Simon Cameron died on the 26th ult. of paralysis.

Do not forget the 4th Reg. Band have party to night.

From every indication we should think now is the time to buy shoes.

A very interesting article to the farmers will be published next week.

Special prices given to the Band Boys on valises at the White Front.

Messrs Royster & Martin had some dress figures stolen from them last Monday evening.

No more long profits on Heywood's shoes you can buy them at Shuford & Shuford prices.

A valuable contribution on "The Public School Teachers," crowded out this week will appear in next.

A communication from "A. L. B.," on public school teachers and school management will appear next week.

Work on the new passenger depot commenced Wednesday morning. Quite a large force are at work.

Our thanks are many to our friend Leif Heffner for a basket of elegant peaches presented at our office last week.

The Durham Plant goes into mourning in anticipation of the deaths that will follow the opening of liquor shops there.

Mr. Claude M. Lockart, a young man from South Carolina, was drowned at Wrightsville Beach while bathing last Sunday.

The Mocksville Times tells of one occasion when a woman was not afraid of a rat in her room. A snake two yards long had the rat in its mouth.

No anonymous communications will be published. Put your name to articles sent and if suitable for publication we will suppress the name.

Say, brother Daniels, where did you find your article showing the records of the decisions of the different judges of the State? Credit our account, please.

The One Price Cash Store are now offering you great bargains in Heywood's fine shoes. They are selling them cheaper than the factories can make them regularly.

The communication of Dr. Hudson on another page, though addressed to the people of Cleveland County is good reading for Prohibitionists every where.

John D. Sublett, Sr., of Caldwell Co., aged 70 years and Mrs. Anna L. Miller of Hickory aged 50, were married by S. E. Killian Esq., Tuesday morning, July 2nd.

Dr. McDow, the murderer of Capt. Dawson, a shining star of the South, has been pronounced "not guilty," by a jury of seven negroes and five white men.

We direct the attention of our readers to the new advertisements of A. A. Shuford & Co. If you want to get the worth of your money read the advertisements in our paper. Progress've men advertise.

Dr. Grissom.

The charges and specifications against Dr. Eugene Grissom, Superintendent of the Insane Asylum at Raleigh, have been published and if they are proven will forever blast the character of a man who has hitherto borne an unsullied reputation. The steward and assistant surgeon of the asylum prefer the charges.

The investigations have been pushed with great zeal and will be carried further still.

Mr. Busbee, who was employed for the prosecution has withdrawn and A. M. Waddell has been secured in his stead. The charges are cruelty to patients, gross immorality and misappropriation of funds. It is to be hoped one so long trusted by the State may be able to show them untrue.

Soon To Be.

The one thing that Hickory has long needed is a new depot. We have had something to say on this subject before, and we are glad to announce now that the new depot is a thing of the not far distant future. It is to be built at once. Employees of the railroad were in the city Tuesday laying off the ground and taking measurements. The lumber is being hauled, and not long have we to wait for this improvement.

Tobacco blindness is becoming a common affliction. At present there are several persons under treatment for it at one London hospital. It first takes the form of color blindness, the sufferers who have smoked themselves into this condition being quite unable to distinguish the color of a piece of red cloth held up before them. Sometimes the victim loses his eyesight altogether. Although smoking is to a large extent the cause of the malady, and so gives it its name, heavy drinking is also partly responsible.

The farmers in a section of Rowan, N. C., have addressed an affecting appeal to the State alliance for aid, they say their gardens, truck patches, wheat, winter oats and fruit crops were all swept from them by a destructive hail storm. The Salisbury Herald thinks such an appeal casts a slur upon the county, and says the men whose names are signed are all well to do farmers and able to bear their losses without murmuring.

The 4th Regiment Band boys have received their fatigue uniforms and are about ready, in all particulars, for the contest at the encampment. They leave on the 8th and with their expert drilling and proficiency in the musical department we feel sure of their success, and all patriots in our grand county of Catawba should feel proud to have such a representation as the 4th at such a grand and glorious occasion.

People cook up a lot of "vittals" and pay a lot of money to be hauled off in the woods to eat it, and call it a "picnic." A lot of our people who engaged in this luxury last Friday think a rainy day not best for a picnic.

The "Hickory Racket Store," which has been run by Mr. L. H. Phillips in the storeroom next door to the beef market, has been moved into the handsome brick building, next to the furniture store, which was lately occupied by S. S. Haitcock & Co., as a drug store. There you can get bargains just as great as before.

Prince Albert suits at the White Front Clothing Emporium.

The Atlantic.

To the people of this eastern seaboard and particularly to the people of North Carolina is the above name pregnant with meaning. Ancient mythology had the giant Atlas who supported the world on his shoulders; Africa has that grim sentinel and pillar of the universe, Mount Atlas; many nations and tribes have the pleasure and profit of the vast Atlantic ocean; but North Carolina has the individual distinction of possessing that chief of health and pleasure resorts, the Atlantic Hotel. The disposition lately developed among our readers of this city and section to spend their vacations at the seaside just as persons from the low-country spend theirs among our noble mountains makes it eminently proper that the PRESS AND CAROLINIAN should tell them something of what it has found to be the surpassing advantages of the North Carolina coast. And now of Morehead city, the terminus of the A. & N. C. R. R. and of the last annual session held there of that most delightful and instructive institution, the Teachers' Assembly—merely reversing the order. We use the term "delightful" deliberately because we have read it in the faces of those who are there fresh from the confining life of the school-room eagerly meeting brothers and sisters in the cause from all directions of the compass as though they were really reunited members of one family; we say "instructive" with equal deliberation because we have sat in that elegant and commodious Assembly Hall and listened to the words of such great educators as Gov. Fowle, Col. Saunders and Maj. Finger of the board of State officers—Dr's Battle and Home and Prof's Winston, Humes and Alexander of the State University—Prof's Smith of Davidson, Potent of Wake Forest, Alderman, McIver, Holt, Claxton and many other distinguished teachers in the high and graded schools. No greater tribute can be paid to the character of our people than to say that they, by their actions, are repelling as an insult and falsehood the former taunt of their unparalleled illiteracy. And never before have our children enjoyed the advantages of such improved methods or enthusiastic teachers as have been the outgrowth of this communion of similar ambitions and exchange of experience and ideas. Truth has departed from the old sentiment that

"Grave is the Master's look; his forehead wears

Thick rows of wrinkles, prints of worrying cares;

Uneasy lie the heads of all that rife,

His worst of all whose kingdom is a school."

But the question is often asked, "Why is an extreme location selected in preference to a central one?" The solution is simple. The coast is preferred for all the pleasures of delicious breezes, surf and sound bathing, fishing, boating, etc., and the Atlantic Hotel for its capacity to accommodate so vast a crowd with perfect ease and comfort and its willingness to do so at such moderate rates as are within the reach of all. Everything is conducted upon a perfect system, rooms clean and well furnished, tables supplied with the products of sea and land, servants numerous and polite, and best of all the proprietor a most affable and obliging gentleman. With the arrangements and help under Mr. Raney's control he is able to care for a thousand people as easily as a hundred and does it in such a manner that the pleasure of all are looked after no less than their wants.

Perhaps after all the open secret of our weakness for this resort is that it is patronized by many of the most delightful ladies, both married and un- ("mostly un-") it has often been our good fortune to meet. They are here in all the beauty and charm of figure and of mind, using without stint the powers they possess. If there is any hope for the future domestic happiness of some of our more youthful editors it must dwell in the intoxicating atmosphere fresh fanned from the wings of Venus which hovers about the parlors and balconies of the Atlantic.

Keep Insured.

Mr. W. H. Wilfong, whose house was burned some short time since, had his property insured in the Va. F. & M. Co., through the Hickory Fire Insurance Agency, L. G. Hay & Co., managers. They have settled in full with Mr. Wilfong for his loss, the same company satisfactorily adjusted to all concerned. This enables Mr. Wilfong to now rebuild, which he says he will commence to do at once. About a year ago this same building was struck by lightning, and for which he then received through Mr. Hay for the Co., a considerable amount for damages, although fire didn't occur.

All of this goes to show the great importance of keeping your property well protected by insurance against loss or damage from fire, or lightning.

The above agency is comprised of a member of first class standard and old companies.

Magazine Notes.

The June number of the Old Homestead contains Cleopatra by H. Rider Haggard, Bentley's Bride, by Wiegand, and aftermath by a brilliant young Georgia lady, all of which are fascinating serials. There are a number of short stories and choice miscellaneous matters. It is the only magazine at a literary character in the South. Sample copy and premium list sent on applications, Savannah Ga.

Arthur's Home Magazine for July contains the opening chapters of the Kennedys of Braddocks, a new serial by Miss M. G. McClelland, and eight or ten choice short stories. The Home Circle, Home Decoration, Fashioned and various other Departments are well filled. This is one of the best magazines published. Send 15ct for specimen copy to 308 Walnut St. Philadelphia.
