Pomona Hill Nurseries,
POMONA, N. C.

Two and one-half miles west of Greensboro, at Junction of Salem Railroad. The main line of the Richmond & Danville Railroad passes through the Nursery and within 100 feet of the office and residence. Salem trains make regular stops twice daily each way.

Those interested in fruit and fruit-growing are cordially invited to inspect this, the largest Nursery in the South.

The proprietor has for many years visited the leading Nurseries of the North and West and corresponded with those of foreign countries, gathering every fruit that was calculated to suit the South, and being located in the center of the Piedmont Section of North Carolina and with 30 years experience, also the experience of my father before me, I can claim without hesitancy that trees, &c., grown in these Nurseries will do better in any of the Southern or border States than if grown further North or South. Try and be convinced. My stock consists of over

There will have to be a society for the suppression of Comstock, if he continues to kick little boys.

We dislike to boast, but believe we can say with truth that we are the only editor, North or South, who has not penned a profound utterance concerning the condemned and executed anarchists.

We observe that the Dunmore (Pa.) Pioneer, under the control of F. P. Woodward, has just completed its first year. The Pioneer is a lively yeoman and "is making the chips fly" in good style. We wish it much success.

It is well known by those who know any thing about Southern Pines that a sojourn in this place relieves lung and throat diseases. But it is not equally well known that people with kidney and bowel trouble obtain great benefit here also. In fact the air of Southern Pines seems to affect the whole system so favorably that almost any complaint is relieved. The editor will gladly give particulars to all interested inquirers.

We have received the initial number of Woman's Work, a journal of domestic economy, published monthly at Athens Georgia. It is edited by Mrs. Ella R. Tennent of Marietta, Ga., with other women for editors of the several departments. We think it cannot fail to win a hearty reception in every family in the South. Although it is a sixteen page paper, with nearly all original matter, the subscription price is only fifty cents per year.

We are glad to welcome this new evidence of interest among Southern women, in the work of the world and heartily recommend the Woman's Work to our readers.

THE LAWYER AND DOCTOR AGREE.

A prominent lawyer of Beaufort County, well known throughout the State, sends a subscription to the PINE KNOT, and writes as follows.

"I find the paper both instructive and interesting, but especially doing valuable work in advertising North Carolina and bringing many good citizens to the State."

A medical specialist, also well known throughout the length and breadth of the State sends in his subscription and writes:

"I like your paper, and I like the way you talk, and here's my dollar."

Thanks, gentlemen. The PINE KNOT shall henceforth blaze the cheerier for these breaths of appreciation.

ADVERTISE THE HEALTH RESORTS.

[Apropos of the following from the Manufacturer's Record we relate the experience of a Chicago lady in getting to Southern Pines.

She was advised by the physician at a popular health resort in Indiana to go to North Carolina, to a town of which he had heard, but whose name had escaped his memory. He knew that in it was the name of a tree, but beyond that could give no information, except that it was somewhere in the piney woods region. "Ash(e)ville?" queried the lady. Possibly it might be Asheville; she could try it anyway. To Asheville she went, and from there to Black Mountain, but at neither of these places did she find the long-leaf pine. At the latter place she told her dilemma to a Southern lady with whom she had become acquainted. "Southern Pines" suggested the new acquaintance. A ray of hope. She came to Southern Pines forthwith and found that it was indeed the place she had been seeking. This is, of course, no disparagement of other resorts. It simply shows how necessary it is that information about the long-leaf pine region of this state should be better disseminated throughout the North.]

We heard of an instance last month when a physician ordered a patient to go to transmontane North Carolina to get the benefit of the resinous atmosphere of the long-leaf pine forests. Fortunately a friend who had traveled in that State, heard of it and gave the necessary direction. Had North Carolina advertised her sanitary resorts as widely and wisely as she has her natural resources in other respects, the doctor would have known that the desired piney forests were some distance east of the Blue Ridge. The Seaboard Air Line system has set a good example to all the trunk roads traversing the South by giving special prominence to the sanitary resorts on its line. The best hotels ought to advertise also, not sparingly, but steadily and broadly. In this respect Southern landlords, as a general thing, are far behind their Northern brethren. They should keep before the public the attractions that surround them, and the comforts their respective hotels offer to guests.

HANDSOME SAMPLES.

We have received from the North Carolina Agricultural department thirty samples of the native woods of that State, which we take pleasure in hanging alongside our specimen of Moore County bright tobacco in the Pioneer office.

These samples of woods give one quite an idea of the vast wealth in timbers that may be found in the South.—Dunmore (Pa.) Pioneer.
