... George Washington Wynn, near Robersonville, about ten days or two weeks ago killed himself with a shot gun. He was insane.

His mental troubles grew out of anxiety about his property. A few years ago he married a pretty woman and for a time all went woll. The "wolf in the fold" entered later it is said in the shape of an illegitimate daughter, who poisoned her father's mind against her stepmother and persuaded the old man that money which he had hidden and which had disappeared, was stolen by the wife.

Mr. Wynn made a deed conveying all his property to this daughter all his property to this daug Pour regular courses of study, Classical, Pan-Mr. Wynn made a deed conveying Special courses of study. Classical, PhilMr. Wynn made a deed conveying

We had friends in London. My Cousin, the artist, Mrs. Lea Mer-Cousin, the artist, Mrs. Lea Merritt, and a friend from here, now the manager and one of the editors of the "Times." He was invited by the Lord Mayor of London to bring us with him to luncheon, and we had a most enjoyable visit to the Mansion House. He had asked about fifteen persons, mostly literary people, and the talk was exceedingly interesting.
