Miss Elizabeth Jeannette Wrenn And Albert L. Cox Are United In Marriage

In an impressive late afternoon ceremony, Miss Elizabeth Jeannette Wrenn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Alexander Wrenn, of Roxboro, and Albert Leslie Cox, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Preston Cox, of Jonesboro, were united in marriage this afternoon at 5 o'clock at Brookside Methodist church. Officiating minister was the pastor, the Rev. E. C. Maness, who used the double ring ritual.

Native pines, palms, and ferns formed a background for standard baskets of white gladioli, stock, and snapdragons, and for two white seven-branched candelabra.

Nuptial music was rendered by Mrs. Wallace Woods, pianist, and Mrs. J. A. Long, Sr., vocal soloist, of this city. Piano selections were: "Venezian Love Call", Nevin; "My Heart At Thy Sweet Voice", Saint-Saens; "Indian Love Call", Friml; "Nocturne", Grieg; "Viennese Melody", Thompson; "To The Rising Sun", Torjussen; and during the ceremony Mac Dowell's "To A Wild Rose". The bridal chorus from "Lohengrin" was used as the processional and Mendelssohn's wedding march for the recessional. Solos by Mrs. Long were: d'Hardelet's "Because"; "I Love You Truly" by Bond; and "The Lord's Prayer", Mallothe, as the benediction.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a traditional wedding gown of white slipper satin, with a round neckline, fitted bodice, full flowing skirt with a long train. The yoke of brocaded nylon was outlined with bertha ruffles, and the full length sleeves came to a point over the hand. Her finger-tip veil of illusion was fastened to a Dutch style crown embroidered with seed pearls. She carried a colonial bouquet of white roses, gladioli, and gardenias, showered with white ribbon streamers.

Her sister, Miss Sybil Harris Wrenn, maid of honor and her only attendant, wore a gown of white satin with v-neckline, fitted bodice, cape sleeves, and a long, full skirt. She wore a matching hat with short veil and carried a colonial bouquet of mixed sweetpeas.

Best man was Howard L. Cox of Durham, brother of the bridegroom, and ushers were Ellis Thomas Wrenn of Burlington, brother of the bride, Benjamin Earl Hester, Austin R. Rieves of Jonesboro, and Daniel R. Cameron of Jonesboro. Candles were lighted by James Sidney O'Brian, Jr. and John Irving Brooks, Jr., cousins of the bride. Master Claude Harris, Jr., was ring bearer.

Honorary bridesmaids, who wore full length dresses in pastel shades, were: Miss Olivia Garrett of Roxboro, Miss Nancy Lee Brooks of Durham, Miss Edna Earle Bullock of Jonesboro, and Mrs. Hollis Cox Yarborough of Raleigh, sister of the bridegroom.

Mother of the bride wore a navy blue sheer dress with navy blue and white accessories. Her corsage was of red roses. Mrs. Cox, mother of the bridegroom, was also attired in navy blue with navy and white accessories, and she, too, wore a corsage of red roses.

The bride is a graduate of Roxboro High School and attended Louisburg College and Croft's Secretarial School in Durham. For the past three years, she has held the position of chief clerk of the Person Selective Service Board. The bridegroom, who received his education in the Jonesboro schools and N. C. State College, was recently discharged from the Army after three years of overseas service. He is engaged in business with his father in Jonesboro, where the couple will make their home.

For traveling the bride chose a navy blue and aqua costume suit with a navy off-the-face hat, matching accessories, and a corsage of gardenias from her bridal bouquet.

Final pre-nuptial courtesy for the bride was the cake-cutting Friday night, following the wedding rehearsal for members of the families, intimate friends and the wedding party given by the parents of the bride at Hotel Roxboro. The dining room was artistically decorated in the traditional green and white. The bride's table was covered with a lovely lace cloth and centered with an arrangement of white gladioli, roses, and snapdragons in a crystal bowl. The three-tiered wedding cake

What Is Small Business?
A depositor of ours asked us that question the other day. "According to the Department of Commerce," we told him, "a small retail business is one that has less than $50,000 in annual sales." "Then, I'm one of the fellows you mean," he replied, "when you say you make loans to small businessmen." "Of course you are," we answered, "you and many others who run stores, shops, offices, farms and service enterprises of all kinds." More than 92% of all business in the country is small business — it's the backbone of American free enterprise. You may have only two or three employees, and operate from your own home, but you are the head of a business just the same, and we want to help. We are ready to make loans for every constructive need. Come right in.
