The man who fell over the logs in the street the other night, wishes to know if he must see the town or the men who put them there. He hopes the moon will shine when he goes to church at night again.

No Civil Service in those Days.

Will Harrison prove himself a civil service reformer? See Judges 1:21—"And the children of Benjamin did not drive out the Jebusites that inhabited Jerusalem; but the Jebusites dwell with the children of Benjamin in Jerusalem to this day." Webster's Weekly.

See also Judges 1:30—"Neither did Zebulon drive out the inhabitants of Nahalol; but the Canaanites dwell among them and became tributaries."

Judges 20:35—"And the Lord smote Benjamin. And it came to pass in the fourth year of Grover that there went up a cry from the Zebulonites: 'Turr, the rascals out,' but Grover, the captain of the hosts thought not so, but allowed certain of them to remain in Gotham, where they hold office to this day. And when they and the Benjaminites conspired together in the fourth year of Grover, and set the battle in array, the Groverites were smitten hip and thigh; and when Zebulon, the seer, heard thereof, he said: 'It was the confounded Civil Service humbug that fixed us.' And Benjamin sniffed the breeze afar off, and brushed his locks and cut his bread with joy, and thanked his God that the 'rascals' had been 'tributaries' to the defeat of his enemies.

Bullies vs. the Truth.

Things are getting at a pretty pass in this country. If an editor dare publish the fact that a bill of indictment has been found against an absconding embezzler and forger, his brothers or other friends feel that they must vindicate his rascality by whipping the editor. Under such circumstances two of J. B. Connelly's brothers undertook to whip Joe Caldwell, editor of the Landmark, but as the correspondent puts it, "Joe is a good one and got in his work like a little man, flooring one of his assailants, and was about to work the 'John Sullivan racket' on the other when the crowd parted them. A little blood was shed on both sides." Mr. Connelly's brothers may find that they had best attend to their own and leave J. B.'s business alone. Fighting will not wipe out his unfortunate disgrace.

Be Thankful and Charitable.

This is thanksgiving day. We hope you all have a better Thanksgiving dinner than the editor has. We hope you will all go to church and give thanks to God for His goodness and mercy, and give alms to the orphans as you are able. Those who do not go to church can put a dollar in an envelope and send it to Dr. B. F. Dixon, Superintendent of the Orphan Asylum, Oxford, N. C., and you will enjoy your dinner more, spend a happier day and have a livelier hope that God's richest blessing will be visited on you and your business through the year to come. God loves a cheerful giver.

Catawba Ahead Again.

The Wadesboro Messenger boasted that Senator R. E. Little, of the 27th district, Anson and Union, was "the best elected Senator in the State," having 2,612 majority over his competitor, but the Enterprise sees that and goes him 797 better, by showing that Dr. J. Turner, of Catawba, Senator-elect from the 27th district, Catawba and Lincoln, is the "best elected Senator," having a majority of 3,409 over his competitor. Catawba is still ahead.

New North Carolina Industries.

From the Tradesman supplement we clip items of new industries soon to be started in our State, as follows:

Hickory, N. C.—A private company are negotiating with the Brush Company for an electric light plant: Thirty arc lights, 2,000 candle power, and 200 incandescent.

Charlotte, N. C.—We want to purchase all machinery necessary to make buckets and hames, also engine, boiler, etc., to run same.

J. H. WEDDINGTON.

Greensboro, N. C.—We intend putting up machinery for the manufacture of sash, doors and blinds. Machine makers would do well to correspond with us.

W. G. MENDENHALL.

Hickory, N. C.—E. L. Shuford, D. W. Shuler and others are going to start either a refrigerator factory or chair factory; have not yet decided.

Raleigh, N. C.—North Carolina Wagon Factory has been organized, with a capital of $15,000.

Hickory, N. C.—We intend erecting a wood-working factory and will need all new machinery as soon as we have completed our arrangements.

D. W. SHULER.

Wadesboro, N. C.—We are about to put up a four gang mill and a rubbing bed. The building is up and we are about to put in the machinery. We are also digging a well and a reservoir for water supply. We have finished a railroad switch half a mile long which terminates underneath a powerful steam derrick in the quarry, and have a side track to supply the mill. We intend to buy a large steam pump for the quarry, also a convenient pump to pump water to a tank on top of the mill.

WADESBORO BROWN STONE CO.

Abernethy Bros.,
Davis Bros.,
Piedmont Wagon Works,
T. J. Rowland.

Good Templars.

The Grand Lodge will meet in Cary on the 5th and 6th of December. Efforts will be made to get reduced rates over the railroads for visitors to the Grand Lodge. Let every working lodge see to it that it be represented. Every lodge that expects to send a delegate or delegates is requested to forward the names of such delegates to A. B. Yates, Lodge Deputy, Cary, N. C., so that homes for all may be provided. It is hoped a full attendance will assemble and a noble work will be revived.

Wanted.

A smart, energetic boy, to learn the printer's trade. Apply at this office.

Southern Immigration Convention.

The Inter-State Convention called to meet in Montgomery, Alabama, December 12th, is a matter of great importance to the whole South. It had its origin in Texas, whose Commissioner of immigration, acting with those of other States, called the Convention at Montgomery as a central point, easily reached from every part of the South. The Governors of the Several States, or the Commissioners of Immigration, have appointed full lists of delegates and the attendance already promises to be large. The citizens of Montgomery have appointed local committees, and are doing all in their power to make a success of the undertaking.

Reduced rates have been secured of one fare for the round trip from all points in the South, tickets being on sale December 10, and good until Jan. 5, 1889.

They Like Us and Our Country.

Under the head "Personal Mention," in the Elizabeth, (N. J.) Sunday Leader, we find this item:

"General Drake's eldest daughters Augusta Secor and Margaret Taylor—returned home Friday evening, from a seven months visit among many friends in Western North Carolina. They are sunburned, strong and hearty, and have nothing but praise for the hospitable people in that delightful section of our country."

It was our good fortune and pleasure to meet the young ladies while in our hospitable Southland. They are handsome, cultivated and entertaining. We are glad they were pleased with our people and country and hope they will come again and bring their friends.

North Carolina Day at Augusta.

The Management of the National Exposition at Augusta, Ga., has appointed Thursday, December 6th, as "North Carolina Day." They have extended an invitation to all the people of our State to visit their City at that time that they may see the Wonderful Exposition of Southern Industries and Northern Machinery that have been concentrated in the immense building they have erected and at the same time that the people of the two States may meet socially, and confer together upon questions of vital interest to all.

The Third party papers of the State, the N. C. Prohibitionist, the Prohibition Leader, and the Durham Progress, have been consolidated, under the name of North State Prohibitionist, with W. G. Burkhead, of the Progress, editor. The paper will be published in Durham for the present, but will be moved to Raleigh about the first of next year.

We recently heard the remark, "I do not see how a man can be a Christian man and sell liquor," and the question instantly arose in our mind, Can a man be a Christian man and authorize the sale of it? If the sale of liquor is wrong it is just as wrong to authorize it to be sold as it is to sell it. That is the way we view it.—Statesville Advocate.

The published election returns show that there will be in the Senate 37 Democrats and 13 Republicans; in the House 83 Democrats, 35 Republicans and 2 Independents. The majority is rather large for conservative legislation.

Monbo Items.

Monbo had its share of the excitement attending the campaign, and we are glad 'tis over. Though not altogether satisfied with the result, we humbly accept the situation and shall look to the Harrison men for a performance of the many promises they have made, whereby we now expected to be benefited. Most assuredly the incoming administration will be viewed with a critic's eye, but alas! some faces are never known to wear a blush of shame.

We hope for a revival of business now, for which the Monbo Manufacturing Co. stand ready with a large supply of goods of their own manufacture, also a full line of everything kept in a general mercantile line. Much rain has caused the mills to stand for a few days on account of high water.

Our farmers are mostly done gathering corn and sowing wheat. Some cotton still in the fields. The latter is rather a short crop this season, but our farmers are generally cheerful and hope through their own efforts and the aid of the Alliance to see better times at no distant day.

Mrs. Amanda Haynes, wife of Mr. Isham Haynes, died Tuesday morning, Nov. 13. She leaves a mother, three sisters, a husband, and little babe.

Miss Lydia Cook died on the night of the 19th, aged about 58 years. She had lived among us since the Long Island cotton factory was first started and was noted for her piety, and we trust has gone to a better world.

Married, on Sunday, the 18th, by S. C. Brown, Mr. Joe Benfield, of Iredell county, to Miss M. J. Bradburn, of Catawba county.

Our old neighbor, Mr. John Crawford, has returned to his old home here, after an absence of several years in Texas.

More anon. NAGOL.

California raisins are fast supplanting the Malaga raisins in this country. In 1875 the total product of California was 11,000 boxes, which sold readily in Eastern markets. The crop for 1887 had grown to 800,000 boxes. The price of the Malaga and California is nearly the same.

Governor Seales has appointed Dr. H. T. Bahnsen, of Salem, a director of the Western Insane Asylum at Morganton, vice W. J. Yates, deceased.

You can see the nobbiest line of Furnishing Goods in Royster & Martin's new show window White Front clothing Emporium.

Cross and White, the Raleigh-bank swindlers, have got their case into the supreme court of the United States, which may keep them out of the work gang for years to come.

Jefferson Davis is in feeble health, and is feared he will not be much longer with us. A great and good man.
