A PLEA FOR SUCCESS. Thoughtful, earnest men say that the condition of affairs in North Carolina is critical in the extreme. Brave men, who are not frightened at shadows or old wives' tales, are alarmed at the gravity of the situation. Patriotic men are looking over the field, trying in all good faith and earnestness to reconcile differences, to allay enmities, to bring men to the front whom all can follow, and to formulate a policy which all can approve.

It would be sheerest folly to ignore the fact that there are views to be met, and elements to be conciliated, and dangers to be avoided in the approaching campaign that never confronted the party before. It would be unwise, in the selection of candidates for the various offices within the gift of the people, to forget that something more than our personal preferences is to be considered and something more than partisan success to be striven for. It must be taken into consideration in every contest for the prize of a nomination, that afterwards the winner must be tried in the hot crucible of a campaign and weighed in the balances of popular approval on election day. To secure the commendation of the press, to win in the township primaries, to get the endorsement of county conventions, to overcome opponents and obtain a majority of the votes in the State conventionthese are all important steps, but they are but the preliminaries to the real struggle and are but empty victories if not followed up by a triumph in the battle of the ballots.

If in the present condition of affairs men of extreme views are to dictate the policy of the party, no matter which extreme they take, a party split and a party defeat will be the inevitable result. The Democratic majority in North Carolina is not large at the best, and our successes in the past have only been attained by united action and earnest, organized effort. A split in the party now not only means defeat in the approaching campaign, but it means a repetition of the sad story that comes from South Carolina, of a family divided and warring with itself, and pulling down instead of building up the

With a divided Democracy our plight would be even worse than in South Carolina, for here we are confronted with a party the dominent element in which put the negro to the front at Raleigh last week, not because the white men of that party desired it, but because they were forced to do so by the superior members and the aggressive spirit manifested by the colored element. A divided democracy means the sure suc cess of that party which passed by such white men as J. J. Mott and Charles Price and W. P. Bynum, and T George Walton, and placed the negro Cheatham at the head of its delegation to the Minneapolis convention, and made John Dancey, another negro, a delegate, while men like E. S. Walton, of Burke, were forced to content themselves with an alternate's place. We do not believe that the differences between our people are great enough to warrant us in turning over the State government to such a party, or to cause any faction, as has been suggested, to co-operate with the party of Cheatham and Dancy in defeating the nominees of the Democracy.

In order to avert such a disaster as that which we believe to threaten the State we have advocated the nomination of Mr. Alexander for Governor, who is, we conceive, under existing condiof a presidential candidate, from tions, one of the strongest men the negro race. with the rank and file of the North Carolina Democracy that could be nominated.
