THE REFORMERS REFORM.

"There appears to be some peoples in dis assembly vot dont like my sentiments."

This was the energetic and self complacent remark of the late General Von Zinken. The remainder of his expletive is unnecessary. But the quotation fills the bill or pill as applied to the Democratic hyfaylutin. conventing—splitting, party-bursting, office-seeking people, bound for Heaven and Good Government on the tail and of a Reform kite struck by lightning a dumfounded by thunder before they got half way there in second hand golden chariot party. "Reform" is a gold spoon out of which any crop-winged or full fledged duck can splutter cold soup at half cost to the owner and without spilling it on his apron; but it takes a sound-sense, honest hearted, thorough-bred good man to get on the house tops in Escalon or curb stones and street corners in Hickory and sing psalms for half dead horses to eat weevil-gonged peas and dance hornpipes by without being a Reformer. Some people have done so much to Reform for that they will not get half way through Reforming before Gabriel blows his gold bazoo and they have to march off to walk on gold mounted streets in the new Jerusalem in a half unreformed condition. "Reform!" Every thing has had to be "reformed." The reforming process has got into such vogue and gone so far that the old fashioned way of going to Heaven without wings is entirely effete and now they want to fly off on gold-mounted wings. Let the gold-bugs and June-bugs fly on such cumbersome wings, but Jay birds will catch them before they get half way there. Reform every thing. But do not reform yourself. You are already too good for this world. Reform the government; reform the state; reform your county and town, even to the policeman, but do not reform yourself. Talk gold and put gold in your pocket and get above the common herd of low down trash and hard working people, you will be thought something of by the Mugwump Club as you march in at the back door and ask for reserved seats for Reformers on the back row of the upper gallery. Reform your way of masticating food and avoid the appendicitis. Sit on the crank and let some one else turn it. Clog the wheels of progress and stop the whole business if you cannot have your way in doing it; even in your way of Reforming. Got no right to Reform unless they Reform just like you want them to Reform. Reform in line and march to the tune of Cleveland's gold standard. Make him make diamonds—pure ones—the standard, instead of gold. There are, as compared, enough pure diamonds—among the few—to start out a Reform on in this single standard instead of gold. Gold is too common and cheap.

Our friend, the Louisville Times, sentimentally remarked the other day as follows: "Thomas Potts and Lula Russell were married in the County Court-room. They were in a hurry to catch a train."

Shucks! That is no good excuse. They could have caught the train and then got married.

A PROTECTIVE TARIFF.

Talk about Protective Tariff! The facts are that no government can be maintained without a Revenue. The proposition is respectfully submitted that, the United States cannot maintain a gold, or single, standard unless the Nation levys a protective tariff and also requires its payment in gold coin.

If the gold standard stands, and the double standard is not adopted, then the United States must have resort to a protective tariff payable only in gold. This must of necessity be the recourse as it will and is the only source from whence it can demand and receive a revenue in gold, with which to maintain a gold standard. This leads to the proposition that England is playing—as the game and also saying, goes, right square into the hands of the United States; provided the United States adopts the high protective tariff payable only in gold. It is difficult to conceive of a more pleasing beatitude than the fruition of this, however incongruous, public situation and devoutly-to-be-wished condition. The United States can stand such a single standard gold racket with the balance of the world and its balance of trade, if the balance of the world can stand such a beautiful financial condition of affairs. Bring on the single gold standard with the high protective tariff to be paid only in gold. It will lead to Elysian fields at the pearly gates of Elysium.

Cleveland is the President who stopped the payment the requirement of the payment of the tariff duties to be paid in gold. He is the great unsubsidized, as it were, who Reformed the tariff. Yet he has never let the people know whether he has looked across the bridge to see where he is going to land this great American people. We could carry this thing from the Apple to the egg, but here is enough to think over for a period of time.

SEND US YOUR ADVERTISEMENT.

Next week's PRESS AND CAROLINIAN will be brim full of news and a regular stem winder in the way of "git up and git." Its breezy editorials and other comment, which are so highly appreciated by all classes of people, including those who do not like it, will be continued and in fact increased in force and vigor. Therefore this is to say that this is the time and the place to advertise everything that you have for sale and for everything which you want. Please let us have your advertisements as early as possible—even by Monday or Tuesday afternoon.

Remember; we will help you if you help us. The PRESS AND CAROLINIAN circulates into nine counties adjoining Catawba county, besides its immense circulation in Catawba county. It also has subscribers in nearly every State and Territory in the United States. It is the source through which to reach the yeomanry, the honest, debt-paying people in this section of the moral vineyard. Send us your advertisement and also send us your name as a subscriber or if you are already on the list get your neighbor or friend to send us his name as a subscriber.

England has been domineering the world as long as the world is going to stand it. A full fledged, high-hedged army and navy proof, pig-tight rebellion against this land and money squeezing insolent policy and pursuit is now near at hand. Let her come. The quicker the better.

Those who think the Silver advocates will be knocked out in the National Democratic Convention next year on the two-thirds rule will have to continue to think some more. It will take a majority of the Convention to adopt the two-thirds rule.

"MY BUDDIE AND I."

In the coal mines and ore mines of any kind it is a common and general thing for two or more men to work together. That is, never less than two. Because in the event an accident should occur one of them may be able to take care of the other, and also on the principle that two men can work together better than one. Invariably these men call one another "Buddie;" or "My Buddie and I." Col. Marcellus Eugene Thornton, the Editor of the PRESS AND CAROLINIAN, who was the largest owner in a five hundred thousand dollar coal mine in the Jellico region and its President and General Manager during eight years and who had riots and strikes and sweet peace, is writing a Novel with the title of "My Buddie and I." It will be readily observed that this subject can be treated in many different ways: A man's wife is his "Buddie." A Lady's husband is her "Buddie."

The Novel will be decidedly breezy in style and architecture; and conventionalites will cut no prominent figure in the work, but will not be set at naught. He says: "It will beat the Jews, and they beat the world."

Col Thornton has two or three other Novels or works of Fiction or something on that line, which may be hurled broadcast upon the unsuspecting public at any moment whether opportune or inopportune. It may be stated here privately while he is absent—fishing—that some few months ago he hired an amanuensis—(both short h. and type w.)—to assist in a Novel to compete in the New York Herald Prize offer of ten thousand dollars, which closes on July 1st.; but the Colonel went a fishing and "busted" or solved the whole conundrum by making the finest catch of the whole season and forgot all about the Novel.

It can be stated however, upon authority, that he will be heard from in the Literary field at no far distant day.

This is why he wishes more than for any other reason, to abandon the newspaper business.

If the Lord Roseberry Government in England is defeated or resigns, it will no doubt be replaced by a Lord Salisbury Cabinet with his nephew Sir Arthur Balfour as Leader of the House of Commons. He is a strong advocate of silver or bimetalism and would lead the government in this line. This would bring about an international agreement on the subject almost surely. Lord Roseberry has been tainted. He is a widower but his deceased wife was a Rothschild; and no doubt the Rothschild influence has had some bearing on his course on this question, as well as others. But Lord Roseberry was only the political lesuary legatee of Mr. Wm. Ewart Gladstone, the grand old man of the world in all save his monometallic heresy. But he never took on this phase until dotting age came on apace.

Senator Stewart of Nevada, is a "Jim Dandy." He is not one of Seismic-Tenton origin, or in plainer words, a Jew-Dutchman, or "Dandy Jim," but plain Jim Dandy. He has been out in Kentucky recently making speeches for his friend, our cousin, Joe Blackburn, and the cause of silver. The Cincinnati Enquirer, a first-class, red hot honest money (silver) paper, interviewed the silver headed, more than 70 year old Statesman through its Louisville, Ky., correspondent, and got some very sensible and cogent points about politics and some politicians. The Enquirer heads its column telegraphic report from the Galt House in Louisville as follows: "Hot words Senator Stewart hurled at the head of every gold bug in America. 'John Sherman the wickedest man ever born of woman.' The South and West can be solidified for free silver and sweep the country in '96."

A large portion of the remainder of the long telegram will be found in our news columns in this issue.

Senator Stewart is coming to North Carolina later. He may be induced to invest in some of our Catawba or Burke county gold mines, as he announces his willingness to sell his interest in his silver mines in the West for twenty dollars.

Recently Mr. Adolph G. Bauer, an architect of Raleigh, N. C., was married in Washington, D. C., to Miss Rachel Blythe, a Cherokee Indian lady of the Indian tribe still remaining in North Carolina. There is an old law in the Statutes of this State it seems which prohibits the intermarriage of Whites and Indians to the third generation inclusive. It is stated that the marriage is invalid in this State on account of this law. There can be no greater mistake. But this is an important interstate law question that should be settled under the practice of the District of Columbia, which is controlled by Federal Statute and therefore paramount in such cases, extends such comity to marriages, whether of Indians to whites or blacks to whites, the State of North Carolina is bound also to extend the same comity. Besides, if they are legally married in any State of the Union they are therefore lawfully married in one, married in all. So the mare's nest, while full of downy feathers is not so bad as some would seem to think.

DR. HARTMAN'S TREATMENT.

How it Happens that Every Woman in the United States Can Obtain His Treatment Free.

The question is often asked. How can Dr. Hartman afford to direct the treatment of so many women without charging anything? As was announced two months ago, the Doctor proposes to direct the treatment (absolutely free) of all women afflicted of any kind of female derangement who apply to him by letter. The question is, How can such a renowned physician and surgeon afford to do this?

This is the way it is done: The Peruna Drug Manufacturing Company are the sole manufacturers of Dr. Hartman's famous remedies, extensively used in all parts of the United States. This Company receives thousands of letters from women who are using these remedies, asking for some detail of treatment. Many of these questions are such that only Dr. Hartman could answer them. They therefore concluded to secure Dr. Hartman to direct the treatment of these patients. This brings the personal advice of Dr. Hartman within the reach of every afflicted woman in the United States, free. As the Company manufactures Dr. Hartman's remedies, they are thus able to bear the enormous expense of providing every woman with free advice. Send address, age, symptoms, duration of sickness to Dr. Hartman, and a prompt answer will be given.

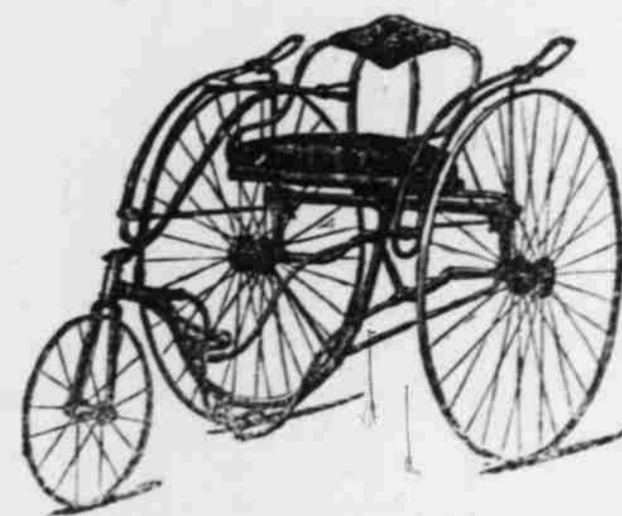

A valuable pamphlet devoted to diseases of the female sex is now being sent free to any address by the Peruna Drug Manufacturing Company of Columbus, Ohio.

For free book on cancer address Dr. Hartman, Columbus, Ohio.
