

Former Tar Heel Phelps Thriving in CBA

STAFF REPORT
Derrick Phelps is rocking on in the Continental Basketball Association. The former North Carolina basketball player was named the CBA American Conference Player of the Week Monday.

Phelps, who played for UNC from 1990-94, now plays for the Chicago Rockers. The point guard was in the Milwaukee Bucks' veteran camp before being cut before the start of the NBA season. Phelps was selected in the first round of the CBA draft by Chicago.

For the week ending Dec. 3, he averaged 20 points, seven assists, six rebounds and 36 minutes a game as he led the Rockers to a 7-1 record to open the season. Against the Rockford Lightning last week, the 6-foot-4 Phelps tallied 23 points, nine rebounds and seven assists. He has started all eight games for Chicago.

"I'm working hard for myself and the team," Phelps said. "I'm trying to improve my game and make it to the next level. The transition from college to pro was difficult at the beginning, but I'm working hard on my weaknesses."

Phelps, who started at point guard for the Tar Heels for three years, averaged 9.2 points, 5.3 assists and 3.8 rebounds in his senior season. He was an AP honorable mention All-American in 1994.

Injured Elway Could Be Back Sunday Against L.A.

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
DENVER — John Elway's knee injury isn't as serious as first thought, doctors said Monday, leaving a chance he could play Sunday against the Los Angeles Raiders and keeping the Broncos in the playoff picture.

"It's real encouraging right now," coach Wade Phillips said at a news conference. "There is a possibility he can play. It depends on how he responds to treatment."

Elway twisted his knee during a quarterback sneak on an 18-play drive in the first half of the fourth quarter against Kansas City Sunday. He was sacked twice and hit hard two other times, limping off the field after a third-down completion to Glyn Milburn.

Hugh Millen stepped in and led the Broncos to a 20-17 overtime victory over the Chiefs. Both teams are 7-6 and tied for second place in the AFC West. But nobody views the journeyman Millen as the man to lead Denver to the playoffs.

Doctors examined Elway's left knee Monday and diagnosed it as a strained muscle and some mildly stretched ligaments, Phillips said.

"John is probably one of the most durable quarterbacks there is. A lot of his durability is because of his off-season work with lifting weights and running and watching his weight," said Phillips.

Elway first injured the knee in high school and then hyperextended it in 1985. He had the anterior cruciate ligament removed, and he has worn a heavy brace ever since.

Phillips said the outside chance of Elway suffering an injury was one reason why the Broncos signed Millen, a nine-year NFL veteran.
