A serious row is reported as occurring on Pea Ridge last Sunday in which two men named Hodge and Pritchard were shot and seriously wounded by a negro named Uri Grey.

A PAINEFUL ACCIDENT.
Mr. Walter Davis' Leg and Ankle Broken.—Horse Choked to Death.—Arrested for Swearing Money.—Wheat Crop.—Lincoln Democrat, Sept. 2d.

Walter Davis, of Denver, met with a painful accident last week while loading saw logs. While pushing a log up on a wagon the log slipped and Davis had his leg and ankle broken by the falling log.

Mr. J. M. Shelton, of Denver, met with the misfortune to lose one of his horses last week. He had taken his horse to the fodder field. At noon he tied some wire halters in order to feed them. During the time the horses were eating, one horse got loose and caused the other horse to get tangled in his halter. Seeing that the horse was about to choke to death, Mr. Shelton ran for a scythe, 200 yards away, with which to cut the halter, to loose the suffering animal; but the horse died before his owner could render him aid. The horse could have been saved had Mr. Shelton had his pocket knife with him.

THE CATAWBA POPULISTS.
Declined to Pass a Resolution to Vote Only for Silver.—In its capacity of the Populist county convention in Catawba county, the Newton Enterprise says:

At this point Dr. F. T. Foard, of Bandy's township, who is an ardent free silver man, introduced a resolution in substance as follows:

A BUSHY LITTLE TOWN.
They Say Catawba is a Hive of Industry.—Heating from Politics in September.—An Exciting Battle With a Snake—Other Gaston Gossip.—Gastonia Gazette, Sept. 3d.

Gastonia Institute opened Tuesday with Prof. Douglas in charge of the higher classes, Prof. Wolf in the music room, and Miss Sue Gallant in the primary until the arrival of the new teacher, Miss McCadden, of Chester.

Ours is a bushy little town. There can be no two ways about that. Strangers and visitors have called us a bushy place all along, but the town is now becoming such a hive of industry that even the oldest citizens are remarking about it and exclaiming, "Who ever saw such a town?"

Our people generally seem ready enough to heed the suggestion we proposed last week—to rest from politics in September. Farmers are busy with fodder and they were trying to persuade him to desist from bringing up the matter again.

Capt. James H. Sherrill said: "Boys, that won't do. Some one move to table it, and we'll vote to table it."

Mr. Jud Albright, who is a Republican leader and a strong advocate of fusion, said:

"I don't them; we are to take their men and ask no questions, and let God do the rest."

A DRUNKEN PASSENGER ON THE WEST-BOUND TRIAN SHOOT AT A LITTLE FROST FODDER FIELD.
A Drunken Passenger on the West-Bound Trian Shoots at a Little Frost Fodder Field.—Hickory Mercury, Sept. 2d.

While the west bound train was at the station here this afternoon, a passenger, said to be under the influence of liquor, threw an apple core into the grape basket of one of the little peddlers near the cars; the boy, tossing it back, injured the man, who drew a revolver and fired, missing the child but inflicting a severe wound in the right shoulder of an innocent spectator, a train hand, who was sitting on the station steps. The offender was at once arrested—the train being detained here by a freight wreck near old Henry's Station, and then before Mayor C. S. Samuel, and in default of bail, sent to jail at Marion. The prisoner gives the name of Jim Smith and is said to have a brother living in Crooked Creek township. He had a ticket to some point in the far West.
