The great reason that these states are making such wonder-ful material progress is because they do not restrict interest to a low rate. Money goes across because it is worth so per cent. there. The Building Associations of the State have done more to in these institutions and in a few years they, by leaning at 8 per cent, accumulate a good sum to their credit. This bill will drive them out of the State. He ad-vocated Farmers' Loan Associa-tions on the same plan. The banks cannot lend money on real estate, and are of no real value to

Mr. Aycock said that if he looked to his own if Ferest more to the interest of his particular friends, he should vote against the bill, but he could rise above that and vote for the interest or to the interest of his particular friends, he should vote against the bill, but he could rise above that and vote for the interest of the great masses. The farmer cannot pay 8 per cent. It will not drive out capital. Poor men can come in and buy land if the rate of interest is low, but few, if any, can pay for land with meany horrowed at a high rate. These are the men we want. They will build up our State. If it drives capital out of the State—capital that is ruimous—let it go.

Mr. Twitty said he was satisfied that land could not pay eight per cent. He favored the substitute because it would give time far business to adjust itself to it. He did not consider whether he would please people or not. He wanted to do right The capitalist can take care of the masses. He favored the substitute, hat might vote against the original bill.
