

The Daily Tar Heel

Volume 101, Issue 102
A century of editorial freedom
Serving the students and the University community since 1893

Chapel Hill, North Carolina
WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 3, 1993

News/Features/Arts/Sports 962-0245
Business/Advertising 962-1163
© 1993 DTH Publishing Corp. All rights reserved.

IN THE NEWS

Top stories from the state, nation and world

Desert Winds Restoke Fires Near Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES — New brushfires, fanned by fierce desert winds, tore through brushland and hillside homes Tuesday, forcing hundreds of residents and schoolchildren to flee. Two people were badly burned while trying to rescue animals.

Roads jammed as people fled a giant blaze pushing through brush and enveloping homes in the Woodland Hills, Calabasas and Malibu areas 20 miles northwest of downtown Los Angeles.

Seventy acres were scorched in the San Bernardino County community of Yucaipa, 60 miles east of Los Angeles.

With winds clocked at up to 53 mph, the new round of blazes erupted as firefighters were consolidating their hold on big fires that broke out last week.

Hundreds of people who live in the narrow canyons fled as the fire bore down on their neighborhood. Many schools were evacuated.

Watson Spared Prison Sentence in Beating Trial

LOS ANGELES — Henry Watson pleaded guilty Tuesday to a felony count of assault and apologized for attacking truck driver Larry Tarvin at the outset of last year's riots. Under the plea agreement, he will be spared a prison term.

Watson, 29, entered the plea after prosecutors said they planned to retry him on the jury's one deadlocked count from the trial that ended last month.

In exchange for the plea, Watson will be on probation until January 1997 and will be required to do community service. He could have received up to seven years in prison upon conviction.

Senate Committee Rejects Packwood's Compromise

WASHINGTON — The Senate Tuesday night rejected an attempt to narrow the scope of an ethics committee subpoena for Sen. Bob Packwood's diaries. The vote was 77-23.

The second day of argument over access to Packwood's diaries, punctuated with flashes of anger by the Oregon Republican and others, moved the argument from legal theories to news disclosures.

Packwood offered to provide all diary entries on the employment opportunities for his former wife, Georgie, in addition to his proposal to turn over everything involving original allegations that he made unwanted sexual advances to more than two dozen women and tried to intimidate some of them to keep them quiet. The Senate Ethics Committee said no; it still wanted the diaries themselves.

Rightist Candidate Likely To Win Jerusalem Election

JERUSALEM — Six-term Mayor Teddy Kollek was headed for a resounding loss Tuesday to a right-wing lawyer in municipal elections viewed as a nationwide gauge of public support for the peace process.

Exit polls broadcast by Israel television showed Ehud Olmert, a 48-year-old former health minister, ahead 55 to 41 percent.

While the mayor has little direct say in the peace negotiations, he can set the tone for Arab-Israeli relations in a city that is holy for Muslims, Christians and Jews.

Papers Stolen As Protest At University of Maryland

COLLEGE PARK, Md. — Protesters seized about 10,000 copies of the student newspaper at the University of Maryland, claiming they were racist.

In place of the missing papers, the protesters left a small computer-generated sign Monday that read: "Due to its racist nature, the Diamondback will not be available today. ... Read a book."

No one claimed responsibility for the missing newspapers, which are distributed for free. Campus police said they were investigating.

About 20,000 copies were distributed Monday.

Several students said the protest probably stemmed from a general perception that the Diamondback was insensitive to blacks and other minorities on campus, rather than from any particular article.

Blacks account for 11 percent of the 23,300 undergraduates on the College Park campus.

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Weather

TODAY: Variably cloudy; high 58.
THURSDAY: Mostly sunny; warmer; high 65.

*****ELECTION RESULTS

ELECTION '93 N.C. BOND REFERENDUMS

With 98% precincts reporting	Yes	No
<input checked="" type="checkbox"/> YES UNC-System Bonds $310 Million	52%	48%
<input checked="" type="checkbox"/> YES Community College Bonds $250 Million	57%	43%
<input checked="" type="checkbox"/> YES Water and Sewer Bonds $145 Million	59%	41%
<input checked="" type="checkbox"/> YES State Parks Bonds $35 Million	56%	44%
<input checked="" type="checkbox"/> NO N.C. Bond Amendment	18%	82%

BY AMIR KHAN
STAFF WRITER

North Carolinians passed all four of the bond referendums on their ballots Tuesday, much to the jubilation of state and university officials who viewed the bonds as a great progressive step for the state.

"In my eight years as president, nothing compares to this in significance," UNC-system President C.D. Spangler said. "I'm a very happy university president."

The University Bond passed by a margin of 4 percent; the Community College Bond passed by a margin of 14 percent; the clean water bond passed by a margin of 18 percent; and the state parks bond passed by a margin of 12 percent.

The University Bond appropriates $310 million for 37 construction projects on all 16 UNC-system campuses. Community colleges will receive $250 million, while water-supply facilities will receive $145 million and state parks $35 million for overall improvement measures.

Spangler said the passage of the bonds was the pinnacle of his term as president.

"I am very pleased that the people of the state of North Carolina support universities," he said. "They've done it."

Amendment to N.C. Constitution Suffers Defeat

See Page 4

Rosemary Waldorf hugs Dianne Lemasters, a close friend and campaign committee member, after hearing the next-to-last election returns Tuesday night. Waldorf won the most votes in the Chapel Hill Town Council race.

N.C. Voters Pass University Bonds

Spangler said the university bonds also would benefit North Carolina economically.

"The bond will put to work 11,000 people in construction alone," he said. "Most importantly, it will give much-needed facilities for students. Some buildings will endure for 200 years in the future."

UNC Chancellor Paul Hardin said the university bonds would help to build four new buildings on campus.

For UNC, the bonds will finance a new building for the Kenan-Flagler Business School, the Lineberger Cancer Research Center, an addition to the UNC School of Dentistry, the Carolina Living and Learning Center for Autistic Adults and nine area health education centers across the state, he said.

"The new building for the business school will create space for journalism-mass communications in the empty Carroll Hall," Hardin said. "The new business center will be built on top of the hill where the Kenan Center is now, right behind the Smith Center."

State Treasurer Harlan Boyles said he was grateful to North Carolinians for voting to enact the four bonds.

"I think it is very encouraging," he said. "I am very pleased the people were so

Please See BONDS, Page 2

Two Incumbents, Four Newcomers Join Council

BY KELLY RYAN
CITY EDITOR

Rosemary Waldorf campaigned the same way two years ago, stressing the importance of proactive public safety measures and fiscal responsibility.

It took two years for Chapel Hill voters to be sold.

"I think two years have shown that I was right two years ago," Waldorf said Tuesday night after learning that she had been elected to the Chapel Hill Town Council. "I really believe the events that have occurred in the interim proved I was on the right track."

Waldorf is among the six new faces voters chose to serve on the town council. Waldorf, who Ken Broun defeated in the 1991 mayoral race, placed first in the neck-and-neck race with 6,196 votes. Incumbents Joyce Brown and Barbara Powell trailed Waldorf, securing 4,853 and 4,322 votes, respectively.

Lee Pavao grabbed 4,313 votes to win the fourth four-year council term. Business executive Jim Protzman, with 4,195 votes, and Pat Evans, with 4,049 votes, each will serve the remaining two years of two unexpired terms.

Eleven candidates ran for election for six open seats. Protzman and Evans will fill in for former council members Roosevelt

*****ELECTION RESULTS

ELECTION '93 CHAPEL HILL TOWN COUNCIL

Official results from Orange County Board of Elections

<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	Rosemary Waldorf	6,196	69%
<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	Joyce Brown	4,853	54%
<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	Barbara Powell	4,322	48%
<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	Lee Pavao	4,313	48%
<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	Jim Protzman	4,195	47%
<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	Pat Evans	4,049	45%
<input type="checkbox"/>	Alan Rimer	3,602	40%
<input type="checkbox"/>	Paul Tripodi	3,165	35%
<input type="checkbox"/>	Scott Radway	3,140	35%
<input type="checkbox"/>	Kenneth Rudo	1,499	17%
<input type="checkbox"/>	Jeff Snyder	1,486	16%

Please See COUNCIL, Page 7

Broun Wins Easy Second Term, Plans to Finish Job

BY ROCHELLE KLASKIN
ASSISTANT CITY EDITOR

Some people never throw in the towel. Chapel Hill Mayor Ken Broun will try to finish many of the projects he initiated the past two years during his second term.

"I think I did a good job my first two years, but I think there was a lot of learning to do. I spent a lot of that time finding out what mayors do," he said. "In order to be fully effective, I needed to spend a full four years in office."

Broun won Tuesday's uncontested mayoral race in Chapel Hill with 6,630 votes.

But his son, Dan, who is a graduate student in UNC's city and regional planning department, could not believe his dad was at it again.

"I'm bewildered why he wants to do this," he said.

But Dan Broun said his father hadn't embarrassed him yet, and as long he con-

*****ELECTION RESULTS

ELECTION '93 CHAPEL HILL MAYOR

Official results from Orange County Board of Elections

<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	Kenneth Broun	6,630	74%
-------------------------------------	---------------	-------	-----

tinued to dress well, he guessed it wouldn't be too bad.

Ken Broun, who also doubles as a professor of law, splits his days between the UNC Law School and Chapel Hill Town Hall.

Broun came to Chapel Hill from Chicago in 1968 and was dean of the law school from 1979-1987. He compares his experience as dean to the role he now plays as mayor.

Please See BROWN, Page 7

RHA Plans Letter Campaign In Support of Visitation Policy

BY RACHAEL LANDAU
STAFF WRITER

The Residence Hall Association has launched a campaign to encourage students and parents to show their support for the new visitation pilot program to the Board of Trustees, which will review the program during its regular Nov. 19 meeting.

"There has been so much negative feedback that we need something to counteract it," said Jan Davis, RHA president.

Students in six residence halls voted Sept. 21 to allow 24-hour visitation by people of the opposite sex. The old policy, which is still in effect in the rest of the dorms, allows opposite-sex guests in dorm rooms from 9 a.m. to 1 a.m. Sunday through Thursday and from 9 a.m. to 2 a.m. Friday and Saturday.

BOT members said Tuesday that they had received some complaints about the policy but were hesitant to judge the program.

"Everyone I know has been against the program," said Walter Davis, a BOT member. He has not received any positive feedback about the program, he said.

"I don't want to prejudge the program before I hear about it, and discuss it with the board," Walter Davis said.

But other board members said they thought the program was unnecessary and shouldn't have been adopted. BOT member David Whitchard said he had gotten complaints from across the state. "This was a very important decision, and we were not informed of it before it happened," he said.

"I do not agree with the program and feel that it is a very ill-conceived policy and it is not in the interests of the University," Whitchard said. "It should not have been

Please See RHA, Page 2

Kinnaird Keeps Carrboro Mayor Post

BY AMY PINIAK AND KATHRYN HASS
STAFF WRITERS

Eleanor Kinnaird won a fourth term as Carrboro mayor Tuesday night, winning 60 percent of the votes to beat longtime colleague Hilliard Caldwell, a 12-year member of the Carrboro Board of Aldermen.

Kinnaird, who ran unopposed in 1991, received 1,605 votes to Caldwell's 1,021. She said she was very pleased with the results, but thought it would have been a much closer race.

"The key factor was a very well-run campaign," she said. "With all the endorsements, good voter support and a hard-working campaign group, it all adds up."

Her campaign did not target one particular voting population, Kinnaird said. "We made a real effort to reach everyone. We called every voter two or three times," she said. "The voter turnout was absolutely tremendous."

Kinnaird said the vote of the North Carrboro precinct was a nice surprise. She won 599 votes to Caldwell's 445 in that precinct.

"I was pleasantly surprised with the results in North Carrboro because I've lost there every time," she said.

Continuing work on Carr Court Community Center, construction of a town commons and a branch library will be three goals during Kinnaird's fourth term.

"This gives me a chance to finish the three projects with strong support," she said. "Right now I would like to get more students involved as mentors in the Carr Court program and coordinate each with a child, a parent and a teacher."

Kinnaird said her re-election would allow her to continue being an active leader and working well with the board of aldermen. She praised the winners in the board of aldermen race and said she looked forward to working with them.

"Jackie (Gist) has always had a very strong, progressive voice and her leadership has been significant. Mike (Nelson) will bring a fresh perspective to the board," she said. "Hank Anderson will provide a voice for the minority and balance the board."

Kinnaird said she was sorry to see Caldwell leave Carrboro politics. "I have a great deal of respect for Hilliard," she said. "He's a good friend of mine. Working Eleanor Kinnaird hugs a campaign supporter after winning her fourth term as mayor of Carrboro.

*****ELECTION RESULTS

ELECTION '93 CARRBORO MAYOR

Official results from Orange County Board of Elections

<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	Eleanor Kinnaird	1,605	60%
<input type="checkbox"/>	Hilliard Caldwell	1,021	38%

with him on the board of aldermen has been a good experience. So of course, it's a bittersweet moment."

Her fourth mayoral term also would "absolutely" be her last, Kinnaird said. "It's hard to campaign every two years, and it's nerve-racking to always be in the spotlight for things I've said that weren't as circumspect as they could've been," she said.

"It will be nice to be a private citizen, but I probably will still be active on citizens' boards and things like that."

Alex Zaffron, Kinnaird's campaign manager, said the election experience had been tiring and extraordinary. "Up until the end, I thought it would be a very tight race. At times I thought we'd lose," he said.

Zaffron, who also ran Kinnaird's campaign in 1989, said the crew focused on presenting Kinnaird clearly and concisely to as many voters as possible.

Please See CARRBORO, Page 7

If the grass is greener in the other fellow's yard — let him worry about cutting it.

Fred Allen