BEARING A GRUDGE

We find the following editorial note in one of our exchanges which we reproduce at the risk of seeming to be personal. Somebody will say the editor, every editor ought to read and study this note, get it into the mind and heart. Some readers will fit these words to some other person, not even dreaming that the cap will fit the reader. Perhaps a few readers will feel that the editor had them in mind and it is possible that somebody will become offended as the words are read. We wish to assure all that these words were found in a Baptist paper published in Chicago, and the writer did not have in mind any of the readers of the Courier. We do not reprint these words because they are specially applicable to any one of our acquaintance, but it is well enough for us all to think on this subject. When we are face to face with death it may be too late to have off, to overcome, to rise above, and pardoned for an unrepented and unforsaken grudge. Read and give heed to these words.

"How can one be a Christian and bear a grudge? Many men and women think they can do it. They suppose that in the dark corner of their hearts where resentment rules the law of Christ has no authority. Everywhere else they will serve him; here they will nurse a cherished hatred. Is not our actual religion half-pagan still when we can so reason as many of us do? For if there is anything fundamental in the sermon on the mount it is that contempt and hatred, for any human being is a fearful sin. No man with anger in his heart, says Jesus can offer a single acceptable sacrifice to God. How shall it be with those men and women all around us who have said their sins and sung their sins. Mrs. Croom were members of the Baptist church and were earnest workers in all things pertaining to the welfare of their church and will be greatly missed by their collaborators. We wish for them as many friends in their new home as they leave behind them.

Tobacco came in pretty freely last week, and especially Friday and Saturday, when the Hyco had good breaks. We never saw tobacco sell higher than it sold then, and it is doing all right yet, possibly just as high. The fact is we expect to see tobacco sell well for some time yet, possibly all the coming season, for there is nothing to indicate that it is going to be lower still, when it is as high as it is now we would advise you to sell it as you get it ready for the market. Loge Garrett says you can not do better than bring it along to the Hyco Warehouse.

Oil for the Children.

Give them oil—cod-liver oil. It's curious to see the result. Give it to the peevish, fretful child, and he laughs. Give it to the pale, anæmic child, and his face becomes rosy and full of health. Take a flat-chested child, or a child that has stopped growing, give him the oil, and he will grow big and strong like the rest.

This is not a new scheme. It has been done for years. Of course you must use the right oil. Scott's Emulsion is the one.

Scott's Emulsion neither looks nor tastes like oil because we are so careful in making it pleasant to take.

A Parson's Noble Act.

"I want all the world to know," writes Rev. C. J. Bullong, of Ashaway, R. I., "what a thorough good and reliable medicine I found in Electric Bitters. They cured me of jaundice and liver troubles that had caused me great suffering for many years. For a genuine, all-round cure they excel anything I ever saw." Electric Bitters are the surprise of all for their wonderful work in Liver, Kidney and Stomach troubles. Don't fail to try them. Only 40 cts. Satisfaction is guaranteed by J. D. Morris.

A special from New York to The Richmond Times says that despite threats to resist in the courts the formation of a merger of Southern railroad plans for it are going right on; that conference with the view are held daily in J. Pierpont Morgan's office and that "the promoters of the combine will put forth such technicalities as allowed the Northern Securities Company to be formed." These are statements worthy of acceptance. We don't believe the story that this merger is not in contemplation, nor doubt that it will be effected when Morgan & Co. are ready. The more's the pity.—Charlotte Observer.

Beware of a Knife.

No profession has advanced more rapidly of late than surgery, but it should not be used except where absolutely necessary. In case of piles, for example, it is seldom needed. DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve cures quickly and permanently. Unequaled for cuts, burns, bruises, wounds, skin diseases. Accept no counterfeits. "I was so troubled with bleeding piles that I lost much blood and strength," says J. C. Phillips, Paris, Ill. "DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve cured me in a short time." Soothes and heals. J. A. Painter.

Mr. J. B. Whitaker, who has edited and managed the Winston Sentinel for a number of years, has severed his connection with that paper.

Foley's Honey and Tar is peculiarly adapted for chronic throat troubles and will positively cure them that they are enforced. The course of study is also printed in this issue and we are proud of the showing made there. When you complete the ninth grade you will be in a position to enter college, or you will be pretty well prepared to do life's battles without going further. Look up the rules and this course and read them carefully.

Celebrated Their Linen Wedding.

On last Wednesday evening Rev. and Mrs. George T. Watkins celebrated their linen wedding. Their home was brilliantly lighted up and notwithstanding the downpour of rain and the grim darkness without one could but feel the glow as he entered the threshold. At the door were Miss Addie Maie and Mr. W. D. Merritt giving the glad hand to all who presented themselves. Dressed in hat, cane and umbrella, Messrs. M. Carlton, S. G. Winstead and Dr. E. J. Tucker led you to the reception room where Messrs. F. O. Carver and W. A. Bradsher presented you to Mr. and Mrs. Watkins.

After a hearty hand shake and wishing them the best in life—which they so richly deserve, you are turned over to Mesdames J. S. Merritt and Jno. A. Noell, who are in charge of the refreshments, with the following young ladies to serve you: Misses Foy Bradsher, Anna Merritt, Annie Byrd Winstead, Delma Noell and Rosa Cheek. After a long stay in this department you are turned over to Messrs. J. M. Winstead and J. L. Foushee who escort you to the parlor and place you in the keeping of Miss Eugenia L. Bradsher, where you spend the remainder of the hour in social conversation.

The presents, linen of course, were numerous and costly, many of them two tables not being sufficient to hold them many were strewn in piles around the tables. Only the weather prevented it from being one of the most pleasant occasions imaginable, but to those who loved the storm nothing was lacking.

To those who missed this reception we assure them they missed an enjoyable evening. May they live to celebrate their golden wedding in our midst is the earnest wish of THE COURIER man.

A Candidate.

Having been a soldier in our late war and having been disabled to some extent from doing manual labor, born and raised in Person county, I feel that I have a right to appeal to the people of Person county for a position. To this end I declare myself a candidate for the office of Register of Deeds of Person county.

I have all my life been a faithful adherent of the Democratic party, and I trust my record will merit their support. I will appreciate all votes that I may receive and if elected on the 4th day of November I promise to the people of Person county an honest discharge of every duty imposed upon me to the best of my ability. This Aug. 11

Greensboro Nurseries.

Greensboro and Connett's Southern Early peaches are now all the talk among the fruit growers. Look out for these two peaches and remember that they were introduced by John A. Young, proprietor of Greensboro Nurseries. Fruit growers shipping by the car load, say that they are the money makers. Men who have introduced other varieties and talked them up, they were hoarse and now bound to acknowledge that he was right.

Costs Only 25 cents at Druggists,

1900.—I was first advised by our family physician in Charleston to use TEETHINA on a very young infant, as a preventive of colic and to warm and sweeten the stomach. It was very beneficial and so free from dangers that we have come to regard it, after use with three children when there is a new baby in the house and until the teething troubles are over, and that are consequent upon the teething troubles are over, and we take pleasure in recommending it to our friends instead of the horrid stuff that so many people use to keep their baby quiet.
