

16 Inspectors Take Samples Of Fertilizer

Raleigh, March 26—A corps of 16 inspectors of the State Department of Agriculture will comb North Carolina between now and May 15 securing samples of fertilizer for analysis "to determine whether manufacturers have given farmers the amount of plant food guaranteed on the bag," D. S. Coltrane, assistant to the Commissioner of Agriculture, announced today.

"The work of the fertilizer inspectors will be a safeguard to the farmer as well as a protection against dishonest competition," Coltrane said.

Since the greater bulk of fertilizers produced today are delivered direct to the farm in contrast to the buy-at-the-warehouse system, the Department officials have announced that "more and more samples of fertilizer will be gathered at the farm or on farm routes in order to obtain more representative samples."

Coltrane emphasized that "all farmers in the state having a ton or more of fertilizer at their farms are urged to write the State Department of Agriculture if they desire samples to be taken and analyzed."

"We are making a special effort this season to get a large number of samples of fertilizer direct from the farm," he added. "The cooperation of all farmers will enable us to continue a progress program of user-manufacturer protection."
