MODGANTON, - - N. CAROLINA

ONE BOY SHOOTS ANOTHER.

The Innocent, Unloaded Gun Gets in Its Work Again.

News comes from Charlotte of the shooting of a young lad by the name of Caldwell Pharr by his playmate, George Hamilton. A number of boys, including the above mentioned and little Jo. Wadsworth were in Mr. S. J. Asbury's back yard playing. Hamilton had a small air rifle, on which a B. B. cap was used, and which shot a ball not larger than a pea. Little Jo. Wadsworth saw the rifle lying on the ground, and, child like, loaded it. He did not think to mention the fact, and went on playing again. A short while after, Hamilton picked up the rifle, which he had some minutes before laid aside unloaded, and thinking it still unloaded, pointed it at Caldwell, and said in fun: "I'm going to shoot you." As he said so he snapped the trigger. To his horror, the gun went off and the ball stuck Caldwell on the cheek, shattering his jaw bone, knocking out several teeth and lodging at the root of the tongue. Caldwell fell as soon as he was shot, and immediately the boys fled, alarmed and screaming for help, into Mr. Asbury's house. Hamilton was very much frightened. The gun was not loaded when he laid it aside, and he did not see Jo. put the load in. Jo. on the other hand, did not think Hamilton would point the gun at any one, and just loaded it for fun. He was as badly frightened as the Hamilton boy. The victim of the boyish pranks in the meantime was taken home and a physician summoned. Part of the ball was gotten out, but the rest of it could not be located. The wound is painful, but not serious.

They are in Washington.

R. H. Bunting, John R. Melton and C. H. Gilbert, who were exiled from Wilmington during the late unpleasantness in that city, are in Washing-ton, and called at the Department of Justice. The object of their visit is not known, but it is understood that they will make efforts to have certain parties in North Carolina prosecuted. if they themselves can remain out of the State and not give evidence. All of them agree that they cannot go back to the State, believing, they say, that the threats of the white people of Wilmington will be carried out. Manly the editor of the late Wilmington Record, says he is not so much to blame as others for the infamous article in his paper, and he intimates that when they can get out of danger he will defend himself by giving the facts and naming the parties he accuses.

Three Times a Criminal.

John Jack Mays was publicly hanged at Dobson, in Surry County. It was estimated that from six to seven thousand people witnessed the execution. He made a short talk and joined heartily in singing a hymn just before the trap fell. The story of the crime for which he paid the penalty with his life was one of the most atrocious crimes ever committed in that country. Mrs. Hagans a very old lady, living in a little cabin alone, had accumulated quite a sum of money and to obtain this Mays first robbed her, then murdered her, and to cover up the crime, burned her and her house, thus making a triple crime-robbery, murder

Charters and License Granted.

The State has chartered the Levi Cotton Mill Company, of Rutherfordton, capital $50,000; stockholders: Mever Levi, D. F. Morrow and J. F. Flack. Half of the capital is paid up. The State also chartered the Southern Card Clothing and Reed Company, of Charlotte, which will furnish cotton and woolen mill supplies. Its capital is $2,000, and the stockholders are Geo. S. Hall, J. M. McMillan and J. J. Adums. The Secretary of State licenses the Royal Exchange Association Company, of London, to do business in North Carolina, C. N. G. Butt, of Charlotte, being general agent.

A Year at Trinity.

There have been added to the membership of Trinity Methodist church at Charlotte during the past Conference year 167 names. Sixty-seven infants have been baptized. The congregation and friends have contributed for all purposes between $4,000 and $5,000.

Octogenarian Dead.

Mrs. Lydar Brown died at her home in Raleigh. Deceased was 85 years old. She leaves nine living children, 45 grand children, and 32 great grand children.

Will Operate the New Road.

The Seaboard Air Line will, as bas been long understood, equip with relling stock and operate the new shortcut radicoad between Richmond and Ridgeway. Four of the six divisions of the eaboard Air Line, have so voted. The Raleigh & Gaston, Raleigh & Augusta, and the Durham & Northern divisions at their annual meeting in Raleigh made a good financial showing. Business has increased largely.

Irate Farmer Holds up a Railroad. A Wake county farmer held up 80 men at the point of a double barrel shotgan and halted the operation of a railroad for an entire day. The farmer in question is B. G. Ennis, of Middle creek township and the railroad that incurred the farmer's anger and caused him to hold up 80 men is the Raleigh and Cape Fear.

J. A. Wagoner Made Captain.

Governor Russell has filled two vacancies of officers in the First North ( ground Regiment. The appointments were, John A. Wagoner to be captain Company I, from Asheville; First Seargea it Wm. M. Jones to be second henterant Company G, from Shelby.

The Wrecked Asheville Bank Cases. In the Federal court, District Attor ney Holton has entered a motion of continuing the cases against the officials of the First National Bank of Asheville to the special term of the Circuit court.

Forger Committed to Wake Jail.

W. A. Burton, alias W. A. Gales, a forger, was arraigned in police court in Raleigh. He waived preliminary examination and was bound over to the next term of Wake Criminal court under $700 bond.

BEINGING HIM DOWN TO PACTS. "I could die for you!" he cried passionately. "Of course," she replied. "But gou'd rou ?"

Some girls me so practical and pro-

taic, you know

A STORY FOR THANKSGIVING.

BY VELMA CALDWELL MELVILLE,

"She don't seem troublesome yit."

"I ain't fit," he muttered, but then

"Goo goo!" she said, but he thought fastened in his rather unkept hair, the

"Goo, goo!" she cried louder and

"Jack Kingsley, are you crazy?"

she cried. With a shame-faced expression, he turned toward the basket.

JACK QUIETLY LIFTED THE HIGH CHAIR

TO A PLACE BESIDE HIS OWN.

"No, I ain't crazy, but I'm goin' to

"Goin' to keep her? Mercy on us,

"I tell you I ain't, but I'd be

'shamed to put a purty little critter

got enough, I'd like ter know, to feed

The poor fellow looked perplexed,

"I will, if there's nobody else," he

"A girl!" Mrs. Kingsley fairly shricked, for in all her life she had understand, but Jack did, after a actly contrary to what his mother de-

"It may all be as you think," he

she don't b'long to no poor trash round

After this uncommonly long speech, basket and went out, his mother never she was a little alarmed for his mental remembered a few other times in his life when Jack had unexpectedly flung out in a similar fashion in defense of an abused animal, and once in the case of a sick tramp. She blamed herself severely for not using more hire somebody to care for it; she would not and in five minutes after she had settled this point she was holding the object of controversy in her arms and feeding it most tenderly.

Then for the first time she remembered that this was Thanksgiving Day.

Thanksgiving! And sitting and rock-ing, her mind traveled back to a time when the day meant much to her: to a time when life was not so narrow, so sordid, when she went to church and enjoyed human companionship. Then she remembered the first Thanksgiving on this farm, when Jack was a sturdy boy of five and the others younger; how she had made a little feast almost out of nothing, but, despite the homesickness and loneliness.

years since when love of gain had 'eaten them up," spiritually and mentally. With a start she heard the had intended to have boiled potatoes,

Ben, her youngest son, was at the

to him from the doorway: "Run me yer dinners."

they had been far happier than in the but Fay, at this moment, nestled her head against his neck, cooing content-

"But who'll take care of her?"

you must be out en yer head."

that look!

louder.

fiantly.

keep her."

"No, of course-she'll be good while the Kingsleys were called by their I'm minding her all the time, but wait neighbors "pe- till I put her by." Before Jack had been at work two culiar" and we are not disposed to hours he made an excuse to go to the contradict them. house. His mother happened to be There was the out of doors when he entered the father, mother and kitchen, but there sat the lovely child three sons, the lat- in her basket, gleefully pulling the ter all women-haters, or at least wom- strands of a skein of scarlet varn. The an-shunners, for even when boys at moment she caught sight of him she the district school, not one of them gave a happy, gurgling laugh, dropped would play with or in any way notice | the yarn and held out her arms; but a girl. As a family, they were indus- he pretended not to see. When next trious, economical and well-to-do. he glanced in her direction, the baby's Work, work, work was the order of lip was trembling and tears were wellthe day, and save, save, save, was the ing up into the great dark eyes. key-note of their lives. If there was He made a step toward her, then one among them more of a hustler paused, looking from his dirty hands than the others it was the eldest son, and dusty clothes to the dainty gar-Jack, and if one more than another of ments she wore. the sons was averse to society, it was

It was on Thanksgiving morning | Once more the smile came like a that our story opens, but we doubt if burst of sunshine through the clouds any of the Kingsleys had given a and the dimpled hands reached out thought to the day. In their busy, alluringly. unsentimental existence there had been no account made of the days she meant good, and-well, when his that come like pleasant mile stones mother entered the room she was simalong the way. There was no Thanks- ply dumbfounded at the sight that met giving cheer, or Christmas gifts; New her gaze Year meant nothing to them but a Jack, who had never even touched a change of date, and Easter was only baby before, was marching about, the Sunday, the day of rest at the farm- child on his shoulder, one hand

If any one could be said to rise first other patting his cheek. in a family where all were up betimes, it was this same Jack, whose heavy footfall ofttimes wakened the house. On this Thanksgiving morning he was out even earlier than usual, for it was corn-husking time and in one way and another they had been hindered this particular fall. Stumbling out into the cold, early light, he was surprised to run against a great willow

"What the nation's this?" he

Now we would not have you understand that Jack was a particularly illnatured man; but it is usually true that in families where the little refinements and courtesies are omitted, the boys-and sometimes the girls-grow up surly and irritable in manuer, even when, in reality, there is no anger in their hearts.

With the half-formed thought in mind that'some neighbor had left it after the family had retired, he lifted | but paused half way and turned de-

"Jupiter!" was the one word that escaped his lips, and then he simply stared. But it was not Jupiter or any other celestial body that lay there so snugly in the basket, but a very beautiful terrestrial body-in other words, a beautiful babe smiled up like her in the poorhouse. Hain't we into his face.

"Jupiter!" he said again, and let one sech kid?" fall the lid, only to lift it again immediately. It would have been a study for an artist-the old brown farm. house amid the leafless trees for a background, the flurry of snow sifted edly, "Da, da, da, da!" over the porch, the great willow basket, from which smiled the lovely infant, and the uncouth figure in high boots, overalls, short brown coat and slouch hat bending above it. How long he might have remained never hired help in the house one in this pose is uncertain, but the little one's efforts to free her arms aroused him. Once more letting fall of abuse that, could little Fay have the lid he lifted the basket into the understood, would have burned into kitchen just as his mother emerged her very soul! Happily she could not from her room.

"What on airth you got?" she fashion at least, but the effect was exquestioned. "Somebody's young 'un left on the sired and his answer showed her her door-step.' Mrs. Kingsley wonderingly undid the rich wrappings until the little said slowly; "we don't know anything arms, unpinioned, were held pleading- about it, but I do know this innercent ly up. What woman could refrain babe ain't to blame 'nd I'll be blamed from lifting the little creature out and | if I don't stand for her 'nd fight the pressing it to her breast? Even Mrs. | hull world, if need be. I ain't fit fer Kingsley could not, though she made much! the Kingsleys ain't like other sure first that Jack's back was turned. | people nohow, 'nd if this here kid ain't Soon the remainder of the family were respectable it can't make no great on the scene, surprised and wonder- odds to us; we ain't s'ciety folks but ing over "Jack's baby," as it was all these fine fixens she's got on shows

There was nothing by which she here. There's a mystery about it could be identified, save a square that I hope we won't never underwhite card bearing the one word stand." Fay.

called from the first.

At breakfast Mrs. Kingsley remarked Jack Kingsley put the child in the complainingly: "Now there'll be a trip clean to John | saying a word. We are inclined to think

"John Sweet's?" queried Jack, ab- condition, though. When she resent-mindedly, as he watched his covered from the shock a little, she mother feeding milk to the little stranger.

JACK WAS MARCHING ABOUT.

"Yes, he's the poor commissioner, ain't he?"

"What of that?" "'What of that;' did I ever! Why, clock strike eleven. The baby was you can't git this young one into the sleeping; could she manage to get up poorhouse without seeing him about a Thanksgiving feast in an hour? She

A wave of color swept across Jack's fried salt pork, bread, coffee and sun-burned, unshaved face, but he sorghum molasses. only replied that he guessed they could board her until Sunday, least- barn for something and, yielding to ways no one could be spared from the the impulse of the moment, she called husking now. "'Nd how d'ye s'pose I'm to do my down a chicken, Ben, if you men folks work 'nd care fer a baby all that time? "can get along till one o'clock without Here it's only Thursday."

A SONG OF THANKSCIVING

Thanksgiving for the men who braved The yet scarce furrowed sea, Rather than cringe, with soul enslaved, To kingly tyranny; Who sought upon this virgin sod "Freedom to worship God!"

Thanksgiving for the men who met The stormy brunt of war, Who yielded life without regret Lest wrong be conqueror; For those who fought and lived to see Triumphant liberty!

Thanksgiving that the olden scars By time are hid and healed; That now our flag's close-clustering stars Shine on no gory field, But year by year a rich increase Springs from the arts of peace! Thanksgiving for a past that glean With light so fair to see; Thanksgiving for the glorious dreams Of triumphs yet to be; Thanksgiving, all, with one s :cord, Unto our father's Lord!

-Clinton Scollard, in Harper's Weekly. "Aye, aye!" said Ben heartily, but when he came in with the chicken he looked so inquiring that his mother said: "I plum forgot 'twas Thanksgiving," just as if they ever observed it either inwardly or outwardly. Ben said nothing, but shying a glance at the sleeping babe went out softly, but about one o'clock. "What's up?" asked Tom. The Kingsleys were not humorous, but an idea did occasionally strike Ben and now he answered severely:

was whistling gaily when he reached the corn sheds. "Can't have dinner till the horn blows; reckon that'll be

"You can't expect mother to take are of a youngun and have meals square up to time. "Hang the youngun!" was Tom's ungracious reply. "Say, Jack, you better go over to Sweet's this after-"If you've any business at Sweet's go yourself; I haven't any."

Even Mr. Kingsley, who was not at all observing, opened his eyes when he entered the big kitchen, from which most savory odors had already greeted Never had the old room looked so inviting before, and no wonder! A toothsome feast on a table spread with the white cloth and best dishes

-only used for company-and a baby form in the old high chair so long relegated to the garret. He smiled and laid his rough hand on the little head covered with golden red curls. "Whoop-ee!" said Tom, looking approvingly about. "So all this comes of having a girl in the family!" Jack glanced at his mother and then did what no Kingsley was ever known to do before without being askedfilled the water pails.

Ben looked down at himself; then there was another departure. He put answered defiantly; "leastways I can on a clean "wamus" and washed and combed with unusual care. Everyone had a smile or a pat for the bright, fearless babe who, they tacitly understood, was in some way responsible And then she poured forth a tirade for the good cheer. When ready to sit down, Jack quietly lifted the high chair to a place besides his own. He meant to take care of her, evidently. And so the new life at the Kingsleys began. Not all in a day did the changes come, but the truth of the words: "And a little child shall lead them," was never more thoroughly verified than in this instance. By another Thanksgiving time a royal feast was spread and the minister and his family invited to partake. The house was brightened; each member of the family dressed, talked and acted more like "other people;" they even sent wood and vegetables to several poor families, and remembered that they themselves had cause to give thanks for many blessings, not least among them Jack's baby. Thanksgiving Turkey. Oh, the turkey's waxing fatter Than he waxed a moon ago, And he ripens for the platter In the dreamy afterglow. While the piglet Skips a jiglet In the bosom of his sty Is the turkey

Quite as murky As the chilly, purple sky; For he knows that he will very Soon be going on the plate, With the sauce of the cranberry, And the stuffing all elate.

Oh, the turkey's full of sorrow, From his wattles to his tail; When he dreams about the morrow, Every feature's snowy pale. Oh, 'tis shaky

As the flaky And his talons Show that gallons Of good stuff would not unchill All the thoughts that thrill his wishbone, When he dreams the carving knife

Oh, the turkey now is glowing. And we watch him in our joy, For we know we soon are going With his drumsticks for to toy. In our rapture, We will capture

All the dark meat and the white, And the giblets Of his niblets Will suffuse us with delight: And we'll say in language regal, As our lines we all up gird, That the turkey beats the eagle As old Freedom's mighty bird!

-R. K. Munkittrick. Don't ask too long a blessing at the Thanksgiving dinner. Remember that the turkey is not a bird of pray.

STATE SQUIBS.

RALEIGH. - From advance sheets of the annual report of the State Superintendent of Public Instruction these interesting facts are gathered. The school fund disbursed for white school teachers was $451, 474, colored $227, 195; for school houses for whites $30,663, colored $16,507; paid city schools $34, 490; paid treasurers' commissions $17, 269; expended for other purposes $46,-297. Total $832,836; balance on hand $185,599. The census of children of school age shows 211,855 white males, 200,788 females, total 412,243; total enrollment 114,625 males, 107,629 females, total 222, 252; average attendance 110, 577. Colored males of school age 106, 054; famales 105, 465, total 211, 519; enrollment 60,856 males, 70,648 females, Value public school property, white they were run down by a local passen-$644,809; colored $234,324. Average length of school term 137 weeks white, 10 9-10 weeks colored, and in cities and towns 36 weeks. There are 3,438 white and 1,545 colored school houses. The amount appropriated to white schools is $485,208; colored $244,468. The total assessed value of white property is $211,391,836; colored $7,350,064. Amount paid for schools by whites $505,278; colored $79.392. From ad vance sheets of the annual report of the Bureau of Labor Statistics it is learned that there are in operation 191 spinning or weaving cotton mills and 29 hosiery mills; total 220, There are 24,585 looms and 1,054 spindldes. But 47 per cent. of the mills run day and night, thus giving a consuming power of 519,800 spindles. The consumption of cotton during the year is 163, 389,000 pounds, the report will say. The erection of new mills added 43,000 spindles and 280 looms, while old mills enlarged their plants to the amount of 16,820, while in two fires 3,320 were burned, so that the net gain was 56,600 spindles for 1898. The average day's work is 113 hours and 293, was the average number of days on which mills were in operation out of the year, with its 318 working days.

RALEIGH. -The Democrats held jubilee, and it was what in the slang of to-day is termed "a warm time." procession moved at 7.30 up Fayetteville street. It marched literally outlined in fire, as a straight stretch of tar barrels only a few yards apart reached from end to end of the wide and handsome street. In front of the city hall was the arch of triumph, train failed to see the signal displayed other, "Good Will to All." The line of march was under this arch and around the capitol square and thence by way of Hillsboro and Dawson streets to Nash square, which was the principal speaking place. All along the route tar barrels blazed.

RALEIGH. -The North Carolina chap ter of the Sons of the Revolution held its annual session here, Dr. Peter E. Hines presiding. There was presented to it a gavel of oak with a remarkable history. The gavel is silver mounted and bears this inscription: "Made from wood from the Spanish flagship Infanta Maria Teresa, defeated and captured by American sailors at Santiago de Cuba, July 3, 1898. To the North Carolina Sons of the Revolution; from A. A. McKethan, U. S. Army. The Sons of the Revolution ordered oil paintings to be made of Alfred Moore and James Iredell, of Revolutionary fame, for presentation to the Supreme Court. Mr. Junius Davis, of Wilmington, is specialty requested to present these to the court.

CHARLOTTE. - The first consolidated mortgage for $3,000,000 from the Carolina Central Railroad Company to the Farmers' Loan and Trust Company of New York, trustee, was filed for registration in the register's office of Mecklenburg county. The mortgage is for the redemption of all outstanding bonds and for the better equipment of its lines deemed it necessary to borrow money and issue its bonds therefore to the aggregate amount above stated. The mortgage is a first lien upon the entire property of the company, including all branches and extensions. CHARLOTTE. - Articles of incorporation have been filed by "The E. M. Andrews Furniture and Music Company," of Charlotte. The incorporators are: E. M., F. H. and T. W. Andrews, C. W. and W. E. Parker and George N. Adams. The capital stock is $30,000, divided into 300 shares of $100 each. The limit of existence is

It is rumored that the work that has been going on so flourishingly at the Isenhour gold mine, Cabarrus county, is now somewhat checked. The reason for the rumor is the fact that some of their machinery is being moved from that place to another mine. There appears to be quite a general opinion that the Legislature will create the office of insurance commissioner, disassociating it from the Secretary of State. Twice before this the Legislature came near doing this.

RALEIGH. -Auditor Ayer says that this year $120,000 is available for pensions, this being $18,000 more than last year. The reports received showed that only 45 widows and 13 soldiers on the pension list have died this year. There is some increase in the number of pensioners, yet it seems this year's ponsions will be approximately 20 per cent. larger than last year's. The cause of the increase in pensions this year is that a larger proportion of applicants were passed by the county

WILMINGTON. -- The white ship-carpenters, caulkers and other workmen employed at the docks here, have been discharged and negro workmen employed in their places by the United States authorities. Great indignation is felt at this action of the government. GASTONIA. - In front of Mr. T. G. Falls' house, at Pleasant Ridge, near here, a white man by the name of Parish and Phonse Rhyne, celored, were having some hot words, when Mr. Falls came out to investigate the trouble. The negro without the slightest warning, stabbed Mr. Falls with a very sharp knife, which pierced the larger intestine.

The cattle quarantine, which has been in effect during the summer, was raised Tuesday, and now cattle can be shipped from all parts of the State to points north without being subject to the quaraptine regulations

DURHAM. - The case of the State vs. W. S. Brown, of this city, who was charged with setting fire to his store on the night of June 10th, came up for trial in Person Superior Court at Roxboro. The jury rendered a verdict of not guilty. About forty Durham peo-ple were summoned to Roxboro as witnesses in the case.

The county commissioners of Cabarrus county have ordered bills paid for the holding of the election, which amounts to about $340. It had not been intended to pay the judges any-thing for their services, but finding that this would be compulsory else have no judges scarcely, they were allowed $1 apiece for the day.

Terrible Railroad Accidents in New York and Illinois.

DOWN LIKE GRASS.

Pana, III., in Terror of Negroes -Numerous Encounters Between the Negroes and Miners-To Raise 3 of Dewey's Ships.

New York (Special). - While a gang of 20 track hands were at work upon the Pennsylvania Railroad's line over the Hackensack, near Jersey City, ger train. Eleven of the workmen were killed outright and five were seriously injured. Only three escaped unburt. The dead men all lived in Jersey City. Wm. Quirk, the foreman of the gang of workmen, made this statement: 'The smoke and fog are to blame. My men were in a cloud of smoke when the calamity came upon us. I had Michael Lawless stationed about 50 yards ahead of the gang, to give us warning. Lawless was struck first and cut to pieces. My men were mowed down like grass. Engineer Van Nosfraud said: "I felt sure that the track was clear and had no idea that in that cloud of smoke and fog, just ahead of me, were twenty laborers who did not know of my oncoming. I got within 100 yards when my locomotive struck the outpost, Michael Lawless. I put on the brakes at once, but in another second I was upon the main gang, and my locomotive cut them down before I could stop

Other Accidents in the Fog.

WILTON, . Ill. (Special). - Twentytwo men were more or less seriously injured in two railroad wrecks near here during a heavy fog. In a head-end freight collison on the Rock Island at Moscow, brakeman John Donahue was fatally hurt and brakeman Mills had a leg broken Three other trainmen were seriously injured. Donahue did not long survive. Just after the accident a construction train, which left here to clear the track, was struck by the fast mail. The crew of the mail snowy white, and topped by scores of at Wilton to stop. The construction native flags, and with a band stand on train had on board about 20 men, inits top. On one side of the arch, which cluding section men and citizens of spanned the street, was the inscrip- Wilton, going to the scene of the Mos- and that one brand out of four fell "Good Government," and on the cow wreck. Of this number 17 were more or less seriously injured but none killed.

> Pana in Terror of Negroes. PANA, Ill. (Special). - Desultory fir ing in every section of the city continued through Friday night. The ter-rorized citizens were huddled in groups which were guarded by heads of families heavily armed. Quite a number of families left the city and spent the night in the country. C. H. Heath, an ex-railroad man, whose home is in Flatham, a negro district, was fired upon by the blacks, and himself and family were driven to shelter in the country. The blacks claimed shots were fired at their homes from Heath's yard, a statement which he denies. Members of Troop B were kept on the alert all night, but accomplished little. A colored union miner reported to the police that a white man had been killed in the Flatham district. Officers Smith and Lee, accompanied by the negro, started for the scene, lut they were met by Captain Butler, the militia commander, who told the officers it was unsafe for them to enter the Flatham district, Captain Butler refused to send a guard to accompany the officers. In the Springside, Ed Jones, a white non-union miner, is reported to have been shot in the back and dangerously wounded. A report reached here that 75 negroes with Winchesters had lined up in Springfield to clean out the whites in that section. Captain Butler at once sent troops to

> To Raise Three of Dewey's Ships. The United States navy will soon cossess more than a sprinkling of foreign built warships. Admiral Dewey has informed the Navy Department that he has contracted with a Hong Kong firm of wreckers to raise three of the Spanish war vessels, sunk in the battle of Manila last May day. The cost of raising the ships and putting them in through repair will be $500,000.

> > On a Comprehensive Scale.

The national quarantine convention at Memphis adopted a resolution for the establishment on a broad and comprehensive scale of a national bureau and public health in the Department of the Treasury of the United States, and that the administration of all the public health functions now exercised by authority of the United States be placed in the charge of this bureau.

Dreyfus Heard of It.

The Governor of French Guiana has sent a dispatch to the Colonial office in Paris, saying that Alfred Dreyfus, the former French officer undergoing imprisonment for life on Devil's Island, has been informed of the revision proceedings in his case.

The Keely Motor Man Dead, John W. Keeley, inventer of the Keeley motor, died at his home in Philadelphia, with pneumonia. Mr. Keeley was 61 years of age and leave

Lieutenant Young, of the Hist, reports that the Riena Mercedes can be raised. She was sunk by the opening of her sea valves, and is in good condi-

Maryland to Sell Her Canal Interests. BALTIMORE (Special). - The board of public works has decided to sell all the interests of the State of Maryland in the famous Chesapeake & Ohio canal. This interest has cost the State, in one way and another, about $25,000,000, but its present value is indeterminate, as it is now in the hands of receivers.

Of late, Havana has been almost overrun with Americans, who have arrived there without means of support, but in hopes of getting lucrative employment. Scores of them are now begging on the streets.

Walker Attacks Croker. John Brisben Walker, of New York, has issued an address attacking Richard Croker as a man who had gained complete control of the Democratic party within the city and State, and who is "unworthy of trust." In his address Mr. Walker urges the formation of a new Democracy.

Commissioner Evans, of the Pension Office, has notified Secretary Alger, that Jesse T. Gates, of the Second United States Artillery, who had lost part of his upper lip in the West Indian campaign, has been awarded the first pension on account of the Spanish war.

EXPERIMENT STATION REPORT

Covering the Work for the Year 1897 and for the First Half of 1898. The Experiment Station has just issued its report of 44 pages, covering the work for the year 1897 and for the first half of 1898. The volume consists of the report of the Director, together with the Chiefs of the different Diva ions of the Station, and is accompanied by an index to the report and to the bulletins of the Station issued during the period referred to.

An examination of the report shows that 16 regular bulletins of the Station were issued, relating to fertilizer apalysis, compost making, compost ped-dlers, orchard, garden and field crops and their diseases, the housing and feeding of stock, birds and medicinal plants. There were also various special press and information bulletins, and other publications, amounting in all to fifty, containing 785 pages. The Station has kept up with its rather heavy correspondence, its work at Southern Pines, the study of poultry keeping, the analyses of the com-mercial fertilizers on sale in the State, the study of the digestibility of the common feeding-stuffs, as well as other lines of work referred to in previous reports, and the importance of which to the people of the State is probably well known and highly appreciated. In addition, the Station has aided in securing the enactment of a law providing for inspection of the nursery stock sold in the State, and which is liable to contain the San Jose scale and other dangerous crop pests. At the time of the enactment of this law, there were laws in other States, and since the enactment of this law many other States have realized the importance of such legislation and have secured it. During 1897, the Station discovered the presence of tuberculosis in its herd of cattle, and in consequence, some of the animals were slaughtered. The wide publicity given the matter has served to call the attention of the people of the State to the danger of uberculosis, and the result will doubtess prove very beneficial.

The first edition of the bulletin ou Trucking in the South was so popular that it became exhausted, and it was necessary to reprint it.

The bulletin on the Ornithology of North Carolina and the bulletin on the Medicinal Plants of the State, should prove particularly valuable as records. There was a considerable increase in the number of samples of fertilizers sent for analysis, and attention is called to the fact that during the year about 208,000 tons of commercial fertilizers were consumed in the State, stituent.

An investigation has been begun as to the nature and extent of food adulteration. The consumption of food in North Carolina, annually, amounts to probably one hundred millions of dollars, and it will be interesting to know the extent to which our people are imposed upon by adulteration or misbranding, or by some other means. Many States have a Food Control simllar to our own Fertilizer Control, and it may be advisable, at some time, for our State to endeavor to protect her citizens from fraud by the same means.

The report and index will be sent to any one, free of charge, who will make application to the Director of the Experiment Station at Raleigh.

Winston. - The ninth session of the Western North Carolina Annual Conference convened here. The Conference was called to order by Bishop O. P. Fitzgerald, of Nashville, Tenn. He requested that a stanza of some familiar hymn be sung, while the Conference assembled. In answer to this request, the first stanza of 'Come Thou Fount of Every Blessing" was sung. A mat ter of interest and pleasant surprise to the Conference here was reached. namely, the all important question of Trinity College, discussed and settled in a most pleasant manrer. ASHEVILLE. - Dr. Chas. Jordan of this city, surgeon in U. S. A. Volunteers, sent in his resignation with the request that it be granted at once. It was accepted and he honorably discharged from the service. Dr. Jordan was one of the most popular surgeons in the corps. The North Carolina boys especially will regret to give him up.

CHABLOTTE. - The Southern Railway Company secured the contract for haufing 1,000 tons of structural iron work from the Stacy Manufacturing Com-pany, of Cincinnati. The iron is for the 4 C's new gas holders in Charlotte, and the work of erection will begin in the course of ten days.

CHARLOTTE. - The importance of Charlotte as a commercial centre has been demonstrated in many ways. An additional indication of its prominence and superior location is shown by the fact that the Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Company will very shortly make it the centre af an important and extensive system of toll lines. This company has already begun the construction of a long distance line from Petersburg, Va., to Charlotte, from which point the line will go to Columbia, Augusta, Charleston and Savannah.

RALEIGH. - President John A. Mills. of the Raleigh & Cape Fear Railroad. has taken what the sailors term a round turn on the Cape fear and & Northern Railroad, and B. G. Ennis the Wake county farmer who stoppe I the Raleigh & Cape Fear convict force from working on his land. Mills obtained from Judge Bryan as injunction restraining Enniss from interfering with the road building. It was served by the sheriff, Ennis said he would not let the force go on his land. The sheriff in reply told him he had better not monkey with a judge. Ennis then gave in. Bids for electric street lighting, including propositions for running an electric street railway in connection

CHARLOTTE. -Architect Milburn received a telegram telling him that his plans for the Confederate veterans auditorium in Charleston, S. C., had been accepted, and that he was to send working plans and specifications as soon as possible. This award is quite a feather in Architect Milburn's cap, as he won it over 28 competitors, representing architectual talent in New York, Baltimore, Philadelphia, Richmond and Atlanta. The building is to seat 7,000 people, and will cost $30,000

therewith, have been submitted to the Goldsbore board of aldermen.

Wilson. - A fire broke out here in a grocery store on Goldsboro street oc cupied by a negro named Hunt, and spread rapidly, destroying that building and Leonard's bar room building and the store and restaurant occupied by Wiley Corbett-four buildings in all including the armory. The top of Auxiliary proceedings were begun in the United States Circuit Court at Hare's livery was burmed and with it one horse. The other horses were gotton out. Small insurance. Cleveland, O., for the appointment of a receiver for the Cincinnati & Ohio Fuel Mining and Transportation Company. The liabilities are placed at