Messrs. Latham, Alexander & Co., the great cotton brokers of New York, have just issued a circular letter of much information about cotton, but which appears, it seems, in a certain particular, to be at variance with the statements of Mr. Hester, of New Orleans. However, cotton is not now in our line.

The Discovery Saved His Life. Mr. G. Caillouette, Druggist, Beaversville, Ill., says: "To Dr. King's New Discovery I owe my life. Was taken with La Grippe and tried all the physicians for miles about, but of no avail and was given up and told I could not live. Having Dr. King's New Discovery in my store I sent for a bottle and began its use and from the first dose began to get better, and after using three bottles was up and about again. It is worth its weight in gold. We won't keep store or house without it." Get a free trial at Royster's Drug Store.

JACOB'S FORK.

Newsy Letter From Our Old Correspondent.

EDITOR PRESS AND CAROLINIAN: I would take the liberty of asking you for a short space in the columns of your valuable paper for an item of news, though news is rather scarce in this neck of the woods.

The farmers are very busy in preparing their lands for another crop of corn and cotton.

Wheat is beginning to make a show on the fields; oats is making a poor show.

There has been a great deal said in this portion of the county about that new purported mortgage system, and has made some business rather on the stand still.

The general health is good. A few persons are sick. Andrew R. Yoder is confined to his room in a critical condition. John W. Helton's son, who had been kicked by a plow while plowing, is also improving. Old uncle Samuel Blackburn is also improving from his spell of sickness. A few days ago Daniel C. Shuford's wife died, aged 86 years.

FITS CURED

(From U. S. Journal of Medicine.) Prof. W. H. PEEKE, who makes a specialty of Epilepsy, has without doubt treated and cured more cases than any living Physician; his success is astonishing. We have heard of cases of 20 years' standing cured by him. He publishes a valuable work on this disease which he sends with a large bottle of his absolute cure, free to a sufferer who may send their P.O. and Express address. We advise anyone wishing a cure to address, Prof. W. H. PEEKE, P. O., 4 Cedar St., New York.

DEER FOR MEAT.

The Best and most Delicious in the World. Dried Venison. The Richest of All Meats.

In Germany they are Raised for Market and America might take the Hint.

The raising of deer for food is an established German industry that has attracted the attention of the United States Consul General at Berlin, Mr. Charles deKay, and he has made it the subject of a report to the State Department. He suggests that the same work could be done in America, under even better conditions, and would probably be more profitable here than in Germany. He says:

"The abundance and excellence of venison cannot fail to strike the attention of those who live in German cities. It is a common dish, practically all the year round: its price is so moderate that only the poorest classes fail to taste it now and then. The reason for this is the high cultivation of forestry and the care with which deer are bred, fed, and protected from poachers.

"Considering the excellence of venison as food, and the small cost of rearing herds of deer under proper protection, it is in America especially that steps to form practical deer parks might be easy and of profit. In the neighborhood of great cities the supply of water has to be regulated by the preservation of large districts of more or less mountainous, more or less woody country. In New York, for example, the Adirondacks and the watershed of the Croton River are, or are to be, reserved for reasons affecting the water supply of New York City, and of a large part of the State—directly or indirectly affecting it. It is in such districts that a scientific breeding of deer might be carried on with small cost, relatively speaking. The annual killing and sale of animals of the proper sort would furnish an income far beyond the aggregate of salaries for overseers, foresters, and guards.

"Of late the problem of improvement on the indigenous red deer of Europe has occupied various gentlemen in North Germany, among whom of special note is Herr Winter of Berlin. He has been experimenting for the last decade on the American wapiti (Cervus major Americanus) as a cross on the small native red deer (Cervus elephas) in order to obtain a larger, heavier, more meaty animal, and thus increase the value of Prussia's deer herds.

"Mr. Winter has been successful in every way. By removing the does of wapiti and supplying the red does with young wapiti stags only, he obtained the desired cross. Between 1887 and 1890 he gained forty half-breeds from such unions, and he now has eighty-six. They are regularly of very much greater size than the red deer. He has also proved that wapiti and red deer are related through their ancestry, because the half-breeds are not sterile, are not mules, but breed readily to red deer or to wapiti again. Wapiti were first brought to Europe in 1835, but did not do well in England or on the Continent. But some of them left half-breed descendants in Silesia, and in 1876 the late Euepror William I. shot a stag of twenty-two points, weighing 500 German pounds. Now, however, the certainty of the practical benefits of the cross has been demonstrated, and more wapiti are to be imported from America to still further enlarge the structure and strengthen the breed of the deer in North Germany.

"In the United States forests wild animals have been cut off with a recklessness which is bringing its own punishment, or has already brought evils. It seems well to call the attention of individuals, clubs, corporations, and States to the folly of neglecting any longer the formation of parks, and furthermore to point out the way to a supply of food which is savory and can be made reasonably cheap. Large tracts of hill range and woodland, now absolutely necessary to the water systems of cities, must be carefully watched and guarded in any case. They might be stocked with wapiti and Virginia deer, and the herds then regularly decimated to supply the markets with wholesome food."

Unrestricted Equality Woman's Ruin.

Cardinal Kopp, of Germany, has issued a pastoral letter concerning woman's rights and the agitation in favor of equal political privileges for all. He says: "It is against the order of the world that the emancipation of woman should mean her absolute equality with men. God's will is that woman should be the helpmate. She is bodily unfit for man's work, and her emancipation, to the end that she might work side by side with man, would mean the deterioration of the Christianity that freed her from slavery and made her man's social equal. Unrestricted equality would mean woman's ruin."

A Peculiar Drowning.

Last Monday morning some employees of the Catawba River Lumber Co. were at work just above the log boom. They were in a boat, and being busy, never looked up the river. All at once a huge wooden structure rose from the water and crashed the boat, drowning a man named Bull.

It will be remembered by our people that the John's river bridge, about which there has been much trouble and litigation between the county of Burke and the lumber company, washed away Monday morning. Well, the above is explained by the fact that the bridge floated down the river nearly intact and swamped the boat with the men in it.

An eye witness says the bridge floated along lazily till within a few rods of the men in the boat when it sank below the surface, and when right at the boat, with a peculiar serpentine movement, one end of the floating bridge rose from the water momentarily and fell on the boat, crushing it. This is a very peculiar accident in view of the fact that the lumber company had a man killed by the bridge they have been litigating about.—Morganton Herald.

The latest number of Toilettes, which is recognized more and more as the best and the most authentic fashion magazine, adds another triumph to its publishers' achievements. The cover page in itself is a fashion plate of surpassing beauty, containing a colored presentation of the latest chef d'oeuvre by Doucet, a lady's toilette in magenta, white and green. This illustration is surrounded halfway by a fragrant wreath of apple blossoms, in life like delicacy of tinting and almost tempting the beholder to inhale their perfume. Judging from last month's issue, which brought us a beautiful design in Easter lilies, we should assume that Toilette intends to continue illustrating each monthly issue with a floral design appropriate to the season; and a most happy idea it is. The interior page of Toilettes, fully justify the expectations aroused by the cover, and instead of the 28 pages promised to its subscribers, Toilettes gives actually 36, all brimful of reliable information, and handsomely illustrated with the creations of Parisian modistes of world wide reputation. No less than 135 separate designs are given in the May number. Price 10 cents. At all book and newsdealers.

A GREAT COUGH REMEDY.

Perhaps you may think that Scott's Emulsion is only useful to fatten babies, to round up the angles and make comely and attractive, lean and angular women, and fill out the hollow cheeks and stop the wasting of the consumptive, and enrich and vitalize the blood of the scrofulous and anæmic persons. It will do all this—but it will do more. It will cure a when the ordinary cough syrups and specifics entirely fail. The cough that lingers after the Grip and Pneumonia will be softened and cured by the balsamic healing and strengthening influences of this beneficent food-medicine, namely, Scott's Emulsion of Cod-liver Oil and Hypophosphites of Lime and Soda.

Uses Mexican Mustang Liniment. Sprain cured and crutches thrown away. Bad Gall on his horse's neck cured in 3 days.

DURHAM, N. C., Jan. 11, 1895. Lynn Mfg. Co., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Gentlemen:—For fifteen years I have used Mexican Mustang Liniment, and I consider it the best liniment on earth; I am never without it. I recently used it on a bad gall on my horse's neck and it cured it in three days. I had, also, a bad sprain in my leg and had to use crutches several days. As soon as I began to use Mustang Liniment I felt relief, and in a few days was entirely well. I recommend it to any one needing a liniment for horses or for self, with confidence that they will get their money's worth. Yours, JNO. R. HUTCHINGS. Of Carrington & Huttenings, Prop's of Ream's Warehouse, Durham, N. C.
