one in which $500 was involved. About 20 or 30 of these major cases will come up before the advisory committee at its next meeting, Mrs. Wilcox said. Dr. McGuire and Messrs. Lackey and Elliott in their report all were of the opinion that at the present time defeatism on the part of some of the flood sufferers was the greatest problem with which those who are trying to aid are faced. These three committee members all said that in order for these people to over-

The way things now appear is that England, Norway, Denmark,

France, Belgium, Holland, and the other Democratic countries Of these, 75,000 are expected | had something that other nations did not possess. The Democratic ideal of government and individual freedom was revived first in the British Isles, as the world began to emerge from the Dark Ages into which the sack of Rome by the German Barbarians had plunged it. This ideal, adhered to by the British and brought with fierce intensity to America by the colonists, spread to other countries, and its great spiritual value made them rich. Twenty-five years ago, Germany and Austria attempted to overthrow this ideal, and to take charge of the world that the democratic ideal had builded.
