C. and Va. have decided to move the Theological Seminary from Hampden-Sydney, Va. to Richmond, Va. The Synod compliments Mr. Boyd on his management of Orphanage near Statesville. The Synod meets in 1896 at Newbern.

We have just heard that some of our neighbor towns have given out the report that our town is full of Typhoid fever. This is untrue, we have had only four deaths this summer from Typhoid fever. We have had several other deaths but they positively were not from fever. We are sincerely sorry such a report should be circulated and hope all papers will do us the very great kindness to copy this.

Mrs. G. C. Bonniwell and daughters, Misses Norma and Joe, started last Thursday evening for Philadelphia to visit Mrs. Bonniwell's mother. They expect to remain a month or more. Miss Norma has the plans to draw for a $50,000.00 hotel to be erected at Waynesville, N. C., and upon her return will do this work and she and Miss Joe expect to go north to school. Miss Norma is a splendid architect and Miss Joe is an artist. Miss Norma is the second lady architect in the south and we are proud our town is the posessor of so brilliant a young lady. They went by the Seaboard Air Line.

The wife of Mr. Leonard Wells, of East Brim ield, Mass., had been suffering from neuralgia for two days, not being able to sleep or hardly keep still when Mr. Holden, the merchant there sent her a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm, and asked that she give it a thorough trial. On meeting Mr. Wells the next day he was told that she was all right, the pain had left her within two hours, and that the bottle of Pain Balm was worth $5.00 if it could not be had for less. For sale at 50 cents per bottle by O. M. Royster, Druggist.

The Shape of the Earth.

A country schoolmaster was coaching his pupils for the yearly examination, and having before him the junior class in geography he asked:

"Can any little boy or girl tell me the shape of the earth?"

To this there was no answer. "Oh dear me." said he, "this is sad! Well I'll give you a token to mind it. What is the shape o' this snuffbox in my "Square, sir," replied all.

"Yes, but on the Sabbath day, whin I change ma cloes, I change this sauffbox for a round one. Will you mind that for a token?"

Examination day came, and the class was called.

"Can any little boy or girl tell what is the shape of the earth?"

Every hand was extended, every head thrown back and every eye flashed with excitement. One little fellow was singled out with a "You, my little fellow tell us."

Electric Bittens.

Electric Bitters is a medicine for any season but perhaps more generally needed, when the languid exhausted feeling prevails, when the liver is torpid and sluggish and the need of a tonic and alterative is felt. A prompt use of this medicine has often averted long and perhaps fatal bilious fevers. No medicine will act more surely in counteracting and freeing the system from the malarial poison. Headache, Indigestion, Constipation, Dizziness vield to Electric Bitters. 50c. and $1.00 per bottle at O. M. Roysters Drug Store.

Our thanks are due Mr. James H. Enniss, publisher of Turner's N. C. Almanae, for a copy which is just out. Turner's N. C. Almanac, the "Old Reliable," is a faithful and valuable publication. There is no other to compare with it. It is needed every year by the merchant, lawyer, doctor, farmer, housekeeper. In fact, everybody should have Turner's N. C. Almanac, If you have never had one in your home, buy the Almanac of 1896 and hang it by your fireplace for reference and you will never go without one. Price only 10 cents for 64 pages of valuable information and any page is worth it. The Almanac is for sale by merchants, druggists, postmasters, etc., or by the publisher, Jas. H. Enniss, Raleigh, N. C.

"WHYS" FOR WOMEN.

With a Few Corresponding Queries for the Other Sex.

A young man who has always been much interested in woman, says the Chicago Record, would like an answer to the following questions:

Why a woman doesn't keep her shoes blacked?

Why she doesn't wear her bair in the way that is most becoming to her, instead of spoiling her head by an unbecoming arrangement, because it is "stylish?"

Why she allows a man to smoke when on the street with her?

Why she permits such an abomination as a cuspidor to come into her

Why she doesn't stop talking about her servant girl? Ditto about her clothes?

Why she doesn't wear hats that cannot be spoiled by a damp day? Why she ever chews guin? Why she doesn't renounce the words "cute "nice and "perfectly grand" when talking of a sunset or a beefsteak? Why she persists in filing her nails to a sharp point? Why she sits on one foot when she wants to be "comfortable?" Why her card clubs always end in a big row?

And a woman would like to know about the lord of creation:

Why he smokes cigarettes after all that is admitted on that subject?

Why he doesn't wear the necktieshis wife buys for him? Why he is profane on the street where women are passing, and whenthere's no occasion for it? Why he eats bakery pie and doughnuts and then wonders that he has indigestion?

Why he thinks it's bright cynical tosneer at women and women's work. Why he insults his stomach by taking mixtures over a bar? Why he can't lie on a couch without getting the pillows into hard knotsunder his head, thus nearly dislocating his neek?

Why he groans so when he has a little pain?

Why he thinks he is going to die if he has ever so slight a cold?

Then and Now. An artist painted a picture of innocence-a gentle boy it was, sitting with a hold of his mother's hand. Many years after, he wished to paint as a companion-piece, a representation of gilt; and for this purpose he sought and obtained admission to a condemned criminal in his cell. He madethis poor wretch his model, and produced a picture of remorse and anguish truly affecting. He then brought in the former picture, that, by placing: the two side by side, he might be betterable to judge of the effect. The moment the eyes of the prisoner felk upon this one, he was greatly excited and burst into tears. He recalled an episode of his boyhood. The truth was, he had been the model for both pondered. No one day leaves any man as it found him; for just as serworse—more strengthened for good or KKIL, 678 Selby Ave., St. Paul, Minn. more inclined to evil. For sale by O. M. Royster, Druggist. more inclined to evil.

A FLORIST'S INVENTION.

An Automatic Alarm on a Sudden Change of Weather.

A florist in Chattanooga, Tenn., named John Karsten, has invented a novel alarm to warn him that his flowers are freezing. The climatic conditions of East Tennessee are such that a man may sometimes go to bed with the roses in bloom and wake up to find them covered with snow. Of course that sort of thing is hard on florists, and Mr. Karsten has been loosing flowers, which are money to him, for several years. He lay awake nights trying to devise some means to save himself from such loss, and finally invented an automaticalarm worked by the contraction and expansion of a thin piece of steel which is attached to a thermometer hung just cutside of his window, the thermometer in turn being connected with a bell at his bedside by an insulated wire. Whenever the mercury drops below 45, the steel snaps and turus on the alarm, the bell rings above him and the florist gets up and covers his flowers.

Coincidences will Never Cease.

A pretty story of two soldiers comes from Louisville, says the Cincinnati Tribune, and repeated by the Enoxville Tribune. They had been dear triends, boys together, almost brothers before the war. One, Peter Maloy, a native of Trimble county, Kentucky, became a member of the Fourth, Kentucky Confederate cavalry. At the battle of Rheatown, Tenn., he fell from his horse dangerously wounded. His upturned face about to be trampled upon by some charging trooper was seen and recognized by the friend of his youth, Henry Blevins, of the Nineteenth Kansas who carried him off the field and watched over him for two days. The federal army w forced to fall back to Knoxville, and Blevins had to bid adieu to his confederate charge. Maloy's leg was amputated, and after a while he recovered. When the war was over Blevins returned to Kansas. After thirty years they met at the G. A. R. encampment at Louisville. On comparing fortunes it was found that Maloy had married a long lost sister of Blevins.
