

The North Carolina

Successor to the Weekly News and Observer

and the Farmer and Mechanic.

VOLUME XXIV. NUMBER 25.

RALEIGH, NORTH CAROLINA, FRIDAY, JUNE 17, 1897.

PRICE $1.00 A YEAR

THE TOBACCO KINGS

Their First Day's Trial For Conspiracy.

MR. OLCOTT'S KEEN KNIFE

HE EXPOSES SCANDALOUS METHODS.

COULD NOT SELL OTHER GOODS

Such Was Testimony of Park and Tillford Who Had to Give up Even 25,000 of National Cigarettes Under Threat of the Monopoly.

New York, June 15.—Judge Fitzgerald today decided that the trial of the American Tobacco Company's officers should proceed with the jury originally selected. W. J. Brison, against whom certain charges of indiscretion were made, remains a juror. Judge Fitzgerald, when the proceedings began, denied District Attorney O'Connell's motion to have Mr. Bryson removed. He also denied a motion made by Lawyer Choate to have Juror Fash examined in regard to his interview with Reporter Piper.

Mr. Choate then said that he would demand to have the attention of the jury called to Reporter Piper, the editor and proprietor of the Morning Journal and Advertiser, for having engaged in a conspiracy to influence the action of justice against the defense. District Attorney O'Connell then opened for the prosecution, Mr. Olcott told of the formation of the company.

He said: "Prior to October 17, 1889, there were three great cigarette manufacturing concerns, Allen & Ginter, W. Duke Sons & Co., Kinney Manufacturing Company, W. S. Kimball & Co., and Goodwin & Co. They had ninety per cent. of the trade. These five concerns came together. Mr. Olcott claimed that Allen & Ginter and W. Duke Sons & Co. each took thirty per cent. Kinney Tobacco Company twenty per cent. and Kimball & Co. and Goodwin & Co. each ten per cent."

"The American Tobacco Company was incorporated January 20, 1890, in the State of New Jersey. No crime was committed by that corporation, but I will try to show you that the methods declared and carried out under that agreement of incorporation were a crime.

"These five concerns maintained their separate establishments and continued to make and sell their individual brands, but when a bill of goods was sold, say, for instance, by Allen & Ginter, the bill was made out from Allen & Ginter, Branch of the American Tobacco Company.

"This is most significant. It shows that this corporation was not formed to conduct a cigarette business as an ordinary corporation composed of individuals, but was a corporation of corporations, not to start a cigarette business, but simply from their aggrandized power to restrain, aye to strangle competition.

"They sent a circular to the tobacco trade saying that a discount of a certain percentage would be made to the jobbers who bought of the branches.

THE DOCTORS

HAVE ADJOURNED

Couldn't Preserve the Parity Between Editors and Doctors.

ALL ABOUT ADVERTISING

THE DOCTORS ARE "FERNINST" IT—EDITORS ALL FAVOR

Morehead City, N. C., June 11.—(Editorial Correspondence.)—Dr. Blacknell has been trying this week to the best of his capacity (and that is great) to preserve the parity between the editors and the doctors. These are the two most useful professions known among men, and ordinarily there is a oneness among them that that ought to exist among men fighting to exterminate the germs of ignorance and disease. They do more work for less pay, they bring more consolation and cheer to the hearts of men, and they are, I believe, esteemed most highly by the general public.

GOLD AND SILVER

Produced in State and Territories Last Year.

Washington, D. C., June 14.—The product of gold and silver in the several States and territories of the United States for the calendar year 1896, is estimated by the director of the mint to have been as follows.

State or Territory.	Gold value.	Silver value.
Alabama	5,700	187,863
Alaska	2,085,700	2,473,373
Arizona	2,394,200	776,533
California	15,295,900	29,158,213
Colorado	14,911,000	29,158,213
Georgia	151,000	776
Idaho	2,155,300	658,457
Iowa	1,000	300
Michigan	37,200	76,283
Minnesota	800	800
Montana	4,324,700	21,640,404
Nevada	2,468,300	1,355,895
New Mexico	475,300	889,277
North Carolina	44,300	646
Oregon	1,251,000	78,988
South Carolina	63,500	388
South Dakota	4,696,800	296,727
Tennessee	800	800
Texas	8,000	679,805
Vermont	1,800,900	11,413,463
Virginia	1,000	355,426
Washington	405,700	14,900
Wyoming	14,900	129

DAUNTLESS A DARLING

IN AND OUT OF HILLSBOROUGH BAY WITH ARMS.

After a Pretty Filibuster Bluff, Sails Up to the Lonely Schooner's Side and is Off All Right.

Jacksonville, Fla., June 15.—A special to the Citizen from Tampa says: "The Dauntless, or boat supposed to be that vessel, came into Hillsborough bay last night and took on a cargo of arms and ammunition from a schooner lying at anchor off the mouth of the Alafia River and sailed speedily away for the Cuban shore.

SOMETHING OUTE GOING

Jacksonville, Fla., June 15.—A special to the Citizen from Key West says: "There is strong evidence of something going on among Cubans here. A tug resembling the Dauntless passed through the harbor this morning about 6 o'clock and went out the northwest channel. Her smokestack was painted red. The tug Clyde went out last night with a load of coal in bags. The tug Childer left at noon today. The schooner Adair, that left yesterday with a load of arms, has not been heard from yet. No government vessels are in port."

TAR-HEEL POSTMASTERS.

Washington, D. C., June 15.—A. J. Williamson has been appointed postmaster at Guinny's, Va.

THE DOCTORS

HAVE ADJOURNED

Couldn't Preserve the Parity Between Editors and Doctors.

ALL ABOUT ADVERTISING

THE DOCTORS ARE "FERNINST" IT—EDITORS ALL FAVOR

Morehead City, N. C., June 11.—(Editorial Correspondence.)—Dr. Blacknell has been trying this week to the best of his capacity (and that is great) to preserve the parity between the editors and the doctors. These are the two most useful professions known among men, and ordinarily there is a oneness among them that that ought to exist among men fighting to exterminate the germs of ignorance and disease. They do more work for less pay, they bring more consolation and cheer to the hearts of men, and they are, I believe, esteemed most highly by the general public.

They have a common purpose also in the presence of so many delinquent subscribers and so many non-paying men and women who have been raised up to health by the physician's skill.

It would seem that these reasons would knit the doctors and the editors together, and make them firm and lasting comrades. Dr. Blacknell no doubt reasoned that it would be so when it was arranged that these two professions should hold their annual sessions on the same days at this delightful resort.

But it is not so. Though bearing in many ways kindred burdens, there is a cause of war between these two professions that may be called another "irrepressible conflict." The editor believes in advertising, and he thinks the man of profession that discounts the good results of judicious advertising is an enemy to the newspaper men. The doctor, while not disbelieving in the value of advertising for others, holds that it is unprofessional for doctors to advertise. He does not stop there, but criticizes the editor for publishing the advertisements of patent medicines. It is hard enough for the editor to forgive the refusal on the part of the medical profession to advertise in his columns, which he regards as the best if not the only correct and sure method of reaching the people, but when he follows up this boycott of his columns for his own use by claiming a censorship on the advertisements an editor inserts, the editor feels that a point has been reached at which for arms and ammunition from a schooner lying at anchor off the mouth of the Alafia River and sailed speedily away for the Cuban shore.

A report was sent out yesterday that the Dauntless had sailed from Key West with an expedition and it was circulated by those interested. It was a bold and successful bluff that threw the officers entirely off their guard and the Dauntless came in last night and got her cargo. The two boats were tied up until about 1 o'clock and in the moonlight could be plainly seen from the dock along the river front of the city.

J. E. Cartaya and Charles Silva are the only ones who are known to be aboard and they came up from Key West.

The schooner came into the bay late Saturday afternoon and anchored. Her name is not known. She is two-masted and is of about thirty tons. Her hull is black and she was evidently well loaded. Quite a number of men went from West Tampa, striking across country and proceeding to a point on the bay shore where they took to boats near the place where the men of Col. Callero's expedition embarked. The entire work shows that it has master hands behind it, for the expedition was gone fully twelve hours before the authorities or Spanish consul knew that anything was going on, completely were they thrown off their guard by yesterday's shrewd ruse. The Dauntless had an engagement to go on the ways here yesterday, and had a government boat come up on her unexpectedly she would have had a good excuse for being in Hillsborough bay. The mysterious schooner left about daylight this morning.

THE DOCTORS

HAVE ADJOURNED

Couldn't Preserve the Parity Between Editors and Doctors.

ALL ABOUT ADVERTISING

THE DOCTORS ARE "FERNINST" IT—EDITORS ALL FAVOR

Morehead City, N. C., June 11.—(Editorial Correspondence.)—Dr. Blacknell has been trying this week to the best of his capacity (and that is great) to preserve the parity between the editors and the doctors. These are the two most useful professions known among men, and ordinarily there is a oneness among them that that ought to exist among men fighting to exterminate the germs of ignorance and disease. They do more work for less pay, they bring more consolation and cheer to the hearts of men, and they are, I believe, esteemed most highly by the general public.

They have a common purpose also in the presence of so many delinquent subscribers and so many non-paying men and women who have been raised up to health by the physician's skill.

It would seem that these reasons would knit the doctors and the editors together, and make them firm and lasting comrades. Dr. Blacknell no doubt reasoned that it would be so when it was arranged that these two professions should hold their annual sessions on the same days at this delightful resort.

But it is not so. Though bearing in many ways kindred burdens, there is a cause of war between these two professions that may be called another "irrepressible conflict." The editor believes in advertising, and he thinks the man of profession that discounts the good results of judicious advertising is an enemy to the newspaper men. The doctor, while not disbelieving in the value of advertising for others, holds that it is unprofessional for doctors to advertise. He does not stop there, but criticizes the editor for publishing the advertisements of patent medicines. It is hard enough for the editor to forgive the refusal on the part of the medical profession to advertise in his columns, which he regards as the best if not the only correct and sure method of reaching the people, but when he follows up this boycott of his columns for his own use by claiming a censorship on the advertisements an editor inserts, the editor feels that a point has been reached at which for arms and ammunition from a schooner lying at anchor off the mouth of the Alafia River and sailed speedily away for the Cuban shore.

A report was sent out yesterday that the Dauntless had sailed from Key West with an expedition and it was circulated by those interested. It was a bold and successful bluff that threw the officers entirely off their guard and the Dauntless came in last night and got her cargo. The two boats were tied up until about 1 o'clock and in the moonlight could be plainly seen from the dock along the river front of the city.

J. E. Cartaya and Charles Silva are the only ones who are known to be aboard and they came up from Key West.

The schooner came into the bay late Saturday afternoon and anchored. Her name is not known. She is two-masted and is of about thirty tons. Her hull is black and she was evidently well loaded. Quite a number of men went from West Tampa, striking across country and proceeding to a point on the bay shore where they took to boats near the place where the men of Col. Callero's expedition embarked. The entire work shows that it has master hands behind it, for the expedition was gone fully twelve hours before the authorities or Spanish consul knew that anything was going on, completely were they thrown off their guard by yesterday's shrewd ruse. The Dauntless had an engagement to go on the ways here yesterday, and had a government boat come up on her unexpectedly she would have had a good excuse for being in Hillsborough bay. The mysterious schooner left about daylight this morning.

THE DOCTORS

HAVE ADJOURNED

Couldn't Preserve the Parity Between Editors and Doctors.

ALL ABOUT ADVERTISING

THE DOCTORS ARE "FERNINST" IT—EDITORS ALL FAVOR

Morehead City, N. C., June 11.—(Editorial Correspondence.)—Dr. Blacknell has been trying this week to the best of his capacity (and that is great) to preserve the parity between the editors and the doctors. These are the two most useful professions known among men, and ordinarily there is a oneness among them that that ought to exist among men fighting to exterminate the germs of ignorance and disease. They do more work for less pay, they bring more consolation and cheer to the hearts of men, and they are, I believe, esteemed most highly by the general public.

They have a common purpose also in the presence of so many delinquent subscribers and so many non-paying men and women who have been raised up to health by the physician's skill.

It would seem that these reasons would knit the doctors and the editors together, and make them firm and lasting comrades. Dr. Blacknell no doubt reasoned that it would be so when it was arranged that these two professions should hold their annual sessions on the same days at this delightful resort.

But it is not so. Though bearing in many ways kindred burdens, there is a cause of war between these two professions that may be called another "irrepressible conflict." The editor believes in advertising, and he thinks the man of profession that discounts the good results of judicious advertising is an enemy to the newspaper men. The doctor, while not disbelieving in the value of advertising for others, holds that it is unprofessional for doctors to advertise. He does not stop there, but criticizes the editor for publishing the advertisements of patent medicines. It is hard enough for the editor to forgive the refusal on the part of the medical profession to advertise in his columns, which he regards as the best if not the only correct and sure method of reaching the people, but when he follows up this boycott of his columns for his own use by claiming a censorship on the advertisements an editor inserts, the editor feels that a point has been reached at which for arms and ammunition from a schooner lying at anchor off the mouth of the Alafia River and sailed speedily away for the Cuban shore.

A report was sent out yesterday that the Dauntless had sailed from Key West with an expedition and it was circulated by those interested. It was a bold and successful bluff that threw the officers entirely off their guard and the Dauntless came in last night and got her cargo. The two boats were tied up until about 1 o'clock and in the moonlight could be plainly seen from the dock along the river front of the city.

J. E. Cartaya and Charles Silva are the only ones who are known to be aboard and they came up from Key West.

The schooner came into the bay late Saturday afternoon and anchored. Her name is not known. She is two-masted and is of about thirty tons. Her hull is black and she was evidently well loaded. Quite a number of men went from West Tampa, striking across country and proceeding to a point on the bay shore where they took to boats near the place where the men of Col. Callero's expedition embarked. The entire work shows that it has master hands behind it, for the expedition was gone fully twelve hours before the authorities or Spanish consul knew that anything was going on, completely were they thrown off their guard by yesterday's shrewd ruse. The Dauntless had an engagement to go on the ways here yesterday, and had a government boat come up on her unexpectedly she would have had a good excuse for being in Hillsborough bay. The mysterious schooner left about daylight this morning.

THE DOCTORS

HAVE ADJOURNED

Couldn't Preserve the Parity Between Editors and Doctors.

ALL ABOUT ADVERTISING

THE DOCTORS ARE "FERNINST" IT—EDITORS ALL FAVOR

Morehead City, N. C., June 11.—(Editorial Correspondence.)—Dr. Blacknell has been trying this week to the best of his capacity (and that is great) to preserve the parity between the editors and the doctors. These are the two most useful professions known among men, and ordinarily there is a oneness among them that that ought to exist among men fighting to exterminate the germs of ignorance and disease. They do more work for less pay, they bring more consolation and cheer to the hearts of men, and they are, I believe, esteemed most highly by the general public.

They have a common purpose also in the presence of so many delinquent subscribers and so many non-paying men and women who have been raised up to health by the physician's skill.

It would seem that these reasons would knit the doctors and the editors together, and make them firm and lasting comrades. Dr. Blacknell no doubt reasoned that it would be so when it was arranged that these two professions should hold their annual sessions on the same days at this delightful resort.

But it is not so. Though bearing in many ways kindred burdens, there is a cause of war between these two professions that may be called another "irrepressible conflict." The editor believes in advertising, and he thinks the man of profession that discounts the good results of judicious advertising is an enemy to the newspaper men. The doctor, while not disbelieving in the value of advertising for others, holds that it is unprofessional for doctors to advertise. He does not stop there, but criticizes the editor for publishing the advertisements of patent medicines. It is hard enough for the editor to forgive the refusal on the part of the medical profession to advertise in his columns, which he regards as the best if not the only correct and sure method of reaching the people, but when he follows up this boycott of his columns for his own use by claiming a censorship on the advertisements an editor inserts, the editor feels that a point has been reached at which for arms and ammunition from a schooner lying at anchor off the mouth of the Alafia River and sailed speedily away for the Cuban shore.

A report was sent out yesterday that the Dauntless had sailed from Key West with an expedition and it was circulated by those interested. It was a bold and successful bluff that threw the officers entirely off their guard and the Dauntless came in last night and got her cargo. The two boats were tied up until about 1 o'clock and in the moonlight could be plainly seen from the dock along the river front of the city.

J. E. Cartaya and Charles Silva are the only ones who are known to be aboard and they came up from Key West.

The schooner came into the bay late Saturday afternoon and anchored. Her name is not known. She is two-masted and is of about thirty tons. Her hull is black and she was evidently well loaded. Quite a number of men went from West Tampa, striking across country and proceeding to a point on the bay shore where they took to boats near the place where the men of Col. Callero's expedition embarked. The entire work shows that it has master hands behind it, for the expedition was gone fully twelve hours before the authorities or Spanish consul knew that anything was going on, completely were they thrown off their guard by yesterday's shrewd ruse. The Dauntless had an engagement to go on the ways here yesterday, and had a government boat come up on her unexpectedly she would have had a good excuse for being in Hillsborough bay. The mysterious schooner left about daylight this morning.

THE DOCTORS

HAVE ADJOURNED

Couldn't Preserve the Parity Between Editors and Doctors.

ALL ABOUT ADVERTISING

THE DOCTORS ARE "FERNINST" IT—EDITORS ALL FAVOR

Morehead City, N. C., June 11.—(Editorial Correspondence.)—Dr. Blacknell has been trying this week to the best of his capacity (and that is great) to preserve the parity between the editors and the doctors. These are the two most useful professions known among men, and ordinarily there is a oneness among them that that ought to exist among men fighting to exterminate the germs of ignorance and disease. They do more work for less pay, they bring more consolation and cheer to the hearts of men, and they are, I believe, esteemed most highly by the general public.

They have a common purpose also in the presence of so many delinquent subscribers and so many non-paying men and women who have been raised up to health by the physician's skill.

It would seem that these reasons would knit the doctors and the editors together, and make them firm and lasting comrades. Dr. Blacknell no doubt reasoned that it would be so when it was arranged that these two professions should hold their annual sessions on the same days at this delightful resort.

But it is not so. Though bearing in many ways kindred burdens, there is a cause of war between these two professions that may be called another "irrepressible conflict." The editor believes in advertising, and he thinks the man of profession that discounts the good results of judicious advertising is an enemy to the newspaper men. The doctor, while not disbelieving in the value of advertising for others, holds that it is unprofessional for doctors to advertise. He does not stop there, but criticizes the editor for publishing the advertisements of patent medicines. It is hard enough for the editor to forgive the refusal on the part of the medical profession to advertise in his columns, which he regards as the best if not the only correct and sure method of reaching the people, but when he follows up this boycott of his columns for his own use by claiming a censorship on the advertisements an editor inserts, the editor feels that a point has been reached at which for arms and ammunition from a schooner lying at anchor off the mouth of the Alafia River and sailed speedily away for the Cuban shore.

A report was sent out yesterday that the Dauntless had sailed from Key West with an expedition and it was circulated by those interested. It was a bold and successful bluff that threw the officers entirely off their guard and the Dauntless came in last night and got her cargo. The two boats were tied up until about 1 o'clock and in the moonlight could be plainly seen from the dock along the river front of the city.

J. E. Cartaya and Charles Silva are the only ones who are known to be aboard and they came up from Key West.

The schooner came into the bay late Saturday afternoon and anchored. Her name is not known. She is two-masted and is of about thirty tons. Her hull is black and she was evidently well loaded. Quite a number of men went from West Tampa, striking across country and proceeding to a point on the bay shore where they took to boats near the place where the men of Col. Callero's expedition embarked. The entire work shows that it has master hands behind it, for the expedition was gone fully twelve hours before the authorities or Spanish consul knew that anything was going on, completely were they thrown off their guard by yesterday's shrewd ruse. The Dauntless had an engagement to go on the ways here yesterday, and had a government boat come up on her unexpectedly she would have had a good excuse for being in Hillsborough bay. The mysterious schooner left about daylight this morning.

THE DOCTORS

HAVE ADJOURNED

Couldn't Preserve the Parity Between Editors and Doctors.

ALL ABOUT ADVERTISING

THE DOCTORS ARE "FERNINST" IT—EDITORS ALL FAVOR

Morehead City, N. C., June 11.—(Editorial Correspondence.)—Dr. Blacknell has been trying this week to the best of his capacity (and that is great) to preserve the parity between the editors and the doctors. These are the two most useful professions known among men, and ordinarily there is a oneness among them that that ought to exist among men fighting to exterminate the germs of ignorance and disease. They do more work for less pay, they bring more consolation and cheer to the hearts of men, and they are, I believe, esteemed most highly by the general public.

They have a common purpose also in the presence of so many delinquent subscribers and so many non-paying men and women who have been raised up to health by the physician's skill.

It would seem that these reasons would knit the doctors and the editors together, and make them firm and lasting comrades. Dr. Blacknell no doubt reasoned that it would be so when it was arranged that these two professions should hold their annual sessions on the same days at this delightful resort.

But it is not so. Though bearing in many ways kindred burdens, there is a cause of war between these two professions that may be called another "irrepressible conflict." The editor believes in advertising, and he thinks the man of profession that discounts the good results of judicious advertising is an enemy to the newspaper men. The doctor, while not disbelieving in the value of advertising for others, holds that it is unprofessional for doctors to advertise. He does not stop there, but criticizes the editor for publishing the advertisements of patent medicines. It is hard enough for the editor to forgive the refusal on the part of the medical profession to advertise in his columns, which he regards as the best if not the only correct and sure method of reaching the people, but when he follows up this boycott of his columns for his own use by claiming a censorship on the advertisements an editor inserts, the editor feels that a point has been reached at which for arms and ammunition from a schooner lying at anchor off the mouth of the Alafia River and sailed speedily away for the Cuban shore.

A report was sent out yesterday that the Dauntless had sailed from Key West with an expedition and it was circulated by those interested. It was a bold and successful bluff that threw the officers entirely off their guard and the Dauntless came in last night and got her cargo. The two boats were tied up until about 1 o'clock and in the moonlight could be plainly seen from the dock along the river front of the city.

J. E. Cartaya and Charles Silva are the only ones who are known to be aboard and they came up from Key West.

The schooner came into the bay late Saturday afternoon and anchored. Her name is not known. She is two-masted and is of about thirty tons. Her hull is black and she was evidently well loaded. Quite a number of men went from West Tampa, striking across country and proceeding to a point on the bay shore where they took to boats near the place where the men of Col. Callero's expedition embarked. The entire work shows that it has master hands behind it, for the expedition was gone fully twelve hours before the authorities or Spanish consul knew that anything was going on, completely were they thrown off their guard by yesterday's shrewd ruse. The Dauntless had an engagement to go on the ways here yesterday, and had a government boat come up on her unexpectedly she would have had a good excuse for being in Hillsborough bay. The mysterious schooner left about daylight this morning.

THE DOCTORS

HAVE ADJOURNED

Couldn't Preserve the Parity Between Editors and Doctors.

ALL ABOUT ADVERTISING

THE DOCTORS ARE "FERNINST" IT—EDITORS ALL FAVOR

Morehead City, N. C., June 11.—(Editorial Correspondence.)—Dr. Blacknell has been trying this week to the best of his capacity (and that is great) to preserve the parity between the editors and the doctors. These are the two most useful professions known among men, and ordinarily there is a oneness among them that that ought to exist among men fighting to exterminate the germs of ignorance and disease. They do more work for less pay, they bring more consolation and cheer to the hearts of men, and they are, I believe, esteemed most highly by the general public.

They have a common purpose also in the presence of so many delinquent subscribers and so many non-paying men and women who have been raised up to health by the physician's skill.

It would seem that these reasons would knit the doctors and the editors together, and make them firm and lasting comrades. Dr. Blacknell no doubt reasoned that it would be so when it was arranged that these two professions should hold their annual sessions on the same days at this delightful resort.

But it is not so. Though bearing in many ways kindred burdens, there is a cause of war between these two professions that may be called another "irrepressible conflict." The editor believes in advertising, and he thinks the man of profession that discounts the good results of judicious advertising is an enemy to the newspaper men. The doctor, while not disbelieving in the value of advertising for others, holds that it is unprofessional for doctors to advertise. He does not stop there, but criticizes the editor for publishing the advertisements of patent medicines. It is hard enough for the editor to forgive the refusal on the part of the medical profession to advertise in his columns, which he regards as the best if not the only correct and sure method of reaching the people, but when he follows up this boycott of his columns for his own use by claiming a censorship on the advertisements an editor inserts, the editor feels that a point has been reached at which for arms and ammunition from a schooner lying at anchor off the mouth of the Alafia River and sailed speedily away for the Cuban shore.

A report was sent out yesterday that the Dauntless had sailed from Key West with an expedition and it was circulated by those interested. It was a bold and successful bluff that threw the officers entirely off their guard and the Dauntless came in last night and got her cargo. The two boats were tied up until about 1 o'clock and in the moonlight could be plainly seen from the dock along the river front of the city.

J. E. Cartaya and Charles Silva are the only ones who are known to be aboard and they came up from Key West.

The schooner came into the bay late Saturday afternoon and anchored. Her name is not known. She is two-masted and is of about thirty tons. Her hull is black and she was evidently well loaded. Quite a number of men went from West Tampa, striking across country and proceeding to a point on the bay shore where they took to boats near the place where the men of Col. Callero's expedition embarked. The entire work shows that it has master hands behind it, for the expedition was gone fully twelve hours before the authorities or Spanish consul knew that anything was going on, completely were they thrown off their guard by yesterday's shrewd ruse. The Dauntless had an engagement to go on the ways here yesterday, and had a government boat come up on her unexpectedly she would have had a good excuse for being in Hillsborough bay. The mysterious schooner left about daylight this morning.

THE DOCTORS

HAVE ADJOURNED

Couldn't Preserve the Parity Between Editors and Doctors.

ALL ABOUT ADVERTISING

THE DOCTORS ARE "FERNINST" IT—EDITORS ALL FAVOR

Morehead City, N. C., June 11.—(Editorial Correspondence.)—Dr. Blacknell has been trying this week to the best of his capacity (and that is great) to preserve the parity between the editors and the doctors. These are the two most useful professions known among men, and ordinarily there is a oneness among them that that ought to exist among men fighting to exterminate the germs of ignorance and disease. They do more work for less pay, they bring more consolation and cheer to the hearts of men, and they are, I believe, esteemed most highly by the general public.

They have a common purpose also in the presence of so many delinquent subscribers and so many non-paying men and women who have been raised up to health by the physician's skill.

It would seem that these reasons would knit the doctors and the editors together, and make them firm and lasting comrades. Dr. Blacknell no doubt reasoned that it would be so when it was arranged that these two professions should hold their annual sessions on the same days at this delightful resort.

But it is not so. Though bearing in many ways kindred burdens, there is a cause of war between these two professions that may be called another "irrepressible conflict." The editor believes in advertising, and he thinks the man of profession that discounts the good results of judicious advertising is an enemy to the newspaper men. The doctor, while not disbelieving in the value of advertising for others, holds that it is unprofessional for doctors to advertise. He does not stop there, but criticizes the editor for publishing the advertisements of patent medicines. It is hard enough for the editor to forgive the refusal on the part of the medical profession to advertise in his columns, which he regards as the best if not the only correct and sure method of reaching the people, but when he follows up this boycott of his columns for his own use by claiming a censorship on the advertisements an editor inserts, the editor feels that a point has been reached at which for arms and ammunition from a schooner lying at anchor off the mouth of the Alafia River and sailed speedily away for the Cuban shore.

A report was sent out yesterday that the Dauntless had sailed from Key West with an expedition and it was circulated by those interested. It was a bold and successful bluff that threw the officers entirely off their guard and the Dauntless came in last night and got her cargo. The two boats were tied up until about 1 o'clock and in the moonlight could be plainly seen from the