

THE STATE CONVENTION.

The Democratic convention did its work well. The ticket nominated last week represents no faction, and belongs to no wing of the party...

THE ticket nominated and the platform adopted by the Democratic party in convention last week leaves nothing to be desired.

The Man from Maine May Be the Nominee—Harrison to Be Let Down Easy—World's Fair Salaries Too Big—Betting That Harrison Cannot be Nominated or Elected.

WASHINGTON, N. C., May 25. The Harrison crowd are already beginning the task of letting their man down easy.

It has just been learned from a most trustworthy source that Mr. Harrison proposes to make another effort to make a bargain with Boss Clarkson, who will be here this week...

The deliberations of the convention were characterized by that spirit of concession and compromise for which North Carolinians are famous.

The Democratic convention of 1892 will be memorable in the political history of North Carolina, and the beneficial effect of its wise action will long be felt throughout the borders of the commonwealth.

THE REPUBLICAN PLAN.

THE Raleigh Signal, the leading Republican paper of the State, says in its last issue that there shall be no Republican State ticket in the field this year.

It is very evident that the wise leadership to which our Republican contemporaries refers is that which would encourage the People's party to put an electoral ticket in the field, so that the Democrats will divide and the Republicans can carry the day.

It is a common saying that the People's party can possibly poll fifty thousand votes in the State. If they poll thirty thousand the Republican electoral ticket will win, for every vote that is cast for the People's party will be taken from the Democratic vote.

Unless the People's party can poll something like one hundred and thirty thousand votes the Republican electoral ticket must win, and the most enthusiastic third partyites does not claim anything like such a vote as that. A vote for the Omaha ticket is half a vote for the Minneapolis ticket.

THE STATE CONVENTION.

How the Nominations Were Made—Full Proceedings of the Greatest Democratic Assembly Ever Seen in the State.

In the last issue of THE HERALD we gave telegraphic reports of the proceedings of the Democratic State Convention up to the nomination of R. M. Furman as Auditor.

It was 7:30 o'clock when the announcement was made that the placing of nominees before the convention was ended.

It was 8:30 when the first ballot ended. The chairman announced that the vote was as follows: Holt, 407; Sanderlin, 283; J. S. Carr, 157; Elias Carr, 112; Alexander, 14; Jarvis, 8.

Mr. Merritt, of Person, withdrew the name of Alexander in favor of J. S. Carr. At this there was great cheering.

On the second ballot there were no marked changes. Sanderlin got more of the alliance strength. The result was announced at 9:30 as follows: Holt, 402; Sanderlin, 306; J. S. Carr, 159; Elias Carr, 123.

The fourth ballot resulted as follows: Holt, 371; Sanderlin, 318; J. S. Carr, 170; Elias Carr, 137.

On the fifth ballot there was greater excitement and more applause than at any one save the first. Elias Carr continued to make gains.

The result of the fifth ballot showed gains for Julian S. Carr also. Before it was announced there were demonstrations in favor of various candidates.

The sixth ballot began amid much stir. It showed from the start many changes in Elias Carr's favor.

There was a chorus of calls for Carr and unbounded applause when he appeared. Hats were waved and thrown in the air.

Mr. Carr said: No one knows better than yourselves that this compliment was unasked for. You have seen fit to place the democratic banner in my hands.

It was 10:10 when the convention re-assembled. There is great interest in today's work.
