President Will Spread Defense Contracts

The President established in the OPM a Division of Contract Distribution with Floyd Oflum of New York as Director to "face the responsibility of alleviating the hardships which have resulted from the defense program and... to marshal our productive capacities to the objective that no plant or tool which can be used for defense shall be allowed to remain idle." The order was issued, the President said, "in furtherance of a determined move... to help the smaller business units of the country obtain a fair share of the defense orders and to prevent, as far as possible, dislocation of industry and unemployment of workers in plants where production has been curtailed by priorities and material shortages."

The Division will set up branch offices throughout the nation where there will be available: procurement representatives of Federal contracting agencies to negotiate contracts and subcontracts, technical engineering advice on conversion of plants to defense work, representatives of the OPM Labor Division to plan reemployment of training of workers in plants involved, and financial facilities of the RFC and other Federal agencies which may be necessary to finance plant conversion.

Board Must Know Boys' Addresses

The objectives of the Parent-Teachers Association were read to the Sylva P. T. A. at its first meeting of the year, held Tuesday afternoon, with Mrs. Harry Hastings, vice-president, presiding, in the absence of the president, Mrs. Edgar Duckett.

The objectives are: To promote the welfare of children and youth in the home, school, church, and community. To raise the standards of home life. To secure adequate laws for the care and protection of children and youth. To bring into closer relation the home and the school that parents and teachers may cooperate intelligently in training the child. To develop between educators and the general public such united efforts as will secure for every child the highest advantages in physical, mental, social, and spiritual education.

The devotional was conducted by Rev. A. P. Ratledge, who read from the Gospel of John, the passage about Jesus being "The Light of the World."

Mrs. George Lee, Mrs. R. U. Sutton, and Miss Evelyn Parker reported to the Association on the P. T. A. Institute, which they attended at Chapel Hill last summer.

AS WORLD EVENTS UNFOLD

By DAN TOMPKINS

SHOOTING orders have come to the American Navy. Inexorably, history is repeating itself, drawing us closer to real war. President Roosevelt, in his historic and momentous address, outlined the situation to American people. America is in real danger. American and neutral shipping are being attacked on the high seas. German plots in Latin America are becoming a real menace, directed at the security of the democracies in this hemisphere, including our own. How reminiscent of the World War No. 1! Then, with infinite patience, the President of the United States sought to preserve the peace, and at the same time maintain the integrity of the United States, and of the principles for which it had always stood. First one step and then another was necessary to meet the rising menace of German aggression on the high seas and of German machinations in the Americas. Finally, the time came when there was no other course except a declaration of war.

THIS TIME, if war comes, it will be because Germany declares it, or initiates it. The United States, although the foolishly conceived and foolishly enacted Neutrality Act appeared to be an abdication from the principle of the Freedom of the Seas, does not propose to allow herself to be throttled by sea war, or the integrity of the Americas undermined by subversive acts on the part of German agents, acting under orders of diplomats, sitting in immunity. Those two things brought us into World War No. 1, and are drawing us closer to World War No. 2.

P.T.A. Discusses Its Objectives

Registrants under the Selective Training and Service Act must notify their local boards of any change of address or become liable to severe penalties provided by the Act, General J. Van B. Metts, State Director of Selective Service, warned them today.

Director Metts said he had been advised by National Selective Service Headquarters that many cases of delinquencies investigated by the Department of Justice have been due to carelessness of registrant concerning their duty to report changes of address, or ignorance of the law requiring them to do so.

The Selective Service Act provides that any registrant who violates the law shall be liable to fine and imprisonment, the Director pointed out. This punishment, he also called to attention, is specified as "by imprisonment for not more than five years or a fine of not more than $10,000, or by both fine and imprisonment."

It is the policy of the Selective Service System, Director Metts said, and of the Department of Justice which is charged enforcement of the Act, to take action in those cases where there is willful intent to violate the law. Nevertheless, he stressed, investigation of borderline cases is taking up much valuable time of local boards and Department of Justice which should be devoted to urgent work for National Defense.

To relieve this situation, and also to protect registrants who do not willfully try to violate the law, Director Metts has asked local boards to use all means of investigation at their disposal before reporting apparent cases of delinquency to the Department of Justice.

In this connection, the Director also stated that there is no objection to a local board using voluntary assistance of local or State police officials to find a registrant who has failed to respond to notification. He said: "If, after a reasonable effort on the part of the local board, and, when volunteered, by the local or State police the whereabouts of the delinquent registrant cannot be ascertained and nothing has been heard from him in response to notification, the local board then should report the delinquent to the United States District Attorney."

INDIAN LEGION POST WILL HEAR TOMPKINS TALK

Dan Tompkins will be the guest speaker at the meeting of Steve Youngdeer Post, American Legion, at Cherokee, Saturday night.

This is the only all Indian post of the American Legion in the United States, and was named for Steve Youngdeer, Jackson county Cherokee, who was killed at the Battle of the Hindenburg Line, when the 30th Division broke through the German defenses and drove past Bellicourt, on September 29, 1918.

FOOD LOCKERS SEEN AS AID TO DEFENSE

Farmers living in areas served by frozen food locker plants can make increased use of these plants to their own advantage and to the advantage of the defense program, says David S. Weaver, head of the Department of Agricultural Engineering at N. C. State College.

The use of frozen lockers, he pointed out, reduces the amount of canning necessary and saves tin, zinc, and other metals vital to the defense program. Only waxed paper and cartons are used for frozen foods.

Resources are saved when foods are placed in the lockers through eliminating spoilage as well as waste of feed which result when meat animals and poultry are carried over until needed or until "butchering

County Defense Chairman Dan Tompkins has announced to the War Department and to the Defense Headquarters in Raleigh that the organization of Aircraft Warning Service in Jackson county is complete, with observation posts temporarily established at Cashier's, Glenville, the Power House below Lake Glenville, East LaPorte, Webster, Balsam Gap, Beta, Wilmot, Blue Wing, Lickstone, Barnett Knob and Gay.

Joe Davis, vice-commander of the American Legion Post, was appointed by the Defense Chairman as Chairman of the aircraft warning service, and observers were selected from volunteers at the various points designated by the War Department. It is anticipated that perhaps one or two of the observation points will be moved to fire stations on top of the mountains when the forest fire season in October makes it necessary for the wardens to be on duty at towers where there are telephones.

Mr. Davis reports that the service is complete in this county as mapped out by the War Department. A trial will be made it is believed, to test the efficiency of the civilian service, when the air maneuvers of the army begin within a few days.

Although the present service was set up temporarily in anticipation of the air maneuvers, it will become a permanent volunteer service, ready to be put on duty day and night, in the event it should become necessary, to the defense of the nation.

CONFEDERATE MONUMENT WILL BE REPAIRED

A committee of B. H. Cathey chapter, United Daughters of the Confederacy has conferred with the county commissioners, and the county will have repairs made to the base of the Confederate monument, immediately. Mr. T. Walter Ashe, chairman, told the committee that the commissioners had as yet been unable to secure the services of a competent workman to make the repairs.

The chapter, meeting at the home of Mrs. W. O. Soderquist, last Friday afternoon, appointed the committee to confer with county authorities. A nominating committee, with Mrs. Ernest Wilson as chairman, was appointed, and other matters of business were transacted. During the social hour, Mrs. Soderquist served a delightful salad course.

Vocal and piano selections, by Mrs. Mary C. Binson, of Hendersonville, who was a guest at the meeting, were a feature of the social hour.

The Durham County Guensey Calf Club will show a dozen purebred calves at the 1941 State Fair.

Because most of the meat, fruits, and vegetables processed in locker plants are grown locally, transportation facilities, central storage, refrigerator cars, and handling facilities, and manpower can be released for emergency uses.

Farmers using lockers are likely to raise more of their own foodstuffs, Weaver believes, because foods processed in locker plants make possible greater variety in the diet and are more palatable and nutritious than foods preserved in the home by other methods. The improved diet which results should mean better health and, consequently, greater efficiency and increased productivity of farm people.
