During the past week the Hickory Printing Company has sent out 10,000 Tariff Reform documents.

There will be no services in the Lutheran Church Sunday, as Rev. Moser will be in Statesville that day.

A number of strangers, names unknown, are now Summering in Hickory. Our boarding houses are well filled.

During the storm last Sunday, lightning killed a horse and a cow for Mr. Marcus Whitener on South Fork about four miles from town.

In answer to our inquiry of last week, a friend informs us that the Post Master in Statesville has a "mad stone." Better preserve this piece of news.

Seagle Bros. carry at all times a complete stock of Ladies, gentlemen, and childrens shoes. They are constantly receiving all the latest styles. See them.

Mr. D. W. Shuler, into his new house this week. The structure is a thing of beauty and is undoubtedly the most handsomely finished up residence we have ever seen in the South.

A fearful storm visited this vicinity last Sunday afternoon. The wind blew with great force and from so many directions that growing crops were seriously injured. The hail was also destructive. Such a storm and so heavy a fall of rain is not in the memory of any our citizens.

William T. Walker, the Prohibition candidate for Governor of North Carolina, will address the people of Catawba county, Friday, August 17th, 1888, at the Court house in Newton. There will probably be a joint discussion if Mr. Walker will "divide time," and give an opportunity for reply.

Some of the Blowing Rock people we hear, did not understand a short article in last week's paper. Our statement that a man who did not advertise in the PRESS AND CAROLINIAN had twenty-eight boarders lost in a big house, did not refer to any one at Blowing Rock. The whole of Blowing Rock is crowded.

In the last two weeks we have added many new subscribers to our list which shows that our work is appreciated. If our delinquent subscribers would only be honest and think for a moment how much it would help us out if they would only pay what they owe we could get along very nicely. We can't afford to send the paper for nothing and all delinquent will be dropped after the first of September.

Social.

A pleasant party consisting of Misses McNeelie, L. Jones, F. Shuford, Schenck and Burgin, escorted by Messrs. Meade, Prude, C. Cline, J. Martin and E. Cline respectively went to the Sparkling Catawba springs Tuesday evening for a recherche tea and dancing. The occasion was unusually agreeable, being due not only to the charming graciousness of the ladies, but also to the efficient management of the queen of chaperons (than whom no better selection could possibly have been made) one of whose rules however, her subjects grievously disregarded. Yet after all each one makes or mars the evening for her companion.

LATER.—The gentlemen have presented to the chaperon and through her to the ladies, two 48lb melons in honor of the above occasion.

Much Needed Improvements.

We understand that the town commissioners have an appropriation for the purpose of macadamizing, leveling and beautifying the public square and the grounds in front of the hotel. While they are in a liberal mood why do not they take a step in a much more needed direction—that of moving the cemetery and spend some of the surplus in making a new burial yard what it should be. The present one is too near the town—for many reasons—and the longer this work, which is being called for and which must eventually be done, is put off, the larger the task grows, the more expensive it becomes and the more unhealthy is the surroundings.

A Valuable Document.

We surrender much of our space this week to an exhaustive presentation of the tariff question, by our townsman Mr. E. L. Shuford. The tariff is a question which interests every man who wears clothes, and Mr. Shuford has gathered the cream of the past two months discussion into a smaller space than our readers will find it elsewhere. It is a good campaign document and in behalf of the Democratic party we thank Mr. Shuford for his labor. Besides putting it in the paper, we have printed several thousand extra copies which can be had for $3.00 per thousand. They should be distributed and read.

The Hickory Fair.

We don't like to brag on any thing that is ours or any thing that is gotten up by or belongs to our town, for we don't believe in blowing ones own horn, but we want to state a few facts in regard to this organization, as a forerunner to the Premium List, which will soon be out. A statement of facts is all we intend saying, which facts as soon as placed before the public will create enough interest without any unnecessary blowing on our part.

In the first place the Association, has selected the prettiest grounds in the State for the holding of a fair. There never has been nor will this year be offered so extensive a display and so much amusement for so small an entrance fee, as shown in the Premium List. Such a feast has never been offered to the people of any section since the institution of Olympian games.

There will be almost every industry of life exhibited on the grounds and various kinds of sport. Watch for the Premium List and see what they offer. Come to the Fair, see the sights and enjoy yourself for one day if no more.

Old John Robinson the Showman died at his residence in Cincinnati on the 4th inst, surrounded by his family. He was aged 82 and was unconscious in his dying moments. His property was valued at from three to four million dollars.

We have no acquaintance with the editor of the Sylva Herald; in fact we have come to the conclusion that he does not know himself. He claims to be a Democrat and run a Democratic paper, but his last issue was the most inflated protection sheet we have seen in a month. We can imagine no other solution of the case than that he is a Protection Republican from principle, and edits a so-called Democratic paper "for revenue only."

Mr. J. F. Murrill, of The Press and Carolinian went to Waynesville Thursday. His Prohibition proclivities are eclipsed by his bourbonism. When the old Fowle cucks the little ones come.—Clyde Register

How about Bro. Shook's "Prohibition proclivities?" Are they not eclipsed by his radicalism? We did not wait til the "old fowle cucked."

We were there all the while and there we expect to remain as long as the radical fox threatens to invade the premises. The liquor traffic is bad enough under Democratic rule, but under Republican rule is would be ten times worse.

"Which Was It?"—why. An Unpleasant Mood, of Course.

"It is the truth that hurts," and the Enterprise is hurt. If it did not intend to charge Hickory with all the sickness and deaths in five miles of it, as it seemed, and as one tried to explain to us, it should not have been wounded by our "very inferior ammunition." Our town was afflicted with seven cases of fever, and reports went abroad that we were burying four or five a day. Instead of ascertaining and publishing the truth, had as it was, the Enterprise said its "Sister towns were full of typhoid fever." We thought the declaration, under the circumstances, was "uncalled for, unjust and unkind," as it was untrue and unsisterly. It put us in an "unpleasant mood" and we said unpleasant things but we have confessed, and the editor, according to his promise must "forgive and forget."
