A citizens meeting is asked for at Firemen's hall Monday evening at 7:30. This meeting is called by the Board of Commissioners, and we are in hopes the citizens will turn out.

Mr. J. F. McGinerty, of Philadelphia, is a pleasant visitor, stopping at the Southern Pines Hotel. He is a dealer in wholesale notions in Philadelphia and is here for a season of recreation.

The postoffice has been moved to the Reynolds building on New Hampshire avenue and the patrons of Uncle Sam have a more convenient place to call for their mail. Postmaster Clarke has made several improvements in his fixtures, and with a better building more conveniently located the people of town have better postoffice facilities now than any time since the office was burned.

The new office of one of our prominent physician Dr. W. P. Swett, who has done his share in building up Southern Pines during the last ten years, is finished. Besides the rooms for himself and patients, there is a large sunny, well ventilated apartment, the air medicated certain hours of the day, supplied with appliances for games of all kinds. This with the gymnasium in the basement will surely be a boon to many visitors to our town who desire some recreation and amusement and at the same time that they are being greatly benefited. It certainly is an important and valuable addition to the facilities which are constantly being provided for the comfort and pleasure of the hundreds of people who come here for health and rest.

A NECESSITY.

In every home is a Quaker hot air Bath Cabinet. It opens the millions of pores all over the body and draws out the poison and impurities of the blood and entire system. No disease can resist its marvelous power. It is highly recommended by 27,000 physicians, and 1,350,000 users. It is just the thing in connection with this pure air, for your recovery. They are reduced now to five dollars, and cost only three cents for each bath. A Cabinet has been left at each of the following places for examination; Mr. Thomas' Hardware store, Southern Pines Hotel, and the Vermont House, where orders may be left by all who desire them. Call and examine them, and leave your order for one.
