Privation, and, in many instances, suffering for the necessaries of life, are ahead of them.

In Wake and other counties the crop is probably something over half of last year's. In Richmond and some other counties it is about three-fourths of last year's crop. In Lenoir, Wayne, Greene, Wilson and that section it is about or a little under half of last years crop. In Edgecombe, Halifax, Warren and other counties it is not so good as half a crop. It is impossible to get accurate figures this early, but the above is the gist of what we gather from well-informed men in the sections referred to. In no county in the cotton country is the crop better than three-fourths of last year's crop and the average will not exceed one half. Mr. John A. Horton Killed in Bed While Asleep and Buried in His Tobacco Barn.

[From Durham Sun of Saturday.] A most horrible and brutal murder has just come to light in Williams township, Chatham county, and the details, as far palling character.

Mr. John A. Horton lived in Chatham where the three counties of Wake, Chat-He lost no clients. Once a client always ham and Durham join. He lived with his mother an aged lady who was very deaf. They were sole occupants of the house. Friday night, one week ago, Mr. Horton disappeared very mysteriously and no traces of him whatever could be found until this morning. His absence made his neighbors apprehensive and they in stituted a search for him the next day keeping it up until this morning Mr. Walter Edwards found his body buried in a tobacco barn, and a pile of tobacco stalks and trash piled up on the grave and plank on top of that. Mr Edwards was attractmaniy and his sentences fell like the blows ed by the trash and removing it found the earth newly loosened, and digging down about one foot found one of Mr. Horton's hands. The Coroner was immediately sent for.

Killed for a Bale of Cotton. From all we can learn it was a bloody night's work, and the supposition is that Horton disappeared.

The Body Carried off on a Sled. After Horton's body was found the hor ibleness of the deed began to manifest itself. It appears that he was killed in bed while asleep, his body rolled off on sled and was then carried in a wheelbar row to the barn where it was buried. ### The Slaver Arrested.

Tuesday's News and Observer says J. P. Davis has been arrested in Danville, Va., for the murder of Mr. Horton. Davis was suspected as soon as the tragedy was discovered, and steps were at once taken to capture him. Parties called at the exec utive office here in regard to the matter Saturday. Both Davis and Horton lived together in the house, nobody else but an old woman staying in the house. The murder was perpetrated with a hatchet or men worked together and it is said that the trouble which ended in such a trage manner originated in connection with a quantity of cotton seed. It was learned Monday night that so much excitement prevailed in Williams' township, where the murder occurred, it was not deemed call of Maj. Elias Carr, O. C. To-night (Friday) at Metropolitan Hall the Boston Symphony Company will give an entertainment at Metropolitan Hall. No company that comes to Raleigh gives so delightful and enjoyable an entertainment. No man or woman who loves music ought to miss the opportunity of hearing Mrs. Ohrstrom, who is pronounced the successor of Jenny Lind.

The Capital city was well represented at the Favetteville Centennial by military, public officers, men and women, but in no way was it better represented than by its handsome and clever delegation of police. Mr. Horton was killed for the price of a Sergeant C. H. Lewellyn, and officers J. bale of cotton, which had been taken by a W. Beasley and G. S. Strickland were man to Raleigh and sold the day that Raleigh's police delegation. So well did they perform their duties as to win deserved commendation. Raleigh is justly proud of them!

to the announcement that beginning Dec. 2nd, a Teachers' Institute will be held in Raleigh by Prof. Chas. D. McIver, assisted by the county Superintendent of Schools of Wake. The public school scraped over. The bed had been shoved teachers are required by law to attend, and all the private teachers will find it to their interest to attend. These Institutes have been held in over a fourth of the counties in the State, and wherever held they have been well attended and full of profit to the teachers and others. On Friday, Dec. 6th, at eleven o'clock, Prof. McIver will deliver an address on Public Education to the people and teachers. It is probable that other speakers will address he people on the same line. The CHRON-ICLE advises every School Committeeman. every parent, and every friend of education who can possibly do so to be present on Friday. We need a waking up on some other sharp instrument. The two public education. Our public schools are not as good as they ought to be. Upon them four-fitths of the boys and girls in North Carolina depend solely for what edneation they receive. Let us rally and build up a strong sentiment for better and more efficient public schools!
