The decree recited by Shen is felt to be of the utmcal importance as indicafing a complete change of heart on the part of the reigning dynasty. It means that the reactionary influences which have been dominant in Pekin through the uprising and have been on inned of late, have suffered a complete overthrow and that their most ucspiczous figures are on trial. It is relieved here that if .his action is retaine, it will be hard for any of the powers to find a reasonable pretext for longer refusing to heed the appeals of the Chinese government for the opening of negotiations looking to a settle-

The importance of the action is shown by the determination to try Prince Tuan before the Imperial Clan Court. This is the supreme judicial tribunal of China, and is the only one having jurisdiction over the members of the imperial family. It is presided over by Prince LI, with the well known Prince Ching as vice presi-Prince Li is the first of the 104017 eight princely families of China and is regarded as friendly to the progressive dament. The attitude of Prince Ching has been notable throughout the trouble as friendly to foreign interests. There are five other members of the reart, all of them high personages. They occupy a building at Pekin and are in regular session for the trial of this affecting members of the pobility and the highest personages. Chinese officials here say that the reference of the case to this high court is of itself the fullest assurance of the gravity with which the throne regards the natter. It is noted also that even befare the trial, Prince Tuan is stripped of his salary and official servants. Being a man of large and inhependent means, the loss of salary would not amount to much if it were not that this and the loss of the servants is a special means of humiliation. The ham s of the four princes who have bes degraded are not known here. either by the State Department or by the Chinese legation.
