SUGAR SCHEDULE THE FAULT

so it is Said, of the Tariff Delay, Nothing Definite Yet. To Store Up Rain for the Western Farmers. Mr. Bland Has a Bill.

Washington, August 6.—Several times within the last three or four days it looked as though the key to the tariff deadlock had been found by the conference committee, and for that reason, and in deference to the wishes New York City during the week ending of President Cleveland, the caucus of the Democrats of the House, which was to have been held last week, was deferred for a time. Still the key is unfound. As fast as one obstacle is removed a new one presents itself The yacht Vigilant beat the Britannia After much consultation a sugar schedule was drawn that was acceptable alike to the House, to President Cleveland and to the "conservative" 755 bales are American; against 2,497,585 | Senators, and as the sugar schedule had been the principle obstacle to an agreement the contest was thought to be about over. Not so, however for before the conferees had fully decided upon that schedule they were informed that Senators Caffery and Blanchard of Lousiana, and Allen, of Nebr., and Kyle, of S. Dak., demanded an amendment providing for the payment of the sugar bounty for the remainder of this year, and that failing to get it they would cast their votes against the bill, which added to the vote of Senator Hill would mean defeat. This continuation of the sugar bounty was refused by both House and Senate while the bill was under consideration, and the demand for it at this time has for the time abso lutely blocked agreement.

While the House committee on Commerce has taken no formal action on the subject, opinions expressed by its members indicate that a bill along the line of that introduced by Representative Brickner, of Wis., providing that all interstate railroads shall own or control by lease all sleeping cars run over their lines, will sooner or later be favorably reported to the House. If such a bill be reported an attempt will be made to add an amendment regulating sleeping car charges.

People smile every time the reports of the Senate sugar scandal investigating committee are mentioned. The whitewash was put on too thick, and as a consequence it is already peeling The returns from the Alabama election off in spots, leaving the dirt underneath in full view. One gentlemana member of the House-expressd the opinion held by many when he said "While the reports are all right as far as they go, like the investigation, they do not go far enough, particularly in their dealing with politically contributions by the sugar trust and with speculating in sugar stock by Senators. Besides that defiency there is running all through the reports a Senator cando no-wrong tone that I do not fancy, and which should alone be sufficient to shake the confidence of the public in them.'

A bill has been introduced in the Senate by Mr. Peffet and in the House by Representative Baker, of Kans., authorizing the Secretary of Agriculture to establish reservoirs for the storage of rain water in the semi arid states west of the 96 meridian, and appropriating $500,000 therefor.

Nobody takes Representative Bland's resolution instructing the committee on Ways and Means to report a bill for an income tax that will produce a revenue of $100,000,000 a year and a bill putting all sorts of sugar on the free list, seriously, although it may play an important part in the legislation of the session. While Mr. Bland's object in antroducing the resolution was probably merely to give the Senators who had been preventing an agreement on the tariff bill a hint of what the House can do if no agreement is reached, there is no doubt of his intention to push the resolution should the conference committee fail to reach an agreement on the tariff bill or should an agreement be reached by the com mittee and not be accepted by the Senate. Bills on the line suggested could probably get nearly a two-thirds vote in the House, but their getting through the Senate would be doubtful, as no one can tell in advance whether Senators would vote in accordance with their personal convictions or the orders of their party leaders.

Among the numerous fights between the House and Senate that over the bill providing for the printing, binding and distribution of public docu ments is deserving of special mention because of the principal involved. This bill was passed by the House early in the session and it was recently passed by the Senate with numerous amendments, among them two giving the joint committee on Printing of the Senate and House control of the appointment of the Chief Clerk of the R. P. O., the foreman of printing, the foreman of binding and of the super intendent of documents, a new position created by the bill. Representative Richardson, of Tenn., chairman of the House committee on Printing, tried to get the House to concur in those amendments, and thereby got himself into hot water and met defeat by a vote of 113 to 67. The bill is now in the hands of a conference committee.

If the Senate amendments became a law the joint committee on Printing would thereby acquire absolute control of the patronage of the Government Printing office. It would be a direct slap in the face of the Public Printer. and incidentally a blow at the Secretary of the Interior and the President. Senator Gorman, chairman of the Senate Printing committee, is credited with being the father of the Senate

While the Japanese minister, accompanied by his suit and the Japa nese consul, were leaving Taku on August 3, they were attacked by a crowd of Chinese soldiers, who seized their baggage and threatened them with personal violence, but the viceroy, Li Hung Chang, quickly sent a force of troops to the scene and suppressed the riot He also sent a message to the Japanese minister expressing regret for the treatment to which the minister was subjected at Taku, and promising that the offending Chinese soldiers would be punished.
