

U.S. Soldiers Continuing To Seize Weapons in Haiti

PORT-AU-PRINCE, Haiti — American military patrols rolled through the capital searching for weapons Sunday after seizing 1,000 arms at a border outpost and hundreds more at a paramilitary training

In another sign of change in Haiti, the voice of exiled President Jean-Bertrand Aristide was heard on state radio for the first time in years. State media, which had banned his voice, was under the control of Haiti's coup leaders until American troops seized the installations Friday.

The American mission was being debated Sunday in Washington, D.C., where the House is expected to vote this week on setting a pull-out date for American troops.

American military police removed semiautomatic weapons, machine guns, teargas grenades and rifles.

Serb Forces Detain U.N. Convoy, Break Agreement

SARAJEVO, Bosnia-Herzegovina — Bosnian Serbs stopped a U.N. military convoy Sunday, a day after agreeing to permit free passage through Serb-held territory.

The Serbs signed an agreement Saturday to end their blockade of U.N. aid and military land convoys, which they imposed in retaliation for a NATO airstrike on a

But a Dutch military convoy trying to leave Srebrenica in eastern Bosnia was stopped and detained Sunday at the first Serb checkpoint outside the mostly Muslim enclave

Claire Grimes, a U.N. spokeswoman, said it was possible word of the agreement had not yet reached Serb troops on the

Fear of Plague Spreads to Two Persian Gulf Nations

NEW DELHI, India — Authorities tried to calm widening panic over India's deadly plague outbreak on Sunday, and two Persian Gulf states began evacuating their citizens.

Neighboring Bangladesh and Pakistan, meanwhile, reported the first suspected cases of pneumonic plague outside India. Fear of contamination has reached panic levels in New Delhi, the capital and home to 11 million people. Press Trust of India said the number of suspected plague cases reported had risen from 2,848 on Saturday to 4,059 on Sunday. Only about 22 cases have so far been confirmed. The majority have turned out to be other diseases such as tuberculosis and pneumonia, or even com-

March Marks Anniversary Of Russian Confrontation

MOSCOW — Thousands of nationalists, communists and other opponents of Boris Yeltsin marched in Moscow Sunday to commemorate the anniversary of the bloody confrontation last year that ended with government troops storming the parliament building.

In sharp contrast to last Oct. 3, when thousands rampaged through the city and battled police, the 4,000 marchers Sunday were escorted by police.

The demonstration was both a religious memorial and a call to unite against Yeltsin.

Yeltsin had issued the order to open fire on the rebellious parliament on Oct. 4, 1993.

More than 140 people died in two days

Japanese Land in Zaire on Mission to Aid Rwandans

GOMA, Zaire - The first unit of Japanese ground troops deployed under Japa-nese command since World War II landed in Goma Sunday on a mission that could lead to a greater Japanese role in international peacekeeping.
"This is our first humanitarian mission in Japanese history," said Col. Mitsunobu Kamimoto, commander of the Armed Self-

He said he hoped Japan would "take its ace ... in the world" after the mission, which will focus on providing medical support, water and sanitation for some of the 850,000 Rwandan refugees in the Goma

Japan, a country of strong pacifist senti-ments since World War II, bans the use of its troops to settle international disputes. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Weather

TODAY: Cloudy, breezy; high 68. TUESDAY: Mostly sunny; high 68.

University Hires Interim Audit Director

Former Head Auditor Capel Reassigned to Department Of Systems and Procedures

BY JULIE CORBIN

In an effort to heal the troubled internal audit department at UNC, Bruce Thomas, executive assistant to N.C. Central University Chancellor Julius Chambers, has been hired as the interim director of the

Edwin Capel, the former director, has ment of Systems and Procedures.

Thomas, a former deputy state auditor, was chosen because of his extensive experience with both the state's audit depart-ment and the UNC-system audit department, said Wayne Jones, vice chancellor for business and finance.

We went after Bruce after Eddie Capel asked for reassignment because there wasn't a better person to come into the situation," Jones said Sunday. "He's an ideal fit for this position at this time."

Jones was unsure how long Thomas will stay on as interim director. Thomas is still an employee at NCCU, and probably will return, Jones said. "In effect we are borrowing him from Central," he said. Chambers was not available for comment Sunday.

As the first director to report directly to the chancellor's office, Thomas will have to work out the change in the organizational structure, Jones said. In his new position Thomas will pick up on Capel's job, finishing investigations in progress at this time, Jones said. He would not comment on the investigations taking

Thomas will also follow up on other loose ends, such as reports on completed audits that have not been issued, Jones

Thomas could not be reached on Sunday for comment.

The Internal Audit Department will no longer perform management advisory duties, Jones said. This change will "avoid the company of the co the question of what is an audit as opposed to a management review service, said. The systems and procedures depart-ment, part of the University's business and finance division, will perform these duties

Capel will focus on management advising in the systems and procedures depart-ment. All audits will still be performed by the Internal Audit Department.

"Particularly with the shift in management advising, systems and procedures was the natural place for (Capel) to be reassigned. His interest is in seeing the University improve its processes," Jones said.

Capel refused to comment Sunday. Capel requested reassignment within the University after the Internal Audit Department was criticized in a report issued by the state auditor's office.

suce by the state auditor's office.

As Internal Audit Director of the University, Capel was criticized for failing to issue reports on audits performed by his staff. Aninvestigationby the State Auditory. Office found that Capel had neglected to issue reports of financial irregularities.

Last May, Jones asked the State

Please See AUDIT, Page 4

Festifall continues its tradition of ever-growing offerings with international foods, artisans, music and dancing.

Gwen Overturf paints a flower on Annie Williams' face to benefit the Child Care Networks.

BY CHARLEEN GRAHAM

Chapel Hill's annual Festifall closed this year's installment in record-setting fashion — the Chapel Hill police received only one report of a lost, then returned, child.

"We usually have at least two or three," said Capt. Tony Oakley, of the Kyamil Orsini enjoys the music of the Rifa'i Marufi Order of America Players Sunday afternoon at Festifall. Franklin Street between

Chapel Hill police. Oakley was also happy to announce that the police were able to reopen the street in record time. Franklin Street was fully accessible by 7:45 p.m.
This year's Festifall continued the tradition established by its predecessors. The annual event, which began more than 20 years ago, experimented with a few different names before deciding upon the seasonal name of Festifall. It is sponsored by the Town of Chapel Hill and the Parks and Recreation Department.

This year there were over 200 booths and over 20,000 guests to the street affair Expectations for next year's Festifall are high, maintain ing the tradition of one of Chapel Hill's more festive Festifall ran from 1 p.m.

through 6 p.m. on Sunday, with five hours packed full of fun and festivity. Held this year on West

Willie Jackson of the Rathskeller gives Peter Villano a sample of chili at Festifall's Chili Cook-Off.

Roberson and Church streets, Festifall attracted a wide array of vendors and Food offerings ran the international gamut, ranging from Greek gyros to Indian delicacies. Also making appear-ances were hundreds of pounds of incredible homemade baked goods from churches and other local groups.

Local radio station WCHL sponsored a Chili Cook-Off for local chili gour-mets. Chili enthusiasts could pay $3 for a chance to sample some of the best chili

According to WCHL's Alicia Haigler, J & J's Deli of Tymberline Shopping Center won this year's Judges Award, while The Rat took home the People's Choice prize with their special chili reci-

For music lovers, Festifall offered a variety of performers, including The Guiding Lights, a spiritual and gospel choir, and Main Street, a rhythm and

Please See FESTIFALL, Page 2

Soccer Win Streak Ends At 92 Games

STAFF REPORT

Eventually, all great things come to an end. Sunday, UNC's top-ranked women's soccer team found that out.

The top-ranked Tar Heels didn't lose, but they did tie No. 3 Notre Dame 0-0 in the Collegiate America Cup'94 in St. Louis, ending their winning streak at 92 games.

After a 90-minute game and two 15-minute overtimes, neither team had any-thing to show on the scoreboard for their labor. UNC (11-0-1) outshot Notre Dame (9-0-1) 25-10, but the Irish refused to fold.

"It was a great game," said UNC head coach Anson Dorrance. "I have to give Notre Dame credit for playing with fire for the entire 120 minutes."

Even though the win streak has ended, North Carolina still has the opportunity to break the NCAA soccer record for games without a loss, thanks in part to big plays in goal. Goalkeepers Tracy Noonan and Shelly Finger each had two saves to keep the game scoreless.

The most timely came with 20 seconds left in the second overtime when Noonan knocked away a shot by Notre Dame's Holly Manthei within the penalty area. The unbeaten record stands at 103 and is held by North Carolina, a mark that was sheld by Noth carolina, a mark that was set by UNC squads from 1986-1990.

The Tar Heels came close to breaking the deadlock twice in the first overtime period when sophomores Debbie Keller and Missy Boyle both had shots ricochet off the cross bar.

'I'm also very proud of my kids for fighting the entire game," Dorrance said. "I was pleased with our composure — we constantly tried to push forward and figure out ways to attack Notre Dame, but we could not get a goal."

Senior All-America Tisha Venturini led the assault on Fightin' Irish goalie Jen Renola, who had 10 saves on the day. Venturini mustered six shots-on-goal, while teammate Danielle Egan attempted five. Cindy Dawes was the Irish's leading gun attempting four shots on the afternoon.

And of course, there are the "first times": ■ It is the first time UNC hasn't won a game since a 2-2 tie against Central Florida Please See WOMEN'S SOCCER, Page 2

UNC Housekeepers Take Their Case to N.C. Court of Appeals

Attorney Asks for Hearing Over Allegations of Racial Discrimination at University

> BY AMY REAVIS STAFF WRITER

The N.C. Court of Appeals hear ments Thursday to allow a group of black housekeepers an administrative hearing to discuss alleged racial discrimination at

The group of housekeepers, who are represented by Chapel Hill attorney Al

McSurely, have spent four years progressing through the University's grievance pro-

"The oral argument went very well," McSurely said Sunday. "The judges seemed to be most interested in UNC," he said.

The case under appeal stems from an October 1993 dismissal of a class action suit brought against the University by the housekeepers. UNC's lowest paid employ

The suit alleged that black housekeepers were paid less than their white counterparts and were denied the same training and promotion opportunities that their co-workers had received.

At the appeal hearing, the housekeepers asked the court to make a clear-cut decision as to whether the State Personnel Act (SPA) would cover jurisdiction over this type of claim, McSurely said.

The Wake County judge who dismissed the case in October ruled that the housekeepers' claims were too vague to fall un-It will take the N.C. Court of Appeals four to six weeks to make a decision regarding the housekeepers' case. If the court is in favor of their appeal, McSurely said he would begin preparation for a two week

If the group loses the appeal, McSurely will appeal to the N.C. Supreme Court.

"I believe this will turn out to be a very dramatic testimony of how housekeepers have been treated," McSurely said. "Housekeepers around the state will be watching this case very carefully."

McSurely said the housekeepers had been waiting to find out whether their claim would be heard in state court or whether they should file in federal court. "The housekeepers have a good case, but they need to go to the federal level,"

McSurely said. "It is ironic that UNC wants the federal government to come in to see if their employees are being discriminated against,

'The University has a long history of denying racism, "he added. The 'Bazemore vs. Friday' case ended up in Supreme Court, and it took UNC 17 years to admit to discrimination in that case, he said.

There are around 300,000 total state

ployees, 5,800 of which are emp by UNC. In comparison to other state employees, housekeepers have a bad record regarding discrimination, McSurely said.

However, the UNC employees subject the SPA constitute about one-third of the total SPA workforce in the 16-campus

Noon — Mini pep rally in the Pit
6 p.m. — Parade on Franklin Street
7 p.m. — Pep rally on Franklin Street
8 p.m. — Laser show/video dance party on Henderson Street
8.30 p.m. to 11 p.m. — Franklin Street

Saturday

10 a.m. — Tail Great (super tailgate party) on Stadium Drive by Fetzer Gym

12:10 p.m. — UNC vs. Georgia Tech football

Stolen ONE Cards Used in Bad Check Scam

BY CHRISTINA MASSEY

A Durham man was arrested Wednesday in connection with stealing more than 400 UNC ONE Cards in January, according to University Police reports.

Canu Cassio DiBona, 21, of 1104 Iredell St. in Durham was charged with a felony financial transaction card theft for his role in the theft, which evolved into a multistate fraud ring, reports state. Durham County Detective Sgt. J. Davis and University Police Lt. Clay Williams arrested DiBona in Durham for delaying and obstructing a public official when he wrongly identified himself as a UNC student and presented the detectives with a fraudu-lently obtained ONE Card that linked him to the thefts, reports state.

This information was presented to Chapel Hill Magistrate Earl Allison Wednesday afternoon, and he issued the warrant for DiBona's arrest, reports state.
DiBona was being held Wednesday in Orange County Jail on $1,000 bond, but was later released. DiBona is the third person to be arrested in connection with the ring, which was based at a fraternity at the University of Virginia, wire reports state.

Philippe Zamore, 21, of Charlottesville,

Va., was arrested in April and charged with felony larceny for trying to use a stolen credit card, reports state. Marcus Tucker, 23, also of Charlottesville, was arrested Sept. 15 at a Durham shopping mall and charged with felony financial transaction card theft and two counts of forgery, reports state.

DiBona and Tucker were mainly responsible for stealing the cards from the Student Union last winter, reports state. They gave most of them to the UVa. fraud ring but kept some and started their own. As of Friday, Tucker was in the Durham County Jail. DiBona was free on bond and

Please See HOUSEKEEPERS, Page 2

RAMPAGE '94 — UNC HOMECOMING WEEK Friday: Carolina Blue and White Day

Monday: UNC Sweatshirt Day Noon — UNC drum line in the Pit 12:30 p.m. — High-Kicking Heels in the Pit 7 p.m. — Cross-Cultural Night in Great Hall Tuesday: Tie Day

7 p.m. - Mr. UNC contest in the Union

Wednesday: Boxer Day Noon — Mack Brown in the Pit 12:30 p.m. — Homecoming Court in the Pit 9 p.m. — Midweek Blowout Party at Players

Thursday: '70s Day 7 p.m. — Step show in Memorial Hall

8 p.m. - UNC Comedy Jam featuring Chris Rock and Adele Givens in Memo

*In the event of rain, these events will be held in Carmichael Auditorium.

A tourist is a fellow who drives thousands of miles so he can be photographed standing in front of his car.

Emile Ganest