The Reader of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

The people of this section will never get a better local newspaper than the PRESS AND CAROLINIAN is today, and it behooves them to sustain it as far as they can by their patronage.

Carlton Cornwell, foreman of the Gazette, Middletown, N. J., believes that Chamberlain's Cough Remedy should be in every home. He used it for a cold and it effected a speedy cure. He says: "It is indeed a grand remedy. I can recommend to all. I have also seen it used for whooping cough, with the best results." 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by O. M. Royster Drug-gist. 1-4t

The public school closes next week.

Col. M. E. Thornton was at Bridge-water Friday.

Dr. Johnson visited Morganton professionally Friday.

Mr. D. H. Russell was at Granite Thursday of last week.

Dr. W. L. A. Bernethy was sick last week but obeyed the injunction, Physician heal thyself!

Miss Mary Roseborough will occupy the Menzies building, on Main street, with her stock of millinery, about Feb. 1st.

Mr. P. C. Setzer and wife have gone to housekeeping in the neat little dwelling east of the residence of Mr. D. P. Crouse.

The Weather Bureau reports, now being daily transmitted to Hickory, have so far been quite accurate in forecasting the weather.

Mrs. Pierce Abernethy, near Penelope, died Tuesday, Jan. 15th. Her mortal remains were interred the following day in Arny's churchyard.

Messrs. Allen & Leonard received a shipment of goods from Richmond, Va., on the 17th inst., and, when the goods were opened, they discovered a shortage of 75 pairs of shoes.

Mr. J. C. Fry, one of our prominent contractors and builders, went hunting recently, took cold, and the asthma, his ever-watchful enemy, grappled him and confined him to his house all of last week.

Miss Julia Sullivan, who came to Hickory a couple of years ago, stopping with Mrs. M. E. Thornton for quite a long time, we regret to say, is now quite low with consumption at her home in Danvers, Mass.

The Henry Weidner Memorial pamphlet will be issued from this office not later than the next term of the Catawba Superior Court. Those wishing copies can address us now enclosing 25 cents, the price per pamphlet.

Mr. E. Bryant Jones writes us from Radford, Va., that the snow throughout that section January 16, was 12 inches deep and that the thermometer was 18 degrees below zero. He says there is no place yet like old North Carolina and especially Hickory.

On Friday we had the pleasure of meeting Mr. G. M. Long, of Boone, who was in the city en route to Charlotte. We found Mr. Long an intelligent well-informed gentleman. We trust when he visits Hickory he will not forget to pull our latchstring.

The departure of Mrs. A. A. Shuford for Florida has left her husband quite desolate. He looks already like he might have been wrestling with the la grippe or touched by the "frazzled" edge of a howling cyclone. If he pulls through it will be wholly due to the vigor of his constitution.

Mr. J. E. Abee has done an excellent job of painting on the storeroom fixed up for the millinery establishment of Miss Mary Roseborough. If we can accurately judge an artist by his work, and we know of no better method, then Mr. Abee is a most excellent workman and, with pleasure, we ask for him a liberal patronage from the public.

"A little farm well tilled,
A little cellar well filled,
A little wife well willed."
What could you wish a man better than that? The last is not the least by any means, but how can a wife be well willed if she be the victim of those distressing maladies that make her life a burden? Let her take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and cure all painful irregularities, uterine disorders, inflammation and ulceration, prolapsus and kindred weaknesses. It is a boon and a blessing to women. Thousands are in the bloom of health through using it, when otherwise they would be under the sod. Are you a sufferer? Use it, or some day we may read—
A little wife self willed,
Rosewood coffin early filled,
Spite of doctor well skilled.

It appears from an old manuscript that Henry Clay was not merely the father of "the American system," but one of the progenitors of the American spell-binder's questionable custom of writing "applause" and "great applause" in reports of his speeches made to the newspapers in advance of their oral delivery to the public. The orators who have followed after the Great Commoner find that it is easier to imitate his weak than his strong points.

FITS CURED
(From U. S. Journal of Medicine.)
Prof. W. H. Pecke, who makes a specialty of Epilepsy, has without doubt treated and cured more cases than any living Physician; his success is astonishing. We have heard of cases of 20 years' standing cured by him. He publishes a valuable work on this disease which he sends with a large bottle of his absolute cure, free to any sufferer who may send their P. O. and Express address. We advise anyone wishing a cure to address, Prof. W. H. PEEKE, F. D., 4 Cedar St., New York.

The Knights of Pythias at their regular meeting the night of Jan. 17th, installed the following officers: T. E. Field, Chancellor Commander; J. A. Martin, Vice Chancellor Commander; Frank Ingold, Prelate; Dr. W. B. Rainsay, Master of the Work; B. F. Campbell, Master at Arms; C. C. Bost, Master of Exchequer; K. C. Menzies, Master of Finance; W. X. Reid, Keeper of Records and Seals; J. F. Abernethy, Inner-Guard; J. K. Fisher, Outer-Guard. The induction of the above named officers was deferred one week on account of the weather.

The New Year.

Finds Hood's Sarsaparilla leading everything in the way of medicines in three important particulars namely: Hood's Sarsaparilla has,
1. The largest sale in the world. It accomplishes
1. The greatest cures in the world. It has
3. The largest Laboratory in the world.
What more can be said? Hood's Sarsaparilla has merit; it is peculiar to itself, and most of all, Hood's Sarsaparilla cures. If you are sick, it is the medicine for you to take. 2-4t

Saying that North Carolina should, along with the balance of the country, celebrate the 8th of January, "the day on which one of North Carolina's greatest sons gave the British such a tremendous thrashing at New Orleans," the Wilmington Messenger adds:

But North Carolina will not celebrate the 20th May, the anniversary of the most glorious event in its history, when the patriots of Mecklenburg proclaimed their independence more than 134 months before the Philadelphia Declaration was adopted. We verily believe that no other State would fail to have a big time if it really had such a big day in its calendar. Bunker Hill and Concord and Alamance and Moore's Creek Bridge were small affairs compared with the Mecklenburg Declaration of Independence. North Carolina should celebrate it with parades and orations and rejoicings.

So she should, but in some respects we North Carolinians are a curious folk.—Charlotte Observer 12th.

Cure for Headache.

As a remedy for all forms of Headache Electric Bitters has proved to be the very best. It effects a permanent cure and the most dreaded habitual sick headaches, yield to its influence. We urge all who are afflicted to procure a bottle, and give this remedy a fair trial. In cases of habitual constipation Electric Bitters cures by giving the needed tone to the bowels, and few cases long resist the use of this medicine. Try it once. Large bottles only Fifty cents at O. M. Royster's Drug Store. 2

The Atlanta Journal speaking of Col. Robert Ingersoll coming there to lecture, says:

Ingersoll has been delivering these lectures for fifteen years or more. Has any one of the many thousands who have heard him been made happier or better by any word he has uttered? Has his philosophy made a single human being more capable of meeting the duties and trials of this life or better fitted for the life hereafter which even Ingersoll admits may exist? The only possible effect of this man's message is to create doubt and uncertainty. He may destroy the faith of some but he offers nothing in the place of that which he tears down.

Again the Journal truthfully says: The happiest people we know are those who have the most implicit religious faith. Their lives give daily evidence that there is power in the convictions they hold of their duty toward God and man. We see men and women every day practicing self-denial, doing deeds of kindness and rising to heights of moral heroism because they worship a God whom they believe directs them along such lines of conduct. Stronger than all the laws of our statute books, steeper than all the pillars which we have set beneath the fabric of our government is the moral power of the Christian religion which abides in the hearts of the masses of our people. Without this source of self-restraint and of active benevolence government would be insecure, society selfish and corrupt and life one mad and reckless wrangle.

What Christmas Has Done for the World.

It is incalculable what Christmas and the spirit of Christmas has done and is doing for the world. The sun that rises on that day in our northern latitude may not melt the ice in the streams or the frost on the window panes, but there is no sun like it for thawing the human heart throughout Christendom. There is no day like it for assuaging enmities, and reviving tender memories, and drawing together the estranged, and narrowing the gulf between classes. During this day the world is a brotherhood. In the wondrous birth of a child all the world renews for some hours its childish faith and simplicity. The spirit of this event prevails far beyond the circles where it is regarded as a reality.

Thanks They Are Great Men.

The Washington Post is responsible for the following about the sage of the sloping farm at Buck Shoals, N. C. Whenever Bill Nye, who is now a resident of Washington, is allowed leave of absence by his wife, he hies himself to the Senate end of the Capitol and from the lofty perch of the press gallery gazes with innocent curiosity upon the statesmen in that dignified body. It is hard to imagine just what the bond of attraction is for William Edgar. He does not seem to know himself. There is, to be sure, an atmosphere of tobacco smoke and genius which is possibly congenial to Mr. Nye's lungs, or it may be that the intense seriousness of the Senate is a happy contrast to the hilarity in which he lives, moves, and has his being. At any rate, whatever the cause, the famous humorist has more than a passing penchant for Senatorial company. Up to the present time he observes Senatorial greatness from afar. He speaks of a Senator in an awed whisper, and would as soon think of cracking a joke about one of the grave and reverend gentlemen as he would of cracking a safe. The day of his irreverence has not yet come.

Mr. Nye has an inquisitive turn of mind. He wanted to know, when he was at the Capitol the other day, all about Senator Proctor's annual distribution of maple syrup, of Mr. Power's experience among the vigilantes, of Mr. Washburn's great miling enterprises, of Mr. Gibson's terrapin farm, and of Mr. McMillan's railroad syndicates. He began, too, to make a study of whiskers a la Dolph, a la Peffer, and a la Stewart. But there was one thing that excited his envy, stirred his soul with admiration, and seemed worthy of all emulation. It was the masterly inactivity of half a dozen Senators who sat for three consecutive hours doing nothing and looking wise. "When I can sit still for half a day, do nothing and get paid for it," he said, "my cup of happiness will be filled." "But these are great men," was suggested. "It must be so," he replied, with the faintest suggestion of a twinkle in the blue eyes behind his spectacles, "for they admit it themselves."

AN IMPORTANT CLUB OFFER
SCRIBNER'S MAGAZINE
By special arrangement with the publishers we are enabled to offer SCRIBNER'S MAGAZINE for 1895 and a full year's subscription to PRESS AND CAROLINIAN for $3.50. If purchased separately these periodicals would cost $4.50.

It is the Plan of Scribner's to give its readers next year a history of the past 25 years in the United States, (1866-95.) These years have been unparalleled in the history of the world for national development and material progress. The narrative will be written in a graphic and picturesque style by President Andrews, of Brown University, and capable artists will illustrate it. ROBERT GRANT, whose "Reflections of a Married Man" will long be remembered, has written a series of articles on "The Art of Living," in which he sets himself to solve, as far as such problems can be solved, questions which beset every well-to-do family: "The Income—The Dwelling—Household Expenses—Education of Children—Married and Single Life—The Summer Problem, etc., etc. Beautifully Illustrated.
GEORGE MEREDITH, whom more than one good authority has pronounced the greatest of living novelists, has written a strong serial, "The Amazing Marriage," to begin in January.
W. D. HOWELLS will contribute a novel entitled "The Story of a Place."
In the Land of Don Quixote will be a series of three sketches illustrated by a number of Daniel Vierge's wonderful drawings. Single articles in great variety have been arranged for and the illustrations will be elaborate.
SCRIBNER'S for 1895 will be better than ever. If you desire only SCRIBNER'S MAGAZINE remit $3.00 to the Publisher:

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Aug. 13th, 1893.
—I can speak in the highest terms of your medicine. I have only taken one bottle of your P. P. P., and can cheerfully say it has done me more good than anything I have ever taken. can recommend your medicine to all sufferers of the above diseases.
MRS. M. M. YEARY,
Springfield, Green County, Mo.
Testimony from the Mayor of Sevin, Tex.
SEVIN, TEX., January 15, 1893.
MESSRS. LIPPMAN BROS., Savannah, Ga.: Gentlemen—I have tried your P. P. P. for a disease of the skin, usually known as skin cancer, of thirty years' standing, and found great relief; it purifies the blood and removes all irritation from the seat of the disease and prevents any spreading of the sores. I have taken five or six bottles and feel confident that another course will effect a cure. It has also relieved me from indigestion and stomach troubles. Yours truly,
CAPT. W. M. RUST,
Attorney at Law.
