NOTICES.

H. A. MORRILL, EDITOR.

New Advertisements.

Blowing Rock—HOTEL.
Seizure of property—JAS. H. SMITH.
Dress Making—MRS. HILL.

Dr. Cronin's murderer has been caught.

Twenty-one registered at the Inn Monday.

See Royster & Martin's barrel full of bargains.

A very interesting article to the farmers will be published next week.

Dr. McDow's trial for the murder of Captain Dawson commenced last Monday.

Special prices given to the Band Boys on valises at the White Front.

The measurements of cabbage in last weeks paper should have all been diameters.

Steam threshing machines are now heard in the land and the work of harvesting is going rapidly on.

At the last meeting of the Board of Aldermen Mr. F. L. Cline was elected city attorney for the city of Hickory.

The article "Honor to Whom Honor is Due," on the 6th page of this paper is to the farmers and all should read it.

Mr. Vance has severed his connection with the Asheville Citizen and allied his fortunes with those of the Evening Journal of Asheville.

The statement that Dr. McDow was elected company surgeon of the Lafayette Artillery, of Charleston, S. C., is emphatically denied.

The lawn party which was to have been held on D. W. Shuler's lawn last Tuesday night was, on account of inclement weather, postponed.

You can bring us produce, fruit, chickens, eggs, butter, wheat or oats on your subscription accounts. They must be settled in some way.

The work on the new building for the Piedmont Wagon Co. is being rapidly accomplished. The brick work on the first story is nearly complete.

The next Session of the University of North Carolina will open the first Thursday in September, the Trustees having ordered the change at their recent meeting.

The 4th Regiment band will give a lawn party on the lawn in front of the Hickory Inn next Thursday night, July 4th. Let all celebrate the "glorious fourth" by attending.

The University of N. C. has been sued for $20,000 damages, by Mr. Kelly Smith, who sued upon the ground that he was falsely arrested for painting Pres't Caldwell's monument with vermilion.

It may be Christian teaching that a Prophet is not honored in his own country but we admire the human idea practised by both teachers and preachers in Newton of patronizing their town printing office.

The "cold wave" which struck this region Saturday night was foretold by the N. Y. Herald the day before as coming across the St. Lawrence River and down South. There is not much now that the Herald don't know.

Mr. Thad R. Manning, the genial and able editor of the Henderson Gold Leaf, announces an intention of removing to a distant State, and offers the Gold Leaf for sale.

Among the attractions of the 4th of July celebration at Rocky River Springs will be Mr. Whitley, of Stanly county, who is 117 years old, and has cut his third set of teeth.

The Hickory Inn.

One of the most attractive all-the-year round resorts in this western section that has come into pleasant prominence of late years, is Hickory, located sixty miles east of Asheville on the line of the Western North Carolina railroad. Its many advantages and climatic benefits have become widely known throughout the country and many visitors and invalids from almost every section are flocking thither. The number increases each year, and since the building of the handsome, commodious, well-equipped and elegantly furnished Hickory Inn, the town has been on a greater boom and its attractions advertised to the outside world to a greater extent than ever before.

Under the able and excellent management of Mr. Frank Loughran, formerly of this city, the "Inn" has been unusually prosperous and gained an enviable reputation among the travelling public. It is really a first-class house in every respect. The cuisine is unsurpassed, and the table is always supplied with the very best that the market affords. The rooms are all large, airy, splendidly furnished, and delightfully located. The dining room service is as good as that of any hotel in the South, and in no detail is the Inn lacking in all that goes to make a strictly model hotel.—Asheville Citizen.

Who First?

Who next? The sedate and staid PRESS AND CAROLINIAN adorns its head with "frills," or side pieces, after the manner of the Call. A decided improvement.—Raleigh Call.

Thanks, Brother. But why do you ask "Who next?" just as though the Call originated the idea. "Frills," as you call them, belonged to both the PRESS and the CAROLINIAN in their infancy, and as for copying, why we had never seen your "dog-ears" till our devil this week called our attention to them.

Perfectly Natural.

In the State Chronicle man's write up of the resources and enterprises of Morganton, both past and present, he fails (we suppose intentionally) to mention that there is now or even has been a newspaper published at Morganton. But this is perfectly natural. Of course these articles are written to increase the sale of the Chronicle, and the more people they can induce to believe that the State Chronicle is the only paper published in the State worthy the patronage of the people, the better. Then the editor's fondest ambition will be fully gratified.—Morganton Star.

The Chronicle also slighted his brethren at Hickory and Newton.

Traitors in the Camp.

The Progressive Farmer, the organ of the Alliance in North Carolina says: "A brother writes us that his Alliance is having trouble by reason of speculators, agents and politicians in his Alliance. This is unfortunate. But it is not at all strange."

That is exactly what we have warned the Alliance against. It is what we have heard from honest and true members of the order. There are always men who are ready to use a thrifty organization for pocket profit or personal promotion. With all such the Alliance had best make no alliance.

Mrs. Hill has taken the room over the Bank where she will do all kinds of dress making and be pleased to see all in need of such work. 26-4t.

To Our Townsmen.

We greeted our readers last week with a new suit.

The PRESS AND CAROLINIAN has been in Hickory long enough to be entitled to a place as one of the institutions of the city and should be supported and upheld as an institution which has been and is of material benefit to the city. It has ever supported every measure of public interest and there is not a property owner in Hickory who has not been perceptibly benefitted by the support rendered the city and its various interests by the PRESS AND CAROLINIAN.

We mention these things—not implying anything of regret—but just to say that there must exist better reciprocal relations between the various interests here and the PRESS AND CAROLINIAN.

You have had plenty of time to judge. You have reaped untold and unappreciated benefits from free advertisements and the energy of the PRESS AND CAROLINIAN, while we have been losing money with every issue of the paper. We would not care if we could afford it; but we cannot afford to do ALL THE TICKLING. Drinking branch water and sleeping on a fence rail gets rough after a certain length of time.

A newspaper is a local manufacturing concern, as well as an advocate and public promoter of the community. Its revenues are the consolidated contributions from a wide range of territory. Except in the matter of white paper and printing ink, both together comparatively insignificant, the entire cost of production is an expenditure for the local benefit. It is true it is not much but it is "our little all". And while all the business and material interests have been thus benefitted through us, not one dollar has there profited a single interest of the PRESS AND CAROLINIAN. The paper has been sustained at the sacrifice of its owners; and the labors that controlled and directed it are without a dollar's compensation.

What work and advertising your business needs would render us a good support. We are striving to give you a paper worthy your support and think we are doing it.

We ask now will you have a good paper and render it a patronage that is due and one that will support it. Some of our citizens who are to be most benefitted by the growth and prosperity of the city of Hickory do not occupy any space in our advertising columns. They sit still and quietly reap a benefit we are giving them at a loss to ourselves.

We ask will you feed the fire which keeps you warm? Will you support that enterprise which gives you nourishment? Will you support a good paper as you ought?

Papers are failing and the publishers moving to other states because they are not supported at home. Must we follow suit?

The catalogue of the University of N. C. for the year past shows that the institution is well equipped for educational work. It enters upon a second century of life with every promise of enlarged usefulness and prosperity. The next session begins Sept. 5, 1889. For catalogue address.

HON. K. P. BATTLE, President,
Chapel Hill, N. C.

It may not be generally known that there are in existence two printed copies of the letters of Columbus announcing the discovery of America. Each consists of 4 pages, and are worth $5,000.

Needed Improvements.

What is the matter with the present Board of Aldermen? Are they all right, or was some mistake made? There are many small things that need prompt attention. Many improvements have been made in regard to the appearance of our streets and town in general but there is no cause for stopping these improvements and without a little more work being done what has been done will not stand nor show it off to advantage.

Many of the principle side walks away from the public square are sadly in need of repairs; the grounds around the mineral springs should be fixed up and the spring cleaned out; two more electric lights are specially needed and are almost necessary,—one on the hill above the spring and one in front of the Hickory Inn; every public well in the city should be cleaned out and the public square and the streets in general cleared of trash and filth. These are things that the Aldermen should act upon and see that they are accomplished.

Elk Park On A Boom.

A letter from Elk Park says: Our little town is now on a big boom, and no doubt will soon be mentioned among the first towns of the State, as it has many advantages that no other place has—but I will not attempt to mention them now.

There are quite a number of new buildings going up at present. Hotels and storerooms are being enlarged; new streets are being made and old ones are being put in good condition.

There has been a company organized here with $6,000 capital stock, and the machinery has been ordered, for the purpose of making furniture and building material in all its forms and will be put in operation inside of thirty days under the management of W. W. Carroll.

Mr. Carroll was once a citizen of Hickory and is well known here.

Improvements in N. C.

Advance information through the Tradesman tells of the following improvements in N. C.

Fayetteville.—The Cape Fear Canning Co., has been formed by H. W. Lilly and others, with a capital of $5,000.

Gibson Station.—The Gibson Station Oil Mill and Fertilizer Co., has been incorporated with a capital of $28,000. They will erect an oil mill and fertilizer factory.

Goldsboro.—The Goldsboro Light and Power Co., has been formed for erecting an electric light plant.

Statesville is moving for a flour mill.

New Berne is building a mill for manufacturing cypress shingles and pine lumber, and wants machinery for making bread trays and other vessels out of gum wood.

B. F. Carpenter of Lincolnton lost a distillery by fire.

In Morganton $5,000 will be spent in macadamizing the streets and persons of lawful age will be taxed $7.20 or work 12 days per annum on the streets.

What a howl this would raise in some towns.

Gentlemen, you find style, comfort and durability in Haywood's fine shoes. No matter how but we own 7 cases 50ct on the dollar and will sell them that way cheaper than alamanca at 5ct. Call at The One Price Cash Store. 26 1t

Parties having bones to sell call on D. W. Shuler at the Bank. 26 2t.
