HOOKER

the economy and have become "private university wannabes" locked in ivory tow-

Hooker sees a changing world in which knowledge and science increasingly matter to the economy.

"The reason we need to refocus the university in this area is because of the changing character of the economy. I think the faculty understands that our future is going to be secure only if we are demonstrably a benefit to the commonwealth. Hooker said.

Public-private partnerships have been a theme of Hooker's administrative career He was initially identified during UMass search for a president because of his success at the University of Maryland at Baltimore County in cultivating the support of biotechnology companies. UMass was looking for a leader who would develop its role as an "economic engine" for Massa-chusetts, following the advice of a report prepared by Massachusetts Institute of Technology chairman David Saxon. At UMBC, Hooker was credited with turning a little-known school into a leader in biotechnology research and for helping to build a Baltimore-Washington corridor of technological industry. In the process, he won wide support from industry lead-ers. And in 1989, when UMBC was threat-ened with deep budget cuts, businesses remembered Hooker's work, according to the Boston Business Journal.

"I've never had an easier time getting a bunch of top CEOs in Maryland to come up with endorsements for the university, Tom Chmura of the Greater Baltimore Committee told the Journal.

Technology for Life

But Hooker, who earned a UNC philosophy degree with highest honors in 1969, is not just interested in technology for its economic potential.

He envisions a future where advances in biotechnology unearth a slew of decisions for human life. And he wants the university to prepare students to pick their way through these problems in a way that w affirm their humanity. But for all his talk about science, Hooker's prescription for success is a liberal arts education that trains students to think rather than how to per-

CHANCELLOR

his own position in the search. McCormick came to UNC from Rutgers University in 1992 to assume the position of provost. He took over many of the day-to-day duties of the chancellorship in 1993, and was widely known to be a contender for UNC's top job after Hardin's departure. "The regulations require that you submit two names, so we submitted two names

I think McCormick got a fair hearing, said a member of the search comm When asked about his future plans, McCormick also declined to com

At UMass, Hooker currently draw salary of $189,000. Hardin made $150,00 at UNC. In April, Spangler obtained approval to supplement the chancellor salaform specific skills.

Hooker suggests that a traditional lib-eral arts education won't cut it anymore, even if coupled with good science classes Instead, he advocates a curriculum that will teach students how to make decisions in an environment of ambiguity, uncertainty and inadequate information. He calls for an active education that engages stu-dents in class and builds self-confidence.

"Education that consists mainly of fiftyminute lectures and recipe-book laborato ries will not suffice to meet the challenge. Education must be a highly interactive consistently challenging, open-ended pro-cess that will assure the results of predis-posing students confidently toward reaoned action," he wrote.

Still, Hooker seems to think it will be an uphill battle to educate the generation that grew up in suburban shopping malls, that he told The Christian Science Monitor he visits in free time on business trips.

"The shopping mall is a contemporary opium," he said. "Half of the kids there are stoned anyway, but the other half are stoned by the mall. The mall provides a kind of transfixing environment which takes their mind off whatever their issues are. They walk around — you look in their eyes, and there's nobody home."

The people who will be successful in the next generation are the antithesis of the mall slacker, he said.

All Talk?

Even critics acknowledge that Hooker lives up to large portions of his definition for success — he is routinely called an energetic, confident visionary who takes on tough challenges — but some question his ability to work with others.

Throughout his career, Hooker has built reputation for pushing the envelope of higher education to the point that some have concluded he plays poor politics. In one episode in spring 1994, Hooker apparently irked Mass. Gov. William Weld going around him and approaching gislative leaders after Weld offered a $4 million budget increase, the Boston Herald reported. Hooker ended up winning a $10 million increase. This year, however, Hooker apparently fared better with Weld. Hooker's wife, Carmen Buell, is a Democratic Representative in the Massachusetts

State House, and serves as chairman of the Legislative Oversight Committee.

ries in the UNC system with private funds, raising the UNC chancellor's salary to $200,000. In April, Spangler said he thought the salary increase was probably crucial to retaining the pool of chancellor finalists. But at least one member of the search committee disagreed. "Pay is not an issue. When we interviewed Hooker, the pay increase hadn't come into effect and he was obviously interested," the member Almost all the 22 members of the search committee met Hooker before issuing their final recommendation. The committee originally received Hooker's name from the private consulting firm Korn Ferry International Inc..

The Boston Globe reported that Hooker convinced Gov. Weld to reduce his proposed cut for higher education from $25 million to $10 million. And state legislands with the convenience of tors and trustees were warm toward his critical report card that admitted shortfundraising, SAT scores and research funding and proposed remedies.

On campuses, however, faculty protested the C-plus grade and Hooker's subsequent salary increase, while chunks of crete fall from some campus buildings ornicate tail from some campus buildings for lack of repair money.

"It's very confusing that the university got a C-plus rating and the person who runs it gets a raise. How is he outstanding if the university is average?" demanded secretary of the faculty senate John Bracey, the Boston Globe reported. the Boston Globe reported.
Dissatisfied faculty at UMass have criticized Hooker for setting ten-year goals but leaving after only three years. Members of leaving after only three years. Members of the UNC search committee wouldn't specu-late as to whether they thought Hooker would stay at UNC or use the chancellor-ship as a stepping stone to an even more prestigious administrative post. "I think he was very sincere when he spoke of his commitment to North Carolina," said one search committee member 'But you never know.

Hooker has also attracted some contro versy with his plan to promote "big-time" football and basketball at UMass as a way of bolstering its reputation to that of "world-

But Hooker has run into criticism for supporting an athletic program with a history of lax academic standards. One trustee went public with his concern about sacri-

The Boston Globe found that the school has no limit on the number of players with poor academic records who can be admitpoor academic records who can be admir-ted under a "special talents" exception. Unlike UNC, UMass accepts Proposition 48 players, who fail to meet the NCAA standard of a 2.0 average and 700 SAT score. The basketball team's SAT average is 790, more than 200 points below school's average. And several players have been on academic probation.

For his part, Hooker seems to chalk up some of the difficulties of selling Massa-chusetts on his "world-class" plan to the nature of a recession-battered state. "I was not prepared for the difficulty of convinc ing people in Massachusetts that we too

After months of intensive secrecy around the search, local media began to bandy about Hooker's name the first week of May. Faculty and administrators have eagerly read reports of Hooker's record at UMass and other universities, and wonder how his leadership style will fit in at UNC.

""I think Hooker really has the potential to do a terrific job," said a UNC professor. "He has great vision and ideas. It's a question of whether he'll get them ful-

A member of the search committee said that Hooker's leadership style - characterized by some at UMass as autocratic — was better suited to running a single campus rather than an entire university system could have a great state university," he told the Boston Globe.

UMass President MICHAEL HOOKER poses on the UMass system's flagship campus at Amherst, where many faculty members have criticized the president's leadership style.

But when it comes to race, Hooker has been willing to jump into the fray of campus life, and he has done so successfully.

Little more than a month after he arrived at UMass, racial tensions flared on the Amherst campus after a black student was assaulted in his dorm and anti-black and anti-semitic graffiti were scrawled on the walls of the building.

Hooker won praise for meeting with students and a U.S. Justice Department mediation team following the incidents.

At UMBC, Hooker reprimanded administrators for mishandling two racial incidents and created an office of minority affairs following a campus sit-in. The of-fice was charged with recruiting minority faculty, students and staff.

Hooker's success at recruiting strong minority students at UMBC was noted when he became a finalist to be president of the University of Central Florida in late 1991. He later dropped out of the race.

A Popular Guy?

Despite his critics, Hooker remains a popular figure with many constituencies

Stephen Birdsall, dean of the College of Arts and Sciences, said he was "glad" to have a permanent chancellor coming in June. "Now we have an opportunity to learn his ideas early enough in the summer that we can get this rough in the summer. that we can get things underway in a man-ner he would like," Birdsall said.

BOG members said they were prepared to discuss Hooker at Friday's meeting. "I was impressed with what I read in the was impressed with what I read in the papers," said BOG Member Joe Thomas.

An Alumnus Comes Home to Roost A biography of Michael Hooker, UNC's next chancellor

Born 1945 in Richlands, Va., He is the only child born to a coal-mining

■ Wife: Dem. Mass. State Rep. Carmen

Child: Alexandra, born 1981.

1969 Graduated from UNC with highest honors in philosophy; Spent sum working on oil rig. 1973 Earned master's degree and doctorate in philosophy from the University of Massachusetts at

Amherst.. 1973-75 assistant Professor of philosophy at Harvard University 1975-77 assistant Professor of philosophy at Johns Hopkins

1977-78 Assistant Dean of Undergradu ate and Graduate Studies, Johns Hopkins University.

1978-80 Associate Dean of Undergraduate and Graduate Studies, John

1980-82 Dean of Undergraduate and Graduate Studies, Johns Hopkins University.

1982-86 President, Bennington College, Bennington, Vt.; Assumed first top post at college or university at age 37. Presided over a financial restructuring of the small private for his proposals to make the university ambitious goals and his sheer style.

"I think he's done a very good job," said John Robison, chairman of the UMass philosophy department. "He's been a very Robison, who also knew Hooker as a doctoral student, cited Hooker's ongoing struggle to defend university funding against the shrinking Massachusetts budget. "Hooker's just the messenger who was here to deliver the bad news." Robison said. He acknowledged that some UMass faculty members blame Hooker for cuts to the university budget.

"I have not met or talked to (Hooker) "It's taken a long time over there, but it looks like the search committee has found a good individual

At the beginning of the search process in March 1994, Spangler said publically that he expected to see a woman on the short list of chancellor candidates forwarded him by the BOT. But Spangler did not return the short list to the BOT as he technically has the right to do if dissatisfied with the expensive in the US.

1986-92 President, University of Maryland, Baltimore County, Created an office of counseling for minority

1992-95 President, University of Massachustetts; Tried to increase state funding for the five-campus UMass system. Addressed racial tensions on campus. Angered faculty by giving system a C+ rating while getting an eight percent pay raise.

NON-PROFIT BOARD MEMBERSHIPS Economic Development Commission, Baltimore Co., Md., 1987-Chesapeake Bay Outward Bound, 1987mmittee on International Programs, American Association of State

Colleges and Universities, 1986-National Aquarium in Baltimore, 1987-Institute for Global Ethics, 1990-State of Maryland Office of Technology

Development, 1988-Commission on Leadership Development American Council of Education, 1988-

CORPORATE BOARD MEMBERSHIPS

Columbia Bancorp, 1987-Biotechnology Development Corp., Inc., Boston, 1987-

Interfacts, Columbia, Md., 1988 Grace Ventures, Cupertino, Calif., 1988-

As for style, Hooker once told a panel that he works out every day, but finds it too intense to be relaxing. So he took up acu-puncture. And then there was the story of how Hooker applied to be a deputy in Golden, Colo. A sheriff who was a former philosophy student put a notice in a philosophy journal that he needed a deputy. As a young professor at Harvard, Hooker losophy journal that he needed a de responded and was called for an interview

But rather than living out his dreams of life in the wild west, Hooker stuck to the academy and wrote about Descartes. What his personal blend of brawn, brashness and business will mean to UNC remains to be finalists chosen. Pamela Gann, Dean of the Duke University Law School, was discussed by the search committee as a potential candidate late in the search process, but didn't make it onto the short list. Gann was out of town and could not be reached for comment Wednesday.

At the University of Maryland at Balti-more County, Hooker told the DTH that he made a concerted effort to reverse gender inequities in faculty salaries.

CAMPUS REP

WANTED The nation's leader in college mais seeking an energetic, entrepre student for the position of campu No sales involved. Place advertis bulletin boards for companies such as American Express and Microsoft.

American Express and Microsoft. Great part-time job earnings. Choose your own hours; 4-8 hours per week required. Cali: Campus Rep Program American Passage Media Corp. 215 W. Harrison, Seattle, WA 98119 (800) 487-2434 Ext. 4444

NURSES LOOKING FOR PROFESSIONAL GROWTH

As an Army Nurse, you'll be part of a highly professional health care sys-tem in which educational and career advancement are the rule. Find out more about Army Nursing opportuni-ties. Call your local Army Nurse Recruiter today. 1-800-662-7473 ARMY NURSE CORPS.

BE ALL YOU CAN BE.

Get The Class You've Always Wanted.

Be one of the first 500 students to pre-lease furniture for fall and we'll give you 20% off your first month's rent

If you want to make a good impression this year, there's a class you should register for, no matter what your major. It's the class you'll get from Cort Furniture Rental.

Not only does our furniture look smart, renting it is smart. You get to choose the style of name-brand furniture you want. It won't strain your student budget. And it saves you the hassle and expense of moving that old stuff that's been sitting around your folk's attic back and forth each semester.

We also rent TVs, VCRs, microwaves and other kitchen essentials, plus bedroom and bathroom linens.

So call your nearest Cort showroom and get the kind of class you won't find in a course registration booklet.

Durham: 5400 Chapel Hill Blvd., 919-493-2563 • Chapel Hill: 919-929-5075 • Raleigh 1820 New Hope Church Rd., 919-876-7550

Every Day All Summer 157 East Rosemary Street (upstairs)

ROMANO'S FREE DELIVERY

Monday 3 p.m.-12:45am Tues.-Wed. 11am-12:45am Thursday 11am-12:45 am Friday 11am - 12:45 am Saturday Noon-12:45am Sunday Noon-Midnight

Delivery Hours

Types of Sandwiches Make Your Match Sandwich Styles

Take out orders available at 237 S. Elliott Road

American

A. 1/2 Pound Burger B. Chicken Tender Strips

Lunch or Dinner

Personal Checks, Cash

C. Grilled Chicken Breast D. Turkey Breast (Hot or Cold) E. Imported Grilled Ham

(Hot or Cold) F. Homemade Tuna Salad G. Ribeye Steak Sandwich

H. Vegetarian I. Gyro on Pita Bread

J. BLT O Cheese

(Ched., Mozz.; Hot or Cold) All sandwiches are served on either a 5" Kaiser, 8" Hoagie Roll or Fresh Baked Pita Bread. *Add $1.35 for a large order of French Fries, Baked Potato or Tossed Salad to accompany your meal.

Italian

K. Veal Parmesan L. Chicken Parmesan 4.25 M. Meatball Parmesan 4.25 N. Pizza Sub 4.25

Parmesan sandwiches are covered with mozzarella and

1. "Bare Bones"-Plain (cheese .30) $3.85 Regular - Served with lettuce, tomato and onion $3.99 3. Cheesed - Your Choice of cheese (Cheddar or Mozzarella) and lettuce, tomato and onion $4.25 4. Bacon & Cheese - 3 strips of bacon, your choice of cheese, topped with lettuce, tomato, and onion $4.75 5. Philly - Sauteed onions, mushrooms, green peppers and your choice of cheese $4.25 6. Mushroom & Mozzarella - Topped with sauteed mushrooms and melted mozzarella cheese $4.25 7. Blue Cheese - Topped with Blue Cheese, lettuce, tomato and onion (cheese .30) $4.25 8. Honey Mustard - Topped with Honey Mustard Dressing and lettuce, tomato and onion $4.25 9. Santa Fe - 3 bacon strips, melted cheddar or mozzarella, lettuce, tomato, onion and ranch dressing $4.85 10. Louisiana - 3 strips of bacon, lettuce, tomato, onion, and real caiun spices $4.35 11. Barbecued - Topped with lettuce, tomato, onion, and a side of BBQ sauce. $4.25 12. Mexican - Topped with chili, nacho cheese, sour cream, lettuce, toamto and onion $1

13. Grilled Onions - Topped with fresh grilled onions (three 50) $1 $4.85 13. Grilled Onions - Topped with fresh grilled onions (cheese.30) $3.99

14. Cheddar & Ranch - Topped with cheddar cheese and a side of ranch mixed with bacon bits $4.45 15. Spicy Italian - Banana peppers, oil & vinegar, mozzarella cheese. $4.25 16. Build Your Own - $3.85 plus your choice of: LTO-.30, Cheddar or Mozzarella-.35, Bacon-.45, Chili-.35, Mushrooms-.35, BBQ Sauce-.30, Ranch-.30, Honey Mustard-.30,

Blue Cheese-.30, Nacho Cheese-.35, Banana Peppers-.45 Italian Dinners

We use 100% Sorrento Cheese Products (Winner of the Gold Medal Cheese Award)
All the in a 7-inch round tray with Garlic Bread and a Tossed Salad. (Salad Dressings: Ranch, French, 1000, B.C., It, and Honey Mustard)

1. Lasagna- The best in authentic Italian Lasagna with mozzarella, ground beef, ricotta, romano, and authentic Italian spices. Baded to a golden brown with this kills coff and baded to a golden brown.

56.25

Linguine Alfredo- Linguine noodles smothered in a reamy alfredo succe topped with a thick slice of mozzarella and the state of a golden brown.

56.25

Linguine Alfredo- Linguine noodles smothered in a reamy alfredo succe topped with a thick slice of mozzarella and baded to a golden brown.

56.25

6. Grütled Chicken Alfredo- Same as above topped with a daded to a golden brown.

10. Ground Beef Parmesan-Spaghettinoodles, sauce, fresh ground beef topped with mozzarel lands and baded to a golden brown.

11. Linguine Alfredo- Linguine noodles smothered in a reamy alfredo succe topped with a thick slice of mozzarella and the succession of the succe

Manicotti- Ricotta cheese wrapped in Italian tortilla smothered in marinara sauce & mozzarella cheese then baked to a golden brown.
 $6.25

rella, ricotta & romano cheeses, spiced with the from the garden, italian spices, topped with a thick of mozzarella and baked to a golden brown.$6.25 Chicken Parmesan- Spaghetti noodles, marinar sauce, tender chicken strips, topped with mozzarell cheese and baked to a golden brown.
 $6.25

6. Grilled Chicken Alfredo- Same as above topped with a grilled chicken breast. $7.25 7. Broccoli Alfredo- Same as above with fresh broccoli.

8. Spaghetti - a. ground beef and marinara sauc b. marinara sauce c. mushrooms & marinara sauce spaghetti noodles, your choice of sauce $6.25

9. Veal Parmesan- Spaghetti noodles, marinara sauce, breaded veal cullet, topped with mozzarella cheese and baked to a golden brown.

$6.25
tomers service, please have order ready when orderi

To increase customer service, please have order ready when ordering.

offers expire 08/20/95. Limited Delivery Area. Normal Delivery Time=30-45 minutes (no guarantees, safety first)